MANY HEARINGS

Routine Business Transacted at Last Meeting of the City Government

Numerous hearings occupied most of the time of the last meeting of the city government on May 21st and notwithstanding another "ten minute" recess of over a half hour, the board adjourned before ten o'clock.

No one appeared on the matter of telephone and Edison underground conduits in Hammond street, on petitions of the Norumbega Park Co. to enlarge its gasoline filling station and to install a new filling station on Commonwealth avenue, and the petitions were subsequently granted. No one appeared at hearings on petitions of Julia N. Hollingsworth to locate and to use a 4-car garage at 314 Newtonville avenue, Fred R. Hayward for a private greenhouse at 1547 Centre street, Amelia B. Burnett for a 3-car garage on Crofton road, on the relocation of Charles street at Riverside road, and for the discontinuance of present and the establishment of a new building line at Auburn and Washington streets.

John F. Griffin opposed the location of telephone and electric light poles on Waban street, and it was later referred to a committee. Strong opposition developed to the petition of the Emergency Auto Repair Co. to locate and to sell gasoline at 381 Auburn street. The petitioner, L. E. Grant, said he was a cripple with four children to support and he had invested all his capital in this business. Ex-Alderman Franklin T. Miller opposed the petition on the ground of fire hazard. Dr. F. E. Porter, a resident of the vicinity for 48 years, called attention to the neglected condition of this property and to the possible use of the street for auto repair purposes if granted. Mr. Will C. Eddy said the place was a "dump" and close to property where there were many children who would be menaced by such a fire hazard. Mr. Colon S. Ober also remonstrated.

Mr. W. H. Bright and Mr. Joseph Temperley objected to petition of Frank R. Miller to locate and use a 4-car garage on Irving street.

Mr. Drury's chauffeur spoke in favor of the petition to store 280 gallons of gasoline on Hobart road.

Mr. H. W. Orr opposed petition of

E. P. Lowell for a gas station at 246 Walnut street and the petition was subsequently refused.

Mrs. Romagnoli objected to the proposed widening of Auburn street near Greenough street.

City Engineer Rogers explained that the proposed work on the Newtonville drain covered that portion from Laundry Brook to Adams street.

Mr. A. W. Murray for F. S. Rogers spoke in favor of sewers in Tudor road and Monadnock road, ward 6.

Harry B. Greene, Cabot street, Homer B. Remick, Sharon avenue, and Edward H. Ashenden, Tudor terrace were drawn as jurors for the criminal court at Cambridge, after the name of Alfred T. Hartwell had been placed aside on account of absence in Honolulu.

Mayor Childs' invitation to members of the board to serve on his staff for the Memorial Day parade was accepted.

The Mayor's recommendation for $5,650 for water mains was approved and his recommendation that $7,500 be used for resurfacing Walnut street between the street railway tracks was referred.

The mayor also transmitted a communication from the trustees of the Library naming the new branch library at Lower Falls in honor of Victor L. Dennis.

The application of Melvin F. Hill et al for incorporation as the Charles River Riding Club was approved.

These petitions were granted: Louis Scoldone, Wm. J. Kirk, and M. C. Laughlin for express truck licenses, Amato Pescosolido for auctioneer license, and Michael Purcell, Lincoln road, L. M. Knight, Clark street, Mary H. McGuire, Beacon street, Loring B. Hall, Park street, C. E. Ryall, Francis street, W. J. Hamm, Albemarle road, M. J. Sullivan, Edinboro street, and C. D. Hall, Waverley avenue, for private garages.

Petitions were also received for private garages from Mary R. Green, Hammondswold road and Waban Hill road, the Apartment Sales Corporation for 11 garages on Central street.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

As a result of its interest and co-operation in making the recent "Clean-Up and Paint-Up Week" as effective as possible in Newton, the Chamber is engaged in following up several complaints regarding conditions in specific locations in several parts of the city. In following up these reports it has been found that most conditions were more or less temporary in character, although some which have been left by owners with the thought that they were to be temporary had to all appearances become almost permanent conditions because of the unremediated postponement of the "clean-up" until such time that they developed into an annoyance to those owning adjoining property. In most instances the owners have willingly agreed to correct conditions, the most frequent reason offered for any seeming negligence being the lack of labor for work of this sort. There are yet two or three cases to be followed up by the Chamber and it is expected that these may be reached during the present week.

The monthly meeting of the Building and Development Division Committee scheduled for the last Thursday of the month, has been postponed until such time as sub-committees appointed at recent meetings have had time to develop their work to the point that they may report back to the parent committee. The special committee appointed to consider the advisability of seeking modification of the Newton Building Code has been awaiting copies of the present building code, which were recently secured from the printer and are now being studied by the individual members of the committee. Another sub-committee appointed to confer with a special committee from the Civic Division is awaiting action by the latter body. The postponed meeting of the Building and Development Division Committee will be called by the Chairman, G. Wilbur Thompson, when word is received that these two committees are ready to make reports.

Cards announcing the closing of the Newton stores on Wednesday afternoons during July and August are being printed and will be distributed during the next two weeks to those merchants and other business houses of the various villages who desire to co-operate in this movement. It is expected that the response will be nearly unanimous on the part of the store keepers, practically all of whom are already in favor of the summer half-holiday but have, in previous seasons, failed to agree on a uniform schedule that might apply to all lines of business and in all of the several villages of the city. Many expressions of approval of the Chamber plan to make the closing schedule uniform have not only been received from the merchants of the city but also, in surprising numbers, from the citizens of the city who welcome the opportunity to avoid the confusion that has resulted in previous seasons with the various stores naming their own closing hours to suit their individual ideas and convenience.

BRANCH LIBRARY DEDICATED

The new Victor L. Dennis Branch Library, at Newton Lower Falls, was dedicated by appropriate exercises Memorial Day morning.

Alderman George M. Heathcote, who had led the movement to secure the library, presided at the exercises.

The children of the Hamilton School, under the able direction of Miss Sanderson, sang several patriotic songs. Charlotte Donohue spoke "Remembering Days." George Chisholm recited "A Creed." Lawrence Jenks spoke "We Shall Remember Them."

Rev. George Wolverton offered prayer after which Mr. Heathcote told of the difficulties encountered in getting the city to appropriate the necessary money to make the library possible. He also said that a library was the most fitting memorial to Victor L. Dennis who had lost his life in the World War, also to the other 42 service men from the Falls.

Then followed the unveiling, by George Chisholm, of a large portrait of Victor L. Dennis, the work of Mr. William Bond of New York City. This was accepted by Mr. Alfred Murray who touched on the life and character of Mr. Dennis.

MEMORIAL DAY

A Perfect Day for the Usual Program of Charles Ward Post, G. A. R.

Wednesday was an ideal Memorial day, with clear skies, a bright sun and a cool breeze which acted as a wholesome tonic to those who took part in the afternoon parade.

Charles Ward Post of the Grand Army, notwithstanding its small membership, carried out the usual Memorial day program with its customary efficiency. Graves were decorated in the outlying cemeteries by details in the morning while larger squads attended to that duty at the Newton Cemetery.

Following the dedication ceremonies at the Lower Falls branch library, the Post held its usual program at St. Mary's churchyard. Afterwards the impressive ceremony of casting flowers into the river in memory of the sailor dead took place on the banks of the Charles river adjoining the church yard.

At noon the veterans, the chief marshal, Mayor Childs and staff, were guests of the Newton Centre Improvement Society and the Newton Centre Women's Club at lunch at the latter's new and beautiful club house at Newton Centre.

The parade, which started directly after lunch, was formed by Lieut. Col. Henry D. Cornerais as adjutant with Major Joseph W. Bartlett as chief of staff and moved in the following order:

Detail of Police, Chief Marshal, Adjutant-General, Chief of Staff, Aides and associate members and members of the City Government, Co. H, 101st Infantry, (Newton Co.) Capt. John MacClellan commanding, band, J. Wiley Edmonds Camp, No. 31, Sons of Veterans, James H. Wentworth, commanding; Charles Ward Post, No. 62, Grand Army of Republic, George H. Osborne, commanding; Mrs. A. E. Cunningham Tent, No. 2, Daughters of Veterans, Mrs. Susan R. Wetherbee, President; Thomas Burnett Camp, No. 10, United Spanish War Veterans, Charles A. Boothby, commanding; Newton Post 48, American Legion, Levi Libbey, commanding.

The troop of cavalry as well as the battery attracted deserved attention.

The procession marched through Beacon and Walnut streets to the Newton Cemetery where the soldiers' monument was decorated, the Gettysburg address read by Past Department Commander W. A. Wetherbee and prayer was offered by Mr. George M. Fiske. The close of the exercises here was marked by rifle fire and the sounding of "taps."

The procession then reformed and marched through Walnut and Washington streets to the State Armory at West Newton with a detour at Washington Park, Newtonville to pay respects to the inmates at the John A. Andrew Home.

At the armory a banquet was served at which Mr. W. A. Wetherbee was toastmaster and brief remarks were made by Mayor Childs, Alderman Thos. W. White and Arthur W. Hollis president of the Board of Aldermen, Lieut. Col. H. D. Cornerais, and others.

MAY BAZAAR

The May Bazaar held last Saturday at St. John's Church, Newtonville, was a great success. Over two hundred people were served with a breakfast of grape fruit, strawberries and cream, bacon and eggs, waffles, rolls and coffee.

In the afternoon there was a May-pole dance, games for the younger boys and girls, a baby show and a food sale, besides grubs, ice cream cones and balloons.

After a buffet supper a dance was held in the evening.

The entire affair was a source of enjoyment to the community in general and it is hoped that the giving of a similar affair annually may prove a social event with the hope of starting a Newtonville institution of good fellowship and friendly intercourse.

NO SUMMER 107 YEARS AGO

A Yarmouth lady has in her possession a very old diary which contains the following article which will make interesting reading for those who complain of the coldness of the present season. The article appeared many years ago in the New York Sun:

The year 1816 was known throughout the United States and Europe as the coldest ever experienced by any person living. There are persons in the habit of keeping diaries for years and it is from the pages of an old diary begun in 1810 and kept undisturbed in 1840, that the following information regarding this year without a summer has been taken. January was so mild that most persons allowed their fires to go out and did not burn wood except for cooking. There were few cool days, but they were very few. Most of the time the air was warm and very springlike.

February was not so cold. Some days were colder than any in January but the weather was about the same. March, from first to sixth was inclined to be windy. It came in like a small lion and went out like a very innocent sheep. April came in warm, but as the days grew longer, the air became colder, and by the first of May there was a temperature like that of winter, with plenty of snow and ice. In May the young buds were frozen dead, ice formed half an inch thick on ponds and rivers, corn was killed, and the corn fields were planted again and again, until it became too late to raise a crop. By the last of May in this climate the trees are usually in leaf and birds and flowers are plentiful. When the last of May arrived in 1816 everything had been killed by the cold.

June was the coldest month of roses ever experienced in this latitude. Frost and ice were as common as butterflies usually are. Almost every green thing was killed; all fruit was destroyed. Snow fell ten inches in Vermont. There was a 7-inch snow fall in Maine, a 3-inch fall in the interior of New York State, and the same in Massachusetts. There were only a few moderately warm days. Everybody looked, longed and waited for warm weather, but warm weather did not come. It was also dry, very little rain fell. All summer long the wind blew steadily from the north in blasts laden with snow and ice. Mothers knit socks of double thickness for their children, and made thick mittens. Planting and shivering were done together, and the farmers who worked out their taxes on the country roads wore overcoats and mittens. On June 17 there was a heavy fall of snow. A Vermont farmer sent a flock of sheep to pasture on June 16. The morning of the 17th dawned with the thermometer below the freezing point. At about 9 o'clock in the morning the owner of the sheep started to look for his flock. Before leaving home he turned to his wife and said jokingly: "Better start the neighbors soon: it's the middle of June and I may get lost in the snow." An hour after he left home a terrible snow storm came up. The snow fell thick and fast, and there was so much wind, the fleecy mass piled in great drifts along the windward side of the fences and outbuildings. Night came and the farmer had not been heard of. His wife became frightened and alarmed the neighborhood. All the neighbors joined in the searching party. On the third day they found him; he was lying in a hollow on the side hill, with both feet frozen; he was half covered with snow, but alive. Most of the sheep were lost.

A farmer near Tewksbury, Vermont, owned a large corn field. He built fires around the field to keep off the frost. Nearly every night he and his men took turns in keeping up the fire and watching that the corn did not freeze. The farmer was rewarded for his tireless labors by having the only crop of corn in the region.

July came in with ice and snow. On the fourth of July ice as thick as window glass formed throughout New England, New York and some parts of the State of Pennsylvania; Indian corn, which in some parts of the east had struggled through May and June, gave up and froze and died. To the surprise of everybody, August proved the worst month of all. Almost every green thing in this country and Europe were blasted with frost. Snow fell at Barnet, 30 miles from London, England, on August 30. Newspapers from England stated that 1816 would be remembered by the existing generation as the year in which there was no summer. Very little corn ripened in New England.

There was great privation and thousands of persons would have perished in this country had it not been for the abundance of fish and wild game.

The Zeiss optical works at Jena have put out a rather curious form of apparatus. A so-called iron arc—that is, an electric arc with its carbons impregnated with salts of iron, giving out a light rich in ultra-violet rays—is used with screens, so as to cut off all the heating and luminous rays, leaving none but ultra-violet invisible radiations. In these pure ultra-violet radiations nearly all substances fluoresce, and the light they give out is greatly affected by the degree of their purity, thus providing means of examining the chemical purity of substances.

The Proper Thing.
A man went into a bakery the other day. "I'm getting married next week," he began, "and I want to buy a wedding cake." "I suppose you know, sir," said the shopgirl, "that it's the latest thing to choose wedding cakes which harmonize with one's business or profession. For instance, an athlete would have a cup cake, a musician an oat cake, a man who gouges his friends a sponge cake, a pianist a pound cake, and so on. What, may I ask, is your calling?" "I am a doctor," the bridegroom answered. "In that case, then," said the girl, smiling, "we would of course, prescribe an angel cake."

Make the Children a Scrap-Book.
Start a historical scrap-book for the children. Put into it pictures and items of unusual interest dealing with important public characters and events. When they grow older allow the children to do their own selecting of articles and their own pasting. If encouraged in this work they will complete the book when they are grown up, and will have not only a book of much interest and information, but will have a liking for history (history which will be real and concrete to them), not developed so easily by any other method.

TAILS AND THEIR FUNCTIONS

Different Reasons for Different Movements, According to Eminent Italian Professor.

Animals' tails have various functions, Prof. Giuseppe Renato tells us in a published study of the subject, the New York Times states. The tail of a dog, says the professor, is, as we all know, an index of his psychological state; he raises and wags it, under the impression of joy, lowers it when afflicted and trails it between his legs when frightened. Why, then, may we not believe that dogs have a caudal language, and that the various movements of the tail form a method of communication between them?

The professor points out that among cattle and beasts of burden the tail is a weapon of defense against insects which, in the undomesticated state of these animals, may often have meant the saving of their lives. He says that in the early struggle for existence in the early struggle for existence in the survival of the fittest was purely a matter of which had the strongest tail. This resulted in the development of the muscles of the cow and horse to a remarkable degree.

When a horse is struck on the back with a whip it switches the spot with its tail. The horse knows it is a whip and not an insect, but the reflex muscles of its tail are so highly developed that it instinctively switches before the horse has time to telegraph to his brain and put in a stop order.

A cow finds it less fatiguing to keep up a perpetual side to side motion of its tail than to indulge in the nervous, energetic one which the horse upon occasion employs.

SHOW GREAT INTEREST IN MAN

Lower Animals Believed to Look Upon Human Biped as Very Much One of Themselves.

That animals look upon man as one of themselves, and not as an object entirely beyond their horizon, is evidenced by the remarkable interest and curiosity regarding him and his doings shown by wild creatures, and by their desire to make friends with him as long as their confidence has not been met by rough rebuke and persecution, which is, alas! the usual response given by the destroyer of creation to such friendly advances.

It is our own fault only, if birds all the world over are not evenly now on the same footing of familiarity with us as were the birds of the Monte Alverna when St. Francis of Assisi arrived there; or the birds of the Falklands and the Galapagos Islands when Darwin visited them; or as the birds of the southern Morocco are at the present day, or were, at least, under Mohammedan rule, a few years ago.

But even birds, which have learned at their cost that to come within reach of man is an infinitely greater risk than to approach a wildcat or a snake, will still, when they believe themselves unobserved, and while taking all necessary precautions, often give way to the feeling of curiosity with which the appearance of the long biped in unexpected localities and on unexpected occasions inspires them. Hans Coudenhove in the Atlantic Monthly.

Pastorals.

Pastoral literature must not be confounded with that which has for its subject the lives, the ideas, and the emotions of simple and unsophisticated mankind, far from the centers of our complex civilization. The two may be in their origin related, and they occasionally, as it were, stretch out feelers towards one another, but the pastoral or tradition lies in its essence as far from the human document of humble life as from . . . a volume of pastoral theology. . . . Thus the shepherds of pastoral are primarily and distinctively shepherds; they are not mere rustics engaged in sheepcraft as one out of many of the employments of mankind. As soon as the natural shepherd-life had found an objective setting in conscious artistic literature, it was felt that there was, after all, a difference between hoeing turnips and pasturing sheep; that the one was capable of a particular literary treatment which the other was not.—W. W. Greg.

President Tyler's Love Affairs.
John Tyler, tenth President of the United States, was married twice, and in each case it was a marriage of affection. His first wife was Letitia Christian, daughter of Robert Christian, one of the best known men of Virginia. It might almost be called a boy and girl affair, but they were married and lived happily together for 30 years. The second wife of the President was Julia Gardiner. She married the President while he was still in office, and after his death went to Richmond, where she spent the remainder of her life.

Uruguay—A Sketch.
The broad plains of Uruguay in the amber April that is autumn here, the vintage season, great black and rose-colored muscat grapes, whose crisp skin crackles under my teeth. Swarthy laborers picking heavy clusters. Dashing horsemen, their silver stirrups inlaid with gold, in white ponchos, broad sombreros, with long flowing scarfs fluttering over their shoulders, shout a greeting to the rhythm of their horses' hoofs, and speed on. Gardens of pink laurel and red hibiscus. Grand avenues of eucalyptus, silvering in the sun, their trembling foliage outlined high above us, against the blue vaults of heaven. Poons singing in the vineyards, or after sunset improvising rustic chants to the accompaniment of their guitars. A vineyard festival.—Renee Franchon in La Revue de l'Amerique Latine.

STRENUOUS KIND OF SPORT

Angling With Rod and Line for Swordfish Can Be Guaranteed to Furnish Thrills.

Swordfishing for broadbill swordfish with rod and reel no doubt heads the list of the most strenuous kinds of angling. This remarkable form of sport has been practiced for a number of years on the Pacific coast in the neighborhood of Santa Catalina Island and to a less extent, and more recently, along our own Atlantic seaboard. In many respects it is the most fascinating of all forms of fishing. C. K. Stillman writes in the Health Builder. There is considerable difficulty in finding the prospective victims as they swim or float solitary near the surface of the sea, and more yet when found in persuading them to bite. Once hooked, the swordfish is a very resourceful antagonist and hard to keep on the line. The angler never knows what is going to happen next and is never entirely free from apprehension that the fish may attack his boat. No fishing is more productive of super thrills and of grievous disappointments. To the swordfish angler the landing of one fish is a season's triumph. Many have gone out after year for swordfish without success, but they keep on doggedly in the knowledge that a lucky turn of events may at any moment bring achievement.

PERIOD WHEN WOMEN RULED

By Far the More Important Sex in Early Days of the World, Is Recent Statement.

Recent research, by some French professors, into the ways of women of a hundred thousand years ago, have given an unexpected jolt to preconceived ideas. Now the professors declare that woman, in the days of our cave-dwelling ancestors, was regarded as of the more important sex. Men held a secondary position, tolerated for the sake of the food and skins provided. Women ruled, and were the inventors of the earliest arts and sciences. It was the woman's ingenuity which devised snares for animals and made plans for storing food against times of scarcity. Women taught ways of making clothing from skins of animals, and by the efforts of their brains improved the lot of all the human race. Woman's cunning and wit were the outcome of her lack of physical strength, which obliged her to resort to strategy rather than force. On the whole, the prehistoric woman apparently held the same position and ruled man in the same manner that she does today, according to these gentlemen, who may however have a different opinion for us tomorrow.

Love of Trees.

Love of trees is almost a religion to the Jugo-Slav peasant. The new kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes boasts some of the oldest forests in the world. During the Middle Ages wood from the provinces east of the Adriatic was exported to Venice, where it was made into ships, and furniture, and cabinets—some of the far-famed works of art that have survived the early renaissance.

One of the native picturesque customs deals with the choosing of a tree for a yule log at Christmas time, says the Detroit News. Without this yule log, or "badnjak," as it is known in Slovenia, no Christmas is complete and no family is too poor to have one. The first chip that falls when the tree is being felled is placed in the milk, the beehive, the hen roost, anywhere that the housewife especially desires prosperity. In some regions the chips of the badnjak are all gathered up and presented to members of the family and to the animals of the farm.

The broad plains of Uruguay in the amber April that is autumn here, the vintage season, great black and rose-colored muscat grapes, whose crisp skin crackles under my teeth. Swarthy laborers picking heavy clusters. Dashing horsemen, their silver stirrups inlaid with gold, in white ponchos, broad sombreros, with long flowing scarfs fluttering over their shoulders, shout a greeting to the rhythm of their horses' hoofs, and speed on. Gardens of pink laurel and red hibiscus. Grand avenues of eucalyptus, silvering in the sun, their trembling foliage outlined high above us, against the blue vaults of heaven. Poons singing in the vineyards, or after sunset improvising rustic chants to the accompaniment of their guitars. A vineyard festival.—Renee Franchon in La Revue de l'Amerique Latine.

MILTON SILLS

in "Isle of Lost Ships"

Milton Sills, the leading member of the cast of "The Isle of Lost Ships" has played nearly every character in the theatrical decade, from the villainous gunman of the underworld to a millionaire, and he "puts over" each role with such skill and finesse that he is one of the most sought-after actors in the motion picture business.

"SUCCESS"

This great story of theatrical life is one of an actor who sought to regain a brilliant position he once took for granted. Success too easily won invariably foretells failure. Beating back is the beginning of achievement.

GRAMMER—HULL

At the home of her parents in Newtonville Miss Estelle Hull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Hull, became the bride on Saturday of Mr. Reynold Arthur Grammer, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Rennie Grammer of Fall River.

The marriage ceremony was performed at noon by Rev. Donald B. Aldrich of the Cathedral of St. Paul in Boston. It was desired to have the occasion one of marked simplicity so there were no attendants.

The bride, a graduate of the Wheelock Kindergarten Training School of Boston and of private schools in Boston and Providence, is a descendant of the founder of Brown University, and well known in Providence and vicinity.

Mr. Grammer is a pen and ink artist and is at present in the employ of Stone and Webster, Inc., of Boston.

A small reception was tendered the guests following the ceremony after which the couple left for a trip to the mountains. Mr. and Mrs. Grammer will be at home at 22 Jenison street, Newtonville, after August 1.

SHEEP IN CATTLE COUNTRY

Exception to Their Presence Under the Circumstances Was Natural to the Beef Producers.

Then out of a clear sky came the smell of sheep; all was o. k. at first,
'cause the cowmen figured there was plenty of range for everybody, even sheep. But soon enough the sheep kept getting thicker and their range poorer, which started the crowding on the cowman's best bits of country. Will James writes in Scribner's. There were a few parleys without the voice of the "smoke wagon" being heard—but sheep and sheep herders don't have much respect for words or rules or country; so they went at it to start spoiling it all; and the cowmen went on to finishing what the sheepmen had started, with the result that mostly sheepmen and sheep were missing.

The government couldn't do much;
they'd had to pinch about four states.

The cattlemen won for a spell and all was hunky-dory again, outside of the damage sheep had done to the range. The dust beds they'd made out of the good grassy "benches" were beginning to show signs of life, the air was pure as ever and cattle were getting fat. The cattlemen were all good folks once more and tending to their business in land that was theirs.
They were the first to blaze the trail to it; they made that land a big beef-producing country, it was their home, and naturally they wouldn't allow sheep coming along and leaving nothing of it but the bad odor.

CURED HIS "SWELLED HEAD"

Joseph Jefferson Has Told of Incident That Reduced the Size of His Cranium Considerably.

Successful actors, like other successful people, need to be on their guard against the "swelled head." Joseph Jefferson, known and loved all over the country for his Rip Van Winkle, once told Mr. John Drew how he himself was cured of an incipient case of that malady. Mr. Drew retells the anecdote in his entertaining book of reminiscences:

Mr. Jefferson told me that when he had made his big success with Rip Van Winkle he thought himself fairly important. One night as he was going to his room in the Fifth Avenue hotel a stockily-built man with a grizzled beard got into the elevator with him. "Are you playing in town now,
Mr. Jefferson?" he asked.

Mr. Jefferson as he replied in the affirmative rather pitied the man for his ignorance and his total lack of understanding of what was going on in the world. What a simpleton he must be who did not know that "Rip" was having an extraordinary run! When the man reached his floor and got out Mr. Jefferson asked the elevator boy: "Who was that?"

"Why," said the boy, in his turn pitying Mr. Jefferson for ignorance, "that's General Grant!"—Youth's Companion.

Gottland.

The Saga relates that the discoverer and first settler on the Isle of Gottland was a man named Thjelvar. From the same source we learn that the island was then in such an unstable condition that it was submerged in the daytime, and rose to the surface at night, but Thjelvar exterminated with fire the trolls and evil spirits that infested it, and never since that time have the waters broken over the Pearl of the Baltic. The great number of tourists who have rediscovered Gottland in recent years are of a different disposition, and what lures them thither and fascinates them into lengthening their stay are the traces of those weird powers and happenings of olden times. In later years, the early Middle ages, Gottland was indeed a power to be reckoned with, and it is the combination of ancient fairy lore and an interesting historical past that makes the island so attractive and a favorite spot for tourists intent on exploring strange ground.—Boston Transcript.

John Tyler was elected vice president on the same ticket on which William Henry Harrison was elected president, but Harrison had not been in office much more than a month when he was suddenly taken ill and died.
Tyler was at his home in Virginia when the news of the death of Harrison reached him. He seemed dazed at its unexpectedness. "You are now president of the United States," said his informant.

Tyler passed his hands across his forehead as though it required an effort to understand the reality of the responsibility which had been thrust upon him so suddenly. One story has it that he was so poor that he had to borrow the money to pay his expenses for the journey to Washington. At all events he hurried there by the first train, took the oath of office and became the occupant of the White House.

Africa Stands High.

Geologists believe Africa is a huge block of the earth's crust, thrust above the ocean's level by some force from deep in the rocks, and held there almost since geological history began.
Africa is a continent practically without harbors. The northern portion is generally low and has at different times been covered by the sea. But the southern peninsula, the true "dark continent," is a high plateau. All around its coasts the shores rise steeply out of the water. Rivers pour down the slopes in rapids, or, in the case of Zambesi, the scarp is sheer enough to have generated a waterfall.

M. Shaughnessey, sister of the bride.
Her gown was of cocoa brown crepe

The bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Shaughnessey, Miss Edith C. Penketh-

Why not Modernize your old-fashioned Wedding Ring into the new Orange Blossom Design?

Enlarged Sketch shows Ring when work is half completed

ANY old fashioned wedding band can be changed into an Orange Blossom Ring of exquisite beauty. In the process, the cherished inscription is not harmed, nor is the ring cut.
It is reduced to any one of four widths. Then into the metal is chased, which means hammered by hand, not merely cut—a delicate design of orange blossoms. Rings so modernized may be had with an overlay of hard iridio-platinum, gorgeously jeweled, or in the original metal. There are other styles with diamonds halfway round, or all the way, in fact any desired expenditure may be accommodated—Let us explain the process.

The VETERAN MOTORIST gives a few rules of the road

SOMEONE HAS SAID THAT "IF" is the biggest little word in the language. If a very close friend of mine had used his head on a certain day, he wouldn't have knocked a school boy down and come within an ace of crippling him for life.

"It was queer, that day, about Jerry. Usually, a good, cool, level-headed driver. But, somehow, his attention must have been wandering, and as the kid ran out in front of him —he did the wrong thing. And he was upset about it for months after.

"His insurance company settled up the case in due time.
But Jerry said something to me after it was all over that set me to thinking and I'll never forget it. Said he: 'My liability insurance protected me, but it didn't protect that boy. It paid the doctor's bills but it didn't help that youngster's suffering one iota.'

"I'd never thought of it in just that way before, but I have ever since. Youngsters are careless at times and it's up to us motorists to make up for what they lack by using more than ordinary care when they're around."

The Law of the Land, Must and Shall Be Respected
EDITORIAL

Memorial Day with all its hallowed associations has come and gone for another year. In the observance of Memorial Day, the Grand Army has erected a monument to itself which will last as long as human minds and hearts respond to the tender memories of a sacred past. It is a monument which will be upheld and strengthened as time goes on by the American Legion as trustees of veterans of the former wars as well as for their fallen comrades of the World War.

Let us do our part as individuals in keeping the associations of the day distinct from all forms of commercialism and sports towards which it seems to be heading.

Our attention has been called on several occasions to the desirability of securing some improvements to the marsh lands adjoining the parkway on the south side of the Charles river between Newton and Faneuil. This land is the property of the Metropolitan district and its improvement is a district rather than a municipal matter. There is no question as to the desirability of the proposed improvement, but there may be some who would question the expenditure of money at this particular place in view of the fact that only a few persons utilize that vicinity at the present time.

While there have been many petitions to the aldermen to change the zoning districts, from a more restricted to a less restricted area, it should be carefully noted that every such petition has aroused strong protest while the one petition to place a neighborhood in a more restricted district was unopposed and strongly favored. These are straws which seem to indicate that our people are supporting the zoning plan and are not in favor of releasing any of its restrictions.

ROTARY CLUB

The weekly luncheon was held on Monday at the Newton Club with a goodly attendance of members. Mr. Willard O. Wylie of Beverly was the speaker and gave a clear idea of the object of Rotary in restricting membership to occupations and not to good fellowship. Arrangements are being made to hold the weekly luncheons during the summer at Norumbega Park.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOL OPENED

Memorial exercises for the soldier dead of the Sacred Heart Parish of Newton Centre were held Wednesday morning on the grounds of the Sacred Heart Parochial School, which has just been completed. The flag was raised over the new school house for the first time and from 12 until 6 the new building was open for inspection. The memorial services were under the direction of Capt. James A. Waters, who introduced as the first speaker, Rev. Timothy A. Curtin, pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart. Fr. Curtin spoke briefly and blessed the flag, which was then raised by Mary Waters, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Waters. The pledge of allegiance was taken by the school children and a salute was fired by a firing squad from Newton Post, No. 48, A. L., under Lieut. George Henriks and taps were sounded by bugler Goley.

Mayor Edwin O. Childs spoke on the subject of Memorial Day and Charles S. O'Connor, former member of the Boston School Committee, delivered an historical and patriotic address. The services closed with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner." Hundreds availed themselves of the opportunity of inspecting the new school building during the afternoon.

COUNTRY WEEK APPEAL

The Newton Country Week, a branch of The Boston Country Week, is making an appeal for funds for their summer's work.

This work is carried on entirely by subscription and certainly deserves popular support. Last year the work was generously supported and many needy children were given the vacation and recreation that was so necessary to their welfare.

Five dollars will pay for one child's expenses for the week.

Please give this appeal your careful consideration and send your donation to Neighborhood House, 89 Elm street, West Newton. Make your check out to The Country Week.

DEATH OF MRS. LUCAS

Mrs. Jane F. Lucas, widow of Rodney M. Lucas, died at Auburndale on Thursday in her 94th year.

Mrs. Lucas was born in Boylston, Mass., and has lived in Newton 75 years. She was a member of the Second Church, West Newton, and of the Woman's Relief Corps of the Grand Army.

She leaves a son, Walter Lucas and a nephew, M. Frank Lucas, both of West Newton.

Services will be held from the home of her son, 20 Hunter street, West Newton, tomorrow at 2 o'clock. Rev. Frederick W. Peakes of West Newton officiating, and the burial will be in the Newton Cemetery.

SCHOOL NOTES

F. A. Day Junior High

On the 23rd of May, H. G. Mr. Dacey's room, defeated H. E. in an exciting game of baseball, the score being 19-2. The game was played on the grounds in the rear of the Horace Mann school.

Mrs. Chandler devotes one period of Science a month for a chance to study Health. Each class has chosen a different subject to study. Among these are such topics as, Ways for us to cultivate Health, Athletics as a benefit to Health, Care of our bodies.

On Friday, last, the ninth grades were entertained by the eighth grades. The various clubs were represented and each gave an interesting report of the activities. The Glee Club gave a delightful selection entitled "Day-break."

Miss Mason should be complimented on the success of the Ballroom Dance in which eighty odd girls from the Junior High took part.

The pupils of division 8D are enjoying their Social Studies period. It is extremely interesting except when Miss Schieb slips a test into the day's program.

A very exciting game of Captain Ball was played in the Gym by the eighth and ninth grades on Tuesday. The ninth grades were victorious defeating the others 20-4.

The baseball squad played Medford on Monday, defeating them six to five. It was very thrilling in the last inning when Medford was ahead 5-3. With three men on bases Paterson smashed out a liner through short scoring the three on bases.

A very beautiful Memorial service was held on the first period Tuesday. Sally Wright as "In Memoriam" with impersonations of the World War, Civil War, Spanish American War, Statesmen, Citizens and others made up the very inspiring program. The audience made the great mistake of clapping after the program, but after Mr. Carr pointed out the reason for not doing so, in the future we shall know better.

Hyde School

On Wednesday, Memorial Day Exercises were held in the hall. The kindergarten and first four grades held theirs the first hour, each class contributing song or recitation in memory of our fallen heroes. The grammar grades had a splendid program later in the morning. The sixth grades gave an effective flag drill to the rhythm of a recitation by Evan Collins. Frederick Godsoe gave a declamation concerning the writing of the Battle Hymn of the Republic after which the hymn was sung by the entire school. A special chorus of the seventh and eighth grades sang a Memorial Song. The eighth grades gave three scenes from "The Man Without a Country," namely "The Court Scene," "Cabin Scene," and a "Scene in Ing-ham's Home." Those taking part were Richard True, Philip Nolan, Joseph Russo, Judge, and as members of the court, Paul Shannon, Richard Schroeder, Freeman Card, Herbert Ellms, William Maynard, Warren Burns and Joshua Seaver, Charles Parker took the part of Lieutenant Danforth.

Near the close of the exercises, Mr. Murray, Principal of the Vocational High School, and who served as Major during the last war, spoke to the school, arousing afresh devotion and duty to country whenever she calls, urging the remembrance of our Civil War and Great War Veterans and the real meaning of our Memorial Day.

Bigelow School

Memorial Day exercises were held in the Assembly Hall Tuesday morning. There was an address by Major Howard Emerson. The exercises closed with a brief speech by Mr. Flood, a veteran of the Civil War, and a concluding march by the orchestra.

Bigelow Juniors defeated Mason Juniors in a fast and interesting game at Burr Playground Saturday morning, May 26th. The score was 12 to 10. Hough starred in the box for Bigelow and the Barry brothers played well for Mason.

Lasell

The annual races on the Charles River were held on Thursday. There were six crews contesting: two Seniors, three Juniors and a mixed crew. The crew winning the finals was the Senior first crew with Miss Elizabeth Mitchell captain. The Junior first crew came in second with Margaret Bunnell as captain. A large company of former students, graduates and friends witnessed the events from canoes and the shore.

The June Fete will be held on the Bancroft Lawn on Saturday afternoon. The most interesting event connected with the Fete, at least to the members of the school, will be the crowning of the May Queen, whose identity is a secret until the crown is actually given to the one chosen by secret ballot. This will be followed by the songs of allegiance by the different classes and the Winding of the May Pole by the pupils of the day will conclude with various fancy dances.

THE NEWTON FOLLIES

The Community Theatre put on quite a novelty this week in a vaudeville stunt entitled the Newton Follies. With but a few days of training the young ladies of this city put over quite a creditable piece of work. The costumes added greatly to the act.

Those taking part were the Misses Rose Terrio, Mae Bonnie, Marjorie Oxner, Fannie Reiter, Bertha Lippin, Isabel Conrad, Dorothy Connelly, Dorothy Homan, Annette Russell, Mae Maloney, Dorothy Ruffe, Rose Manning, Alice Monahan, Dorothy Finnell, Frances Lippin, Florence Williams, Josephine Lupae, Gertrude Deverix, Lillian Miller, Mae Boudron, Margaret Morrissey, Margaret Tolan, Mae Bounatie, Mary Preece, Dorothy Fessinger, Grace Gauthier, Melba Murphy.

A beautiful bronze tablet, containing the names of the 42 service men from the Falls, was unveiled by Mr. Mathew Manning, Sr., the father of three service boys, and accepted by Mr. Mathew Manning, Jr., who had taken a prominent part in selecting the tablet.

Mr. Howes, chairman of the Library trustees, gave an interesting talk on the value of the library to the soldier. Major Cabot followed with an inspiring talk to the children, urging them to live up to the ideals for which Victor L. Dennis gave his life.

His Honor, Mayor Childs, spoke, commenting on the large number of foreigners, who were the first to enlist, and wondered whether, as one prominent person has said, this was due to the fact that these young men had read the lives of Washington, Lincoln and Franklin, while many American born had been reading novels.

After Taps were sounded everyone formed in line and marked to the Cemetery and joined the Grand Army in their services.

LEGION DANCE

The Spring dance of Newton Post, A. L., and Auxiliary, was held Tuesday night in Dennison Hall. An exhibition of fancy dancing was given by Walter ("Shivers") Collagan. Prizes in the novelty dance were won by Miss Marie Barry, Miss Frances Brock, Edwin Kidder and Catherine Heffron.

LODGES

Garden City Encampment I. O. O. F. will confer the Golden Rule Degree on Monday, June 4th. Candidates will be present from Allston, Natick and Framingham.

GIRL SCOUTS

The Lawn Fete given by Troop 11, at Newton Highlands last Saturday, proved to be most successful. The day was ideal for an out door festival and the children and grown up enjoyed the many amusements which were provided, from the pony rides to fortune telling, fancy dancing, the Girl Scout Bugle and Drum Corps and all the good things for sale at the booths.

Troop 5, West Newton, held its last regular meeting of the season on Tuesday, May 29th. Captain Freeman gave out 15 perfect attendance Stars and 17 to Scouts who had missed not more than 8 meetings during the year. The Scout Spirit Badge which is given out once each year was awarded to Shirley Eddy by vote of the Scouts and Officers. Troop 5, will hold special meetings during June.

SAINT BERNARD'S LAWN PARTY

A very enthusiastic meeting of the members of St. Bernard's Parish was held at the Newton Catholic Club last Monday evening, when plans were made for various preliminary affairs in aid of the Building Fund, which will take place before the parish Lawn Party on Saturday, June 30th. FREE LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The announcement in another column of a coming lecture on Christian Science, is a reminder of the steady growth of this faith among thoughtful people in our community.

These lectures, usually given two or three times a year, are designed, primarily, to correct misunderstandings of Christian Science in the public, or in the individual mind. They also have the further merit of broadly covering all the fundamental teachings of this faith, and for this reason are appreciated not only by those who are affiliated with the movement, but by all of an open mind.

The present lecture entitled: "The Activity of Good" is by one of the authorized exponents of Christian Science, Mr. Paul Stark Seeley, C. S. B., of Portland, Oregon, a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, and is to be given in the Community Theatre, Newton, next Sunday, June 3rd at 3 P. M.

CANOE TIP OVER

A total of 11 tip-overs on the Charles River between Concord street Bridge, Newton Lower Falls, and Moody street Bridge, Waltham, gave the Metropolitan Police at Riverside a fairly busy day Wednesday. Nine of the duckings happened during the Marathon race in the afternoon, and there were two accidents in the early evening. Two young fellows who capsized in front of the police station at Weston Bridge in 20 minutes of water had a close call, but Patrolman Cadgan hauled them both into his boat before they realized their predicament. An extra force of officers was on the river during the afternoon during the race and the entire five-mile course was kept clear for the Marathoners.

A MUSICAL TREAT

Those who enjoy good music will not wish to miss hearing The Italian Symphony Orchestra at Norumbega Park Theatre, Sunday afternoon and evening, June 10 and 17.

With his unflinching good taste, Mr. Raffaele Martino, the conductor, has arranged these delightful programs.

Mr. Martino is the originator and producer of the beautiful candlelight concerts given in St. James Theatre this Spring, which were enjoyed by many Newton people and enthusiastically endorsed by the Boston Press.

That a leader of Mr. Martino's ability should conduct an open-air symphony in our city is indeed an unusual event worthy of special notice.

CITY HALL

Announcement has been made that next month the Boston Elevated Railway Company will make another payment to the various cities and towns in the Metropolitan district as partial reimbursement for the taxes assessed several years ago to make up the deficit in operating that system. At that time Newton paid $37,634.53 and last year received back $4,818.20. The amount to be paid this year is $10,247 making the total reimbursement about 40%.

Miss Alice M. Wright for many years the Deputy Collector of Taxes has resigned to accept a position as private secretary to Mr. Henry B. Day.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt

Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club

At the annual meeting these officers were elected for next year: President, Mrs. W. J. Bicknell; Vice-President, Mrs. F. H. Stratton; Secretary, Mrs. F. S. Keith; Treasurer, Mrs. C. H. Keeler; Auditor, Miss Alberta J. Crombie; Executive Board, Mrs. H. W. Drew, chairman, Mrs. Bernard Early, and the officers. The club has contributed money to the West Newton Music School, the Newton Federation Working Fund, the Home Farm at Reading, the Mothers' Rest, Pomroy Home, to the fund for band concerts, articles have been given to John A. Andrew Home and to the Home for Crippled Children.

Annual Meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation

Weather conditions and comfortable surroundings play a very large part in the impression which one takes away from any convention. No matter how inspiring the addresses, or how full of good work accomplished are the reports of department activities, somehow creature comforts, or discomforts, will prevail to make or mar the remembrance of past conventions. Nothing truly impresses an old attendant upon State Federation annual meetings more than the growth of the work. From a simple one day's meeting, when there was time even for a roll call of the clubs represented, to the dignified three-day convention with the Australian ballot and regular voting apparatuses is a far cry. Certain of the annual meetings stand out particularly in the memory—Templeton with perfect June weather and the delegates housed under the hospitable roof of the Templeton Inn; Great Inauguration and the beautiful mountain country, but rain pouring down in torrents; Marion with bright skies and the tense excitement of the suffrage resolution; South Hadley and its tropical heat; Plymouth, when the wind blew from the East until the delegates nearly perished with the cold; New Bedford and hospitality! And now Swampscott has come and gone. Bright skies, the radiant blue of the ocean, and the tender green of the country conspired to make an indelible impression upon the minds of the upwards of 2000 women who were there for the annual convention of the State Federation last week. With the majority of the delegates under one roof there is an atmosphere not possible when the women are scattered here and there. This alone does much to make the delegates take home the spirit of "best ever." The New Ocean House is an ideal place for such a gathering and no wonder it is a popular place for conventions. The huge garage is easily transformed into an ample convention hall, though in some aspects it recalled the Armory in which the General Federation met for the New York Biennial, built to conceal sound, but on the whole the delegates had little trouble with the acoustics.

With flags flying and sails set the convention opened promptly on the dot with Mrs. Grace M. Poole, the president, presiding, as she did at all the sessions, leaving the chair but once, when she wished to speak to a question. Never did "America the Beautiful" ring out with greater fervor and never was the flag saluted with more reverent hearts than at the opening on Wednesday afternoon.

After a few words of greeting from Mrs. Poole the meeting was quickly down to business. The officers in turn presented their reports, as did the special committees, badge, meetings, and press; three department chairmen—Art, Literature, and Music—and four of the district directors. That evening session brought to the delegates a review of the Council meeting of the General Federation given ably by Mrs. Arthur D. Potter, the fourth vice-president. Violin music by Mr. E. Crawford Adams and an address by Dr. Tehyil Hsieh of China, completed the evening's program. Dr. Hsieh reviewed from her closed address through which China has passed, which have now brought that country "Face to Face with the West." "It is our hope," he said, "that China shall be the greatest asset rather than any menace to the world as a result of the study of homes in America. He is an entertaining speaker, has a keen sense of humor, and a most remarkable command of English.

Thursday was a full day with further reports of departments, of district directors of the credentials committee the presentation of new clubs, and the election. Since many of these reports will be found in the fourth-coming Manual in ample season for club delegates to cull from for their reports, space is lacking to do them adequate justice here. Suffice it to say that each department is working to emphasize prevention along many lines, to do good, to arouse women to a sense of their responsibility in civic matters, and to help at length to bring about a world peace.

Play evening was enjoyed to the full on Thursday with a delightful program of songs by Maria Conde, of the Metropolitan Opera Co., and recitations by Katherine Tift Jones, who took her hearers delightfully back to nature through her recital of Poems of the Out-of-Doors by some of the new poets. Her presentation of the "Old South" through stories of her own Georgia home and the darkies upon the plantation were altogether charming and appealing. Following the program the delegates returned to the hotel where a reception was held. Mrs. Poole, together with the other officers, forming the receiving line.

Friday morning with results of the election announced, and the reports of the election announced, and the reports completed, various items of business presented, the convention came to a close.

Gleanings from the Business

Financially, the Federation is in good condition, having a balance of $1840.65, with which to begin the new year, practically the same as that of last year. In the last two years more than $2500 has been contributed to the General Federation Headquarters and nearly $4,000 for the Julia Ward Howe Memorial. For the first time the income of the State Endowment Fund has been available for the use of the committees. The Fund stands at present at $25,795.91.

Through the questionnaire sent out by the president it was learned that about $84,000 has been given by the 230 clubs which sent in returns, to all sorts of good causes.

The Federation went on record as favoring better music and asking the clubs to work toward making music a vital part of every community activity. It reaffirmed its position relative to the enforcement of the 18th amendment; it recommended to the clubs the study of the international situation and of the problem of substituting law for war; it approved the program of penal reconstruction adopted by the General Federation at Chautauqua, and voted to continue work for legislation providing for the examination and classification of all convicted prisoners. A resolution was also passed urging the Commissioner of Public Works to remove the bill boards from the already existing scenic highways; to establish more scenic highways and to make rules for the proper control and restriction of bill boards on highways.

An amendment to the by-laws was passed making the chairman of departments and the General Federation director members of the executive board with voting power. Speakers from the outside included, Richard H. Dana, who made a plea for "Effective and Economic Administration of Public Affairs," claiming that twenty-five percent of government employees might be eliminated and seven or eight hundreds of millions of dollars saved thereby, something that appeals to the moral sense of the people. Charles L. Withrow, of the National Budget Commission, spoke in the interest of national budget making, saying that the time has come when the government should be taken out of politics and placed on a business basis.

Greetings were received in person from Mrs. Murray Stanley of the Florida Federation, and from "Miss California" in the person of Miss Silvey-Pearle Tinsler, who is spreading the propaganda of the good things of California, and through a telegram from the New Hampshire Federation. Mrs. Poole in her closing address advised the clubs to do a little house cleaning occasionally, and if any committees seem not to be needed or not to function, to change the line of work.

"As we come to the new year, let us emphasize certain phases of our work—the subscription list of Federation Topics doled, every letter answered promptly some phase of federation work spoken of at every meeting of every club, no 'dead wood' committees, club representation at every federation meeting, club chairman in attendance at every department conference. "Last year I promised to give you my best; today I renew that promise.

MR. WALTON RETIRES

On Thursday, May 24, the faculty of the Vocational School, and the boys and girls of the Junior and Senior classes met in the Technical High School library for the purpose of having a school social. It soon developed that this party would result in surprises for many people, particularly Mrs. Ethel Chandler and Mr. Horace Walton.

The lady teachers of the Vocational School presented Mrs. Chandler with a beautiful bouquet of flowers, and the men teachers presented Mr. Walton with a pipe and tobacco.

Mr. George Hardy presented the pipe and tobacco with the following remarks:

"Pupils often feel that rules are made to be broken, but seldom does there come to teachers the wish that some hard and fast rule might be broken. We do earnestly wish at this time that one rule might be broken, namely that one teacher reaching the age of 70 must retire. We know that this teacher whom we have in mind is good for ten or twenty years more and we wish he might be with us these years. He has ever been an upstanding, sincere, and honest man, and I feel sure no one in the whole teaching force in Newton has more deeply impressed on the hearts and minds of the boys and girls in this city the principles of honor and uprightness, patriotism and good citizenship, than has this man. Himself a shining example of these principles, we have come to respect and admire him for his quiet efficiency, his happy nature and his upstanding manhood. When he goes he will leave behind a large gap which will be very hard to fill."

"Therefore, Mr. Walton, in behalf of the men of the Vocational School, as a slight token of our respect and esteem, I present you with this gift. As you sit by the fireside at the close of day, wooing Lady Nicotine, and the smoke floats lazily upward, may you see in it the faces of young men and women once boys and girls who studied under you, and may peace and contentment rest upon you, and the cares that infest the day, fold their tents, like the Arabs, and silently steal away."

"We've tried you friend and found you true. We've summered you and wintered you. We like your smile, we like your ways and so we speak these words of praise."

As days and weeks and months go by we'll wish that you were with us yet. And teaching in this same old hall. Those things our hearts can never forget."

Mr. Walton replied to Mr. Hardy's speech by quoting Longfellow's poem entitled, "The Singers."

CHILDREN FREE

Management of Norumbega Park generously invites all the young folks there Saturday, June 2nd.

Realizing that many youngsters were disappointed because they expected to see Beraz's Circus at Norumbega Park on the opening day, and that they did not realize it was rushing across the country from Chicago where crowds were loath to see it depart in order to reach Norumbega in time to commence the engagement which was advertised for Monday and not for the day on which the kids attended: all children are invited to Norumbega this coming Saturday, June 2nd and will be admitted to the park free between the hours of ten and two p. m.

The gates will be thrown wide open to the youngsters who reach the park from ten until two and the Circus will start promptly at two-thirty. Beraz's Circus has always been popular with both old and young, and has many features that appeal to all, but of special interest to the children is "Bollivia" the untamable Mule whom no one has ever succeeded in making friend with and who can always be counted upon for thrills, and shrieks of laughter from those who watch his performance.

In case rain should prevent the performance this invitation will be extended to the following Saturday, June 9th.

All free governments, whatever their name, are in reality governments by public opinion; and it is on the quality of this opinion that their prosperity depends.—James Russell Lowell.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE NEWS

The membership of the Newton Chamber of Commerce passed the 1400 mark early last week and now numbers 1436. A continuous effort is being made to maintain a steady and constant increase in the Chamber membership, in accordance with the carefully developed plan of the membership committee. It is hoped that this may be continued in such a way as to insure a total of two thousand or more members before the close of the present year.

Newton now leads the several villages in the membership standing with a total of 237. Newton Centre is in second place with 221, while Newtonville is but one behind, with 220. Waban is next in line with 211. West Newton has 188, and Newton Highlands now has 113. Chestnut Hill has also passed the hundred mark, 101 of the citizens of that section now being members of the Chamber.

One of the most gratifying features of the Chamber development during the past few weeks has been the substantial increase in business membership which now number more than 300. Of this number, 42 have become members of the Chamber since April 1. The publication of Newton Progress, the development of plans for the Newton Credit Rating Bureau, and the various new activities of the Mercantile Division Committee, have resulted in a gratifying increase of interest on the part of Newton business men and a general spirit of co-operation which is having a marked influence on the development of the Chamber work during the present year.

After two months of consistent effort and a large amount of detail work the Chamber of Commerce special committee appointed to prepare the draft of a traffic ordinance for Newton, at the request of the Aldermanic Traffic Committee, has completed its work and the completed draft of the proposed ordinance has been forwarded to Alderman George H. Greenstein, chairman of the Aldermanic Committee.

The Chamber committee has held several meetings since its organization and has made an extensive study of the traffic ordinances operative in other cities, particularly the larger cities in the State including New Bedford, Fall River, Worcester, Springfield, Salem, Cambridge and Boston. It has also had the assistance of advice from experts well versed in traffic conditions who have made a study of this fast growing problem and the various methods of meeting it in cities.

With this foundation and the knowledge of how traffic problems have been met in other cities, the Chamber committee has been able to prepare an ordinance for this city which should be a model in all of its regulations.

In order to secure first hand information of the individual problems of the several villages, chairman of the Chamber's committee called a meeting of the Presidents of the Village Improvement Associations, explained just what information was desired as to conditions in their villages and asked that they, through their associations, ascertain their traffic problems and report back to the Chamber's committee for inclusion in the proposed ordinance.

Reports were received from nine of the eleven villages. While none of the villages have many recommendations for correction, regulations all of the most troublesome traffic problems were reported with comprehensive recommendations for their remedy.

Specific regulations relative to parking and one way streets have been worked out with advice from the Improvement Associations and included as sections of the ordinance which has been submitted.

Among the streets on which it is proposed that parking of vehicles be regulated are Commonwealth Avenue, where it is recommended that parking be prohibited on the north side of the south drive throughout the entire city. Restrictions recommended by Newton Centre apply to the south side of Beacon Street from Langley Road, to Centre Street, all of Centre Street between Homer Street and Commonwealth Avenue, and a time limit is recommended for parking on Commonwealth Avenue, on the north side from Centre Street, to Read Court, and on the south side from Centre Street to Irving Street.

In Newton recommendations made by the Newton Improvement Association would limit the time of parking to twenty minutes in the business district around Nonantum Square making boundry from the Washington Street R. R. Bridge to Bacon Street on Washington and from Pearl Street, to Centre Place, on Centre Street. It is also proposed that parking be restricted on Channing, Elmwood, Pearl and Hall Streets, and that Hall Street, be made a one way street permitting travelling in a southerly direction from Washington Street to Centre Street.

Only two parking regulations are proposed by the Improvement Association for Abundale which would restrict parking on the south side of Auburn Street, between Grove Street and the Boston and Albany R. R. Bridge and the other to restrict parking on the north side of Commonwealth Avenue, between Lexington Street and Melrose Street.

Recommendations for Waban include a regulation against parking to be made operative on the southeast side of Beacon Street, from number 1580 to Waban Avenue.

Among the numerous suggestions which are made by the committee for the improvement of traffic conditions throughout the city is a proposal to have the city widen Union Street, in Newton Centre, between Langley Road and Beacon Street, to a width of ten more feet on the park side.

The necessity for some signaling device at the Junction of Beacon and Centre Streets, Newton Centre, has also been considered, and suggestions were received by the committee that it recommend the establishment, by the city of a safety island at this point. It was, however, the belief of the committee that an island at the junction would take too much space from the traveled roadway and it was finally decided that recommendations would be made to establish a Beacon light at this point.

The personnel of the Chamber's committee which has had this work under supervision is as follows, Chairman, Ex-Alderman Henry Lloyd of Newton, Chief of Police Bernard P. Burke, Walter B. Randlett, Chief of the Fire Department; Street Commissioner George E. Stuart, and Henry C. Robbins, former president of the Waban Improvement Society. Philip Nichols of Newton acted as legal advisor for the committee.

NORUMBEGA PARK OPEN

Thousands of persons passed through the turnstiles at the opening of Norumbega Park, Saturday to witness the greatest opening day ever known there. Thousands of children and their parents during the day time and in the evening so many notables were present it would require a complete list of "Who's Who" to supply the names.

One thing is certain the Management has done itself proud. Money has been spent lavishly and to good effect. Never in the history of Norumbega Park have so many new attractions been offered in one season.

MR. SALTONSTALL HONORED

The late Endicott Peabody Saltonstall, former district attorney for Middlesex County, was paid a high tribute of affection and regard at a meeting held last Saturday in the Suffolk Court House in Boston before the full bench of the Supreme Court. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Bar Association of the city of Boston and was attended by a large number of Mr. Saltonstall's friends and associates.

Justice Henry K. Braley presided, and on motion of William G. Thompson a service to the Commonwealth, latterly as district attorney of Middlesex County, was entered upon the records of the court. Mrs. Saltonstall and other members of the family sat on one side of the court room and there was a large and notable representation of the bar in attendance.

The exercises were opened by Mr. Thompson, who spoke most impressively of the distinguished lineage of Mr. Saltonstall, which had been represented at Harvard University by nine generations; of the splendid inheritance of capacity, honor and integrity which the lawyer had enjoyed; of his success before juries which his learning and personality inspired; of the high sense of public spirit which led him to accept the appointment from the governor of the district attorneyship of Middlesex, following the removal of his predecessor, of the efficiency and faithfulness with which he discharged those trying duties; and of the restoration of confidence in the office which his service commanded.

Mr. Thompson was followed by Robert Homans, who referred to Mr. Saltonstall as a very attractive man and as possessing that very charming quality of great enthusiasm in all that he undertook; C. W. Blood, for seventeen years a law partner of Mr. Saltonstall, who said that he never knew his partner to do a thing which might not be spread broadcast for the whole world to see and read; James C. Reilly, formerly assistant district attorney of Middlesex, who said that he had never seen him in the court room without having Mr. Saltonstall constantly before him as an inspiration of correct ethical standards; former Judge William B. Stevens of the Superior Court, who said he did not believe Mr. Saltonstall ever committed a mean or dishonest act; Moorfield Storey, who found in the deceased district attorney an example of upright, vigorous, courteous administration of the law; Charles W. Elliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, who maintained that Mr. Saltonstall should be remembered for his influence upon the legal profession in respect to the development and improvement of family life; and by Justice Braley, who said: "As we contemplate the lessons of his life we bid him hail, and not farewell, for 'the light he leaves behind him shines along the paths of men.'"

Why not remodel your present bath room during the dull months and allow us to submit an estimate on these up to date fixtures. Phone or write and we will be pleased to call and talk it over with you.

The Pharaohs of Egypt.

Pharaoh was the title given to all the Egyptian kings up to the time of Solomon. After Solomon's date the title was always accompanied by the special name of the king, as Pharaoh Necho, Pharaoh Hophra, Pharaoh Shishak. The word comes from "Piraa" or "great house," the palace in which the king lived being used to denote the king himself. After the division of Alexander's kingdom, the kings of Egypt were all called Ptolemy for one of Alexander's generals who rose to power and obtained the government of Egypt at the distribution of the provinces in 323 B. C. The title was generally followed by some distinctive term as Ptolemy Philadelphus, or Ptolemy Euergetes (Benefactor).

GREAT "GOLD BLUFFS" HOAX

Reported Finding of Yellow Metal Caused Intense Excitement in San Francisco in 1851.

To San Francisco in January, 1851, came a tale that set even its excitement-jaded pulses a-throb. Briefly, 19 prospectors had proceeded in the steamer Chesapeake toward the Klamath river, and near this stream the seashore for miles was composed—half, at least—of pure gold, writes Eugene Cunningham in Adventure Magazine.

Digging was not required. One had only to raise as much as he wished of the golden sand from the beach. Small wonder that San Francisco went mad. Eight vessels prepared to sail for "Gold Bluffs."

Then the bottom dropped out. It was rumored first that the gold was mixed with black and gray sands; that because of its exceeding fineness it could not be separated from the sand. Worse still, the sea washed through huge piles of collected sand and flood-tide brought none of it back. Working "Gold Bluffs" promised a reversal of ordinary mining—gold went into, instead of coming out of, the ground. So the greatest excitement of the decade was done. But it was a "thriller" while it lasted.

FELT THE BISHOP WAS SAFE

Woman's Apprehensions Disappeared With Her Increasing Confidence in the Small Boy.

When Phillips Brooks, the great "low church" bishop of Massachusetts, made his visitation at the Church of the Advent, Boston, celebrated for its elaborate ritual, the rector considerably inquired if the bishop would like the usual service simplified.

"Oh, no," was the reply. "Turn everything on!"

A young but well-trained acolyte was told to attend the bishop, and before the towering figure paced, with impressive dignity, the small red-cas-socked lad.

A lady, who knew and admired Phillips Brooks, but knew little of ritual, regarded the situation at first with anxious face, but soon became serene. On leaving the church after service, she remarked:

"In the beginning I was dreadfully afraid the bishop would not know where to go or what to do, but I felt perfectly safe about him when I saw that little boy knew a great deal more about it than the bishop did, and was taking good care of him."—Harper's Magazine.

An Inventor at Seventeen.

One Saturday morning, more than 60 years ago, writes Lloyd L. Darrow in St. Nicholas Magazine, a man and a boy might have been observed standing over a piece of pipe in a machine-shop in Schenectady, N. Y. The man was giving instructions to his fourteen-year-old son, George Westinghouse, Jr., as to how he wished this pipe to be cut into pieces of a certain length.

George had wanted to go on a hike with some other boys, but his father, a somewhat stern man, was assigning a task which, he assured the lad, would require all his spare time for several days to come. While his father had been talking, the boy had been thinking out a scheme to escape this drudgery. In a few hours he had rigged up a combination of tools which, when attached to a power machine, automatically fed the pipe and cut it into the proper lengths.

In this youthful incident we have the first glimpse of the wonderful inventive genius of one of the most extraordinary men that America has ever produced.—George Westinghouse.

History of Vaccination.

Smallpox vaccination, generally regarded as a modern practice, dates back more than 2,000 years, according to Dr. W. G. McCoy, director of the Hygienic Laboratory of the United States Public Health service. "When the ancients noticed that recovery from the first attack gave immunity from others," says Doctor McCoy, "they began inoculating their fellows; first by exposing well persons to others ill with the disease and later by inoculation."

Jenner, who is generally conceded to have been the father of vaccination for smallpox with cowpox, only "put vaccination on a rock where it would be immovable," explains Doctor McCoy. Records show that years before Jenner's time men had been vaccinated with cowpox and then with smallpox to demonstrate their immunity.

Rachel's Tomb Jewish Shrine.

Rachel's tomb, about a mile from Bethlehem, is a sacred shrine of the Jews. It is the only spot of Old Testament interest to which the Jews have exclusive rights, and the chief rabbi of Jerusalem has the key to it. They assemble there from time to time for prayer. They do the same at Hebron, where the patriarchs are buried, but in general they do not have ready access to the graves of their forefathers. The Moslems refuse this privilege to them.

Wanted More Information.

The medical officer on duty in the eye, ear and throat department of one of the great London hospitals was about to examine a man who complained of severe pain.

"Now, then, my friend, is it this ear that's causing the trouble?" he asked.

"This 'ere what?" inquired the patient.

CAN TELL COMING WEATHER

Almost Universal Belief That Tabby Has Foreknowledge of Any Approaching Changes.

"Cats have the reputation," says Dunwoody, according to the Detroit News, "of being especially weather-wise, an old notion which has given rise to a most extensive folklore. It is almost universally believed that good weather may be expected when the cat washes herself, but bad when she licks her coat against the grain, or washes herself over the ears, or sits with her tail to the fire."

"As, too, the cat is supposed not only to have knowledge of the state of the weather, but a certain share in the arrangement of it, it is considered by sailors most unwise to provoke a cat. Hence they do not much like to have a cat on board at all, and when one happens to be more frisky than usual they quote a saying that the cat has a gale of wind in her tail. A charm often resorted to for raising a storm is to throw a cat overboard; but, according to the Hungarian proverb, as a cat does not die in the water, its paws disturb the surface—hence the flaws on the surface of the water are called 'cat's paws.' In the same way, also, a large flurry in the water is called a 'cat's skin'; and in some parts of England a popular name for the stormy north-west wind is the 'cat's nose.'"

EXCELLENT MOTTO TO ADOPT

David Crockett's Advice "First Be Sure You're Right, Then Go Ahead," Always Good.

David Crockett was the author of the famous motto, "Be sure you are right, then go ahead." It is said to have first appeared in print in Crockett's "Autobiography," published in 1834—appearing on the title page in the following form, says the Detroit News:

"I leave this rule for others when I'm dead. Be always sure you're right—then go ahead."

The statement has been made that "Crockett wrote this highly entertaining history of his own life . . . full of blunders in grammar and misspelled words," although it has been revised and corrected by his more scholarly friends, "but the Britannica speaks of it as a 'so-called autobiography,' which he very probably dictated or at least authorized published in 1834. A work purporting to be a continuation of this autobiography and entitled 'Colonel Crockett's Exploits and Adventures in Texas' is undoubtedly spurious."

John Bartlett, in his "Familiar Quotations," describes "Be sure you are right, then go ahead" as "the motto of David Crockett in the War of 1812."

When Mammoths Roamed the Land.

Mastodons and woolly mammoths were once as thick in New York as blons were on the western plains a century ago, according to Dr. Sherman C. Bishop, zoologist of the state museum. Although the mammoths were more closely related to the elephants, the only surviving members of the family, they were the first to become extinct and probably passed off the scene while the mastodons were still thriving. Skeletons of mastodons, more or less complete, and some of them suitable for museum mounting, have been found in about 100 localities in the state, the last one at Temple hill, Orange county, in 1921. The first was found in Columbia county, not far from Albany, in 1705. These huge mammals are believed to have flourished about the end of the last glacial period, some 20,000 years ago. Their skeletons are found generally in the marsh lands of those early days.

Worse and Worse.

"How 'yo' feelin' now, Sam?" questioned his wife, entering the hospital ward nervously.

"Liza, I've a sick man," moaned the patient. "De doctors says I's got berkolosis."

"Dat's all right, Sam; we'll take keer of 'yo' an' get rid of dat berkolosis."

The following day, however, when his wife returned Sam was more dejected than ever.

"Tain't no use, Liza; no use. I ain't never gwine git well. De doctors say dis heah mornin' I got two berkolosis."

Henry Hudson.

Charles Barnard, an authority on the subject, says that the time and place of the birth of Henry Hudson appear to be lost. "We only know," he says, "that he had earned, perhaps by the time he was forty, sufficient reputation as a bold and skillful navigator to be placed in command of the ship Half Moon of Amsterdam. Early in 1609 he made a contract with a party of Dutch merchants to act as captain of their private exploring expedition, and in the written agreement between them he was described as 'Henry Hudson, Englishman.'"

Her Occupation.

Hannah, the young colored cook in the Steadman household, had decided to make a change and try her luck in the capacity of cateress, feeling that she would find the work much easier. Shortly afterward she had occasion to return to the house, and as she was leaving her former mistress asked her where she was working now.

"Oh, I isn't workin' nowhere now, ma'am," quickly returned Hannah, coyly; "I'se caperin' for a congressman."

NEWTONVILLE IMPROVEMENT

The twentieth annual meeting of the Newtonville Improvement Society, held on Thursday evening, May 24th, at the Congregational Church, proved to be in all ways a most enjoyable occasion. At the short business meeting, before the program proper, reports of the officers for the past year were read, and the retiring President, Mr. Cabot, not only touched on the activities of the Association during the past year, but also spoke of its numerous important, worthwhile achievements during the twenty years of its existence, in helping to make Newtonville a more healthful and pleasing place in which to live.

Mrs. Leadbetter, who has twice appeared in Newtonville as the soloist of the Newton Choral Society, and who sang at last year's annual meeting of the Improvement Association, then sang three songs, "The Answer," "Terry," "My Shadow," "Samuels," "The Cat Bird," "Cockley."

Mr. William Rogers Greeley of Lexington, well known as an architect and town planner, and editor of the Massachusetts Federation of Town Planning Bulletin, gave a most interesting illustrated talk on "Neighborhood Self-Development," in which he showed the commercial as well as artistic results of injecting intelligence, civic pride, and artistic appreciation into one's neighborhood. Mr. Hartman, State Consultant on Town Planning, who was present, also said a few words on the same subject.

Mrs. Leadbetter concluded the program with a second group of songs, "The Owl," "Buzza-Perria," "Land of the Sky Blue Water," "Caden," "The Tarantelle," "Rossini," after which refreshments were served in the church parlors.

The following officers were elected for next year:

The following officers were elected for next year: President, Horace W. Orr; Vice-Presidents, Albert M. Lyon, Rev. Richard T. Loring, Percy C. Ziesler; Secretary-Treasurer, Fred C. Alexander; Executive Committee, The above officers and the following persons: Charles I. Balcom, Cleveland A. Ballou, Charles D. Cabot, Harry D. Cabot, James C. Irwin, Bartlett F. Kenney, Charles D. Kepner, George R. Kraber, Clarence G. McDavitt, Ernest L. Miller, Lewis E. Moore, John R. Prescott, George H. Tracy, Augustus L. Wakefield, Clifford B. Whitney, William H. Zoller.

Was it Dick Whittington? In the wall of the nave of Old Cleve church, Somerset, England, is a recess surrounded by a boldly molded arch, finished off with a face bearing a somewhat satanic expression, and within the recess is the recumbent effigy of a civilian of the Fifteenth century. This has not been identified, and the very curious carving of a cat, on which the feet of the effigy rests, has greatly pliqued curiosity. One paw of the cat rests upon a mouse and the cat itself is seen to be looking up as though seeking its master's approval. It is a somewhat singular circumstance that this group is contemporary, or nearly so, with Sir Richard Whittington.

James Benson, who is chairman of the Fortune-Teller's Booth, will make us all "happier ever after." Clendenning Smith, Jr., is chairman of the Waste Basket Booth which assures better housekeeping. The "Chase Twins" are in charge of the balloons which will be an attractive feature of the Lawn Party. Priscilla Bacon is in charge of the Remembrance Booth which will be an interesting bit of Past History in the Red Bank Society. Minot Ross is chairman of the Palmistry and will guarantee a "Long life and a happy one." Barbara Lippencoff is chairman of the Popcorn Booth and has secured the very latest brands of popcorn in all the latest fashions. Hamilton Bissell is chairman of the Candy Booth and promises to send every guest home sweeter than they came. So every one is going.

Helen Rae is in charge of the White Elephant and has in store many surprises of wonderful value. Russell Taylor, who is in charge of the electricity, promises to give light to all dark places with the aid of his genial smile and a little help from Edison.

Aside from the most splendid afternoon which is keenly anticipated, the Red Bank Society is doing an untold amount of good in adding cheer and sunshine to many sorrowing hearts, in helping to support Miss Caroline Sewall's "Our own missionary" in Tein Sen, China, in sending food and clothing to the many needy ones, in sending folders and happy thoughts to the hospitals. As well as the splendid spiritual, moral, and social uplift to our own children.

Not a child in West Newton can afford to miss the influence of this society or the knowledge which is gained of foreign countries both geographical and social.

Reserve Thursday, June 7th, as Red Bank Lawn Party afternoon and evening.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE

On Tuesday evening Newton Upper Falls defeated Newton Highlands by the score of six to three. It was a very close game up to the last inning when Mugger Stanton knocked a home run with Jerry Kelliher on second base, breaking the three to three score.

McMullin, Newton High pitcher was in very good form and only for two errors and he won his game. The Falls gave Pitcher Trigg wonderful support especially in the fifth inning when the Highlands scored two runs and still had three men on bases when Capt. Kelliher pulled down a sure three bagger from the bat of Fritz Ely.

On the holiday afternoon Newton Highlands played the strong Dorchester Professionals at Newton Highlands and gave Dorchester its first defeat of the season, the score being five to two. The feature of the game was the pitching of Joe Cannon who struck out twelve of the Professionals. Dewey Evans playing his first game for the Highlands drove in three runs getting two base hits and a single in four times to bat. Bill Hurley caught a fine game and contributed a two bagger scoring two runs for the Highlands.

The games for next week will be on June 6, Centre playing at the Highlands and West Newton at the Falls.

NEWTON POLICE COURT

Yesterday was a busy day for Judge Allen, who is on the bench during the absence of Judge Bacon.

Louis N. Chase, of 39 Bay State road, Boston, was charged with larceny of $1200 in an alleged fraudulent stock transaction from a West Newton man. The case was continued to Wednesday.

John T. Duggan of West Roxbury, was charged with operating a car so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public and for going away from the scene of an accident after knowingly injuring a person. Duggan, it is alleged, was the operator of the car owned by J. P. Shea, Jr., of Maple avenue, West Roxbury, which was in collision with motorcycle officer Edward Chadwick early in the morning of May 24 in Newtonville Sq. Chadwick is still leg from the crash. The case was continued until next Tuesday, as Duggan has not yet secured counsel.

Victor Campisi, 21, of 90 High street, Waltham, and Irma Temple, 15, of 12 Lexington street, West Newton, were in court. Campisi, charged with seduction, and Miss Temple, with being a delinquent child. The couple left for Lawrence, May 16, and the Newton police learned of their whereabouts Monday. Both claimed they were married in Lawrence by a justice of the peace and that he had not given them a marriage certificate. Campisi is an Italian, a shoemaker in Waltham. Miss Temple, who appears to be about five years older than she is, has been living with an aunt in West Newton. She is English and works at the Waltham Watch factory. Campisi sat in the courtroom this morning with his arm around the girl, oblivious of surroundings. His case was continued until Saturday and the girl's case was continued until tomorrow.

Frank Mirabito, Jr., of 90 Los Angeles street, Newton, was fined $20 for operating an automobile so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public. Mrs. Frank Barry of Nonantum testified that last Friday night, while she was wheeling her baby carriage across Watertown street, Nonantum, Mirabito ran into the carriage and Mrs. Barry's 4-months-old child was cut about the head.

Prizes in the whist were won by James Bradley, Michael Bradley, Margaret Bradley, Mrs. Kiley and Mrs. Murphy.

CHESTNUT HILL HORSE SHOW

The Chestnut Hill Horse Show, on Memorial Day, with 395 entries and more than thirty post-entries refused, was one of the most successful and interesting affairs of its kind held here.

Owing to the unusual list of entries in the several jumping classes, the committee was unable to maintain its schedule according to the posted time and it was almost 7.30 P. M. before the final class was judged. The committee and judges had been on duty since 9.30 A. M. and had cut short the luncheon recess. The show would have lasted even longer.

The entry list at Chestnut Hill has never been as large nor so interesting. It is doubtful if there was ever so large a crowd of spectators. Late comers were obliged to park their automobiles almost half a mile from the show grounds.

Decorated, Edwin S. Webster, Jr.'s, sixteen-year-old gelding, for the last ten years a feature in local shows, and said to have a record of 132 jumps without a fault, was the individual star in the jumping class. Decoration took three firsts. Other Webster entries fared as well. Horses entered by Mrs. Edwin S. Webster carried off two blues, a red, a yellow and three white ribbons. Among the other entries, Miss Rosamond Adie won a first and two seconds; Miss Lorraine Liggett, who was unseated at one jump, but remounted and continued, two firsts, a second and a third; and Miss Jessie Bancroft won two firsts, a second and a fourth.

Miss Andrea Adie, Miss Rosamond Adie, and Miss Mary Almy won in the hunters' teams for three mounts. In hunt costume, and wearing the colors of the Quansett Hounds, they received enthusiastic applause for their horsemanship on the hunters entered under the name of William Almy, Jr.

In the R. M. Saltonstall Memorial Cup event, in the children's horsemanship class, Miss M. E. McGregor won in Division A, the "under twelve" group, and Allen G. Howe in Division B. The Dryad of Miss Frances Peabody captured first in the event for pony jumpers of fifteen hands and under on four fences of three and a half feet.

In the saddle pony class, for the Francis W. Lee Memorial Fund, open to children under sixteen, Clifford H. Pratt on Star took first place, Lieutenant T. G. Holcombe led the event for officers' mounts.

The judges were John Washburn, Gordon C. Prince, J. P. Westcott, Jr., and Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., and Arthur Vignoles was ringmaster. The comarce consisted of Andrew Adie, Prescott Bigelow, Clarke T. Baldwin, George Frost, Chester A. Howe, Louis K. Liggett, W. Eugene McGregor, Leverett Saltonstall, Edwin S. Webster, A. Winsor Weld and Geo. S. West.

The Francis W. Lee Cup has been added to the several memorial cups that are within the gift of the Chestnut Hill organization as prizes, the others being the Montgomery Rollins Memorial Cup, the Richard M. Saltonstall Memorial Cup and the Nora Saltonstall Memorial Cup.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN

West Newton Residents Object to Filling Station on Commonwealth Avenue

If the past few meetings of the Aldermen are to be taken as criterions, the numerous attempts being made to alter the Zoning Ordinance will prevent few dull sessions of the Board in the future. The outstanding feature of the 11th regular meeting of the present Board, held last Monday night, was the hearing on the petition of the Colonial Filling Stations, Inc., for permission to locate a building at the corner of Fuller street and Commonwealth avenue in connection with a gasoline filling station.

Allen Hubbard, Jr., speaking for the Colonial Company told the Aldermen that his company had purchased the land on the corner of Fuller street and the Avenue last fall, and had paid a large sum for it, with the expectation that a permit would be granted for the erection of the proposed building. The building commissioner had delayed granting a permit and in the meantime the Zoning Ordinance was passed, placing the district where the land in question is located in the Private Residence Zone. Mr. Hubbard referred to the expensive and attractive structures which have been erected by the Colonial Filling Stations Company in other localities, and held that the building which would be constructed on this site, would be an asset to the neighborhood, and a welcome change from the old shed which has been standing there.

He was followed by C. J. Mehigan whose family sold the land to the Colonial Company. Mr. Mehigan said that his family was the only one living sufficiently near to the spot to be effected, and that he feared no undesirable results as a result of the petition being granted.

Clarence L. Newton of Lenox street, speaking for a number of objectors, said "that the Zoning Ordinance was passed for the purpose of preventing the perversion of residential districts by the intrusion of just such businesses as the petitioners were endeavoring to establish. That a gasoline station not over a half mile to the east on Commonwealth avenue, and another filling station about one mile to the west, rendered the proposed filling station unnecessary."

LAYMAN'S LEAGUE

The West Newton Chapter of the Laymen's League was the host last Friday night to the members of chapters from Newton Centre, Newton, Watertown and Waltham.

The meeting was preceded by an organ recital for Mr. Sircorn in the Unitarian Church and at 6:30 an excellent supper was served to about a hundred persons in the parish house.

Stephen H. Whidden, president of the West Newton Chapter welcomed the guests.

Y. W. C. A. "WHIRLIGIG"

Crowds of children, some accompanied by their older brothers and sisters and others by their parents attended the Whirligig given by the Young Women's Christian Association Saturday, June 2nd.

Warm weather and sunny skies helped to make the affair a huge success in spite of the fact that there was no merry-go-round due to breakage. Plenty of amusement was found, however, and the games of skill, fortune teller and grabs were well patronized.

In the tea room cooling drinks were found to the accompaniment of music and dancing. Towards supper time the hot dog table became very popular for those who wanted a light lunch rather than go home for supper. Many of those present received words of great hope for the future from the fortune teller. The grounds of the estate took on a very gala appearance as balloons and pinwheels purchased by the children were seen everywhere among the crowd.

The entertainment under the direction of Miss Florence White and Miss Barbara Wellington was a huge success. The groups of dances were given by members of the Girl Reserve club, one of the Peter Pan group the other a clown dance which afforded a great deal of amusement.

CHAFFIN PARK

About a year ago a group of public spirited citizens of Newton conceived the idea of purchasing the premises at 450 Centre street, known as the Chaffin Estate, and 460 Centre street, known as the Davis Estate, and after removing the buildings and grading the land to present the same to the City of Newton as a public park.

A committee consisting of Mr. Herbert A. Wilder, Mr. James E. Clark, Mr. Oliver M. Fisher and Mr. Loren D. Towle, have interested about thirty other citizens of Newton in this development and have completed all negotiations in behalf of the enterprise. A voluntary trust was formed, with Mr. Loren D. Towle and Hon. William F. Bacon acting as trustees, to hold the title to the property until transferred to the City of Newton.

After acquiring the property the buildings were torn down and the entire area of 36,150 square feet of land, having a frontage of 210 feet on Centre Street, and 190 feet on Vernon Street, was thoroughly graded and landscaped with walks and shrubbery under the direction of Mr. Arthur A. Shurtleff, landscape engineer.

NEWTON CENTRAL COUNCIL

Dinner at Newton Club Held in Honor of New Executive Secretary

Members of the Newton Central Council held a dinner at the Newton Club on Wednesday night in honor of the new executive secretary, Mr. Arthur Dunham.

The President of the Council, Mr. George M. Angier of Waban, presided. The Vice-President of the Council, Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, and the treasurer, Mr. Leon B. Rogers, were also present. Mr. Maynard Hutchinson, secretary of the Council, was unable to be present.

Besides the officers of the Council, there were nearly eight present representing twenty-four civic and social organizations of the city.

Mr. Angier in his opening remarks called attention to the fact that this was the largest gathering devoted to Health and Welfare Work ever held in Newton. He thanked the committee in charge of the dinner, Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson, Mrs. Morton, for their very efficient work, and also expressed his appreciation of the beautiful flowers which adorned the tables and of the music by the West Newton Music School.

He then gave the greetings of the council to the new secretary and his wife and promised the allegiance of its members.

The first speaker of the evening was Mayor Edwin O. Childs who brought the greetings of the city to the new secretary. Mr. Childs spoke briefly of the history of Newton, emphasizing the meaning of the original name, "Nonantum," meaning "brotherly love." He said that ninety five percent of the citizens of Newton were honest, patriotic, public spirited, and had foresight, and that the council represented the highest and best interests of the city. "If you have a good proposition," he added, "you will find the people of Newton always sympathetic and co-operative."

Mr. Childs was followed by Mr. Robert Kelso, executive secretary of the Council.

Burr School

Memorial Day exercises were held in the Burr School Hall on Tuesday, May twenty-ninth. Grades one to four inclusive gave a short program consisting of patriotic selections, drills, and song. Their program ended with a dramatization by the fourth grade.

The upper grade exercises were held at the close of the primary program. The fifth and seventh grades were each represented by a classmate who read or recited a selection fitting the occasion. The greater part of the upper grade program was given by pupils of grade eight and included a four-part song, single and group recitations and the delivery of Lincoln's speech at Gettysburg.

Grades five and six of the Williams School were guests on this occasion and helped in singing of patriotic songs.

George W. Fiske, Grand Army veteran and member of Charles Ward Post, was the guest of honor and spoke to both primary and upper grade pupils. He was escorted by Oswald J. McCourt, petty officer in the United States Navy and member of the American Legion, who also addressed the children for a few moments.

The flag was saluted by all and the exercises closed with the singing of "America."

PERTAIN TO MEN AND MULES

Only Known Animals That, Willingly and Unwillingly, Are Known to Wear Collars.

Collars are tubular articles of apparel worn about the neck by men and mules. The reason that the last named animal wears them is obvious. A collar consists of several square inches of linen made into a strangling noose and starched to add to its potency. Some are uprights, other grands and still others simply instruments.

They are of varying heights, according to the hardihood of the wearer, observes a writer for the New York Sun. Some men are so hardboiled that they wear collars with protruding points in front and play a game with them. The object of the game is to prevent the points from working through the under jaw and destroying the molars. Fortunately the collar does not often win and the stretching exercises incidental to the play are beneficial.

Many good farmhands have been ruined because of a burning ambition to wear a collar perennially. The problem of the exodus to the cities might be solved by a public exposure of the implement. For some reason office slavery is called white-collar work and those who do not carry the hod are said to be white-collar workers, but this is only a flowery figure of speech, the collar that will stay white on the job not having been made.

In families the men of which have worn collars for generations that unlabeled protuberance known as Adam's apple is virtually nonexistent. Among those who have but recently joined the collar corps the old perambulating pipin puts up a hard fight, but is finally pushed back, to the evident discomfort of the windpipe. It is fortunate that only the air passage suffers and never the one through which food must travel.

ODD VARIETIES OF MEDICINE

Cobweb Pills Supposed Good for Ague, and Snake's Head Broth for Various Diseases.

The heads of venomous serpents have held an important place in medicine. A strong broth made from them and mixed with salt and spices, and one hundred other remedies, was employed under the name of theriac as a cure for every conceivable disease.

Curious survivals of this old belief in the efficacy of certain reptiles and insects as cures for human ills occasionally come to light, even in this advanced age. In New England, cobweb pills are supposed to be good for the ague, and in the South a certain knuckle bone in a pig's foot is a cure for rheumatism, if it be carried in the pocket or worn suspended from a string around the neck.

The spider-web pill originated in China, where all species of insects have certain positive or negative values in medicine.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Sacred Horses in Jap Park.

In the famed park in Nara, Japan, there is a sacred horse. This shaggy, undersized animal is said to be about the funniest thing in Japan. He is pure white, and has one blue eye and one pink eye. He is kept in a small stable with a square hole for him to poke out his head to eat the oats which tourists bring him. The third largest bell in Japan hangs in Nara park, which contains 1,250 acres, and throughout which more than 3,000 stone and metal lanterns are scattered. Six hundred tame deer roam at will in the park.

Also in Nara park there is one of the three gigantic bronze Buddhas, and the largest. The others are at Osaka and Kamakura. One of the most venerated of Shinto shrines—Kasuga no Miya—is the goal of thousands of pilgrims every year. It has existed for 1,210 years.

Considerate of the Bank.

An English sailor just home from a long cruise entered a bank in Hull and greeted the clerk with: "What cheer, matey! How's your business doing, hey?"

"Not very brisk at present," answered the clerk, "but I hope to see it improve shortly."

"That's 'ard!" said the tar sympathetically. He fished out a check for £100.

"How'll you have it?" asked the clerk.

The sailor hesitated a moment, then leaned over the counter and said in a hoarse whisper: "Well, matey, I don't want to be 'ard on yer. Gimme ten pun' now and I'll take the rest a pun' a week."—Boston Transcript.

When He Remembered.

An absent-minded man came home one day after a heavy rainstorm, very bedraggled and wet. His wife met him at the door, and as he greeted her he made the remark that he had forgotten his umbrella.

She was surprised to think that he even remembered that he had forgotten anything, and asked him when he had thought of it.

With a smile of satisfaction he replied: "Why, my dear, when it stopped raining and I went to shut it."

Asked Advice and Got It.

Young Man—I want a word of advice. Mr. Wader (grimly)—Well?

"What is the best way to approach you for a loan?"

"If you are sensitive, better write it out, and when you get my reply, tear it up without reading it."—London Answers.

those present and introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Robert O'Brien, editor of the Boston Herald.

Mr. O'Brien gave a most interesting talk on political and public matters, contrasting the political situation of thirty years ago with that of today. He pointed out that whereas, 30 years ago the national and state elections were usually determined by small majorities in pivotal states, at present there are huge majorities, first one way and then another. This was not due, he declared, to the increase in population nor the advent of woman's suffrage, each of which added about 66 per cent to the nominal figures of a generation ago, and which certainly did not account for a swing of 1,100,000 majority for Harding in New York in 1920 and of 300,000 for Smith in 1922. He believed the cause was mostly due to the advent of the popular primary, which he declared had practically destroyed the old meaning of Republican or Democrat. Party fealty has been lost and we are now running after the prima donnas. Political labels have ceased to have any meaning and the importance of a party reputation has been swept away.

The change has also affected the attitude of the newspapers in political campaigns and they have adopted a non-partisan, easy-going policy to fit the general attitude of the public. While Mr. O'Brien did not actually say it, it seemed plainly manifest that he believed the former methods of selecting party candidates by convention and the maintenance of party principles should be restored.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The new Civic Division Committee of the Chamber, recently created to have charge of planning and directing the civic activities of the Chamber, is to have its initial meeting within the coming week, upon some date most convenient to its members. This committee, which is virtually the board of directors of the civic division of the Chamber, promises to be one of the most active bodies of the Chamber organization. Various matters have been referred to the committee by the Mercantile and Building and Development divisions of the Chamber, which have been functioning effectively since early in the year, as well as by the directorate of the Chamber, it being the policy of the latter group to refer such matters of civic improvement as seem important to the Civic Division committee. The personnel of the Civic Committee includes Leon B. Rogers, First Vice-President of the Chamber, chairman; Philip Nichols of Newton, Albert P. Carter of Newtonville, William B. Baker of West Newton, Wickliffe J. Spaulding of Auburndale, William J. Doherty of Norantum, Judge E. B. Bishop of Newton Centre, Charles F. Johnson of Newton Highlands, Henry H. Wilder of Chestnut Hill, George V. Phipps of Waban, Oscar E. Nutter from Newton Upper Falls, and Bernard Early of Newton Lower Falls.

The membership increase of the Chamber was not as large as customary last week because of the holiday in the middle of the week, and various special activities occupying the attention of the Chamber organization. The week's total of new memberships was twenty, including thirteen civic memberships and seven business memberships. Of the former, six were from Newton Centre, two each from Newton Highlands and Newtonville, and one each from Auburndale, West Newton, and Waban. Of the business memberships, two each were received from West Newton, Auburndale, and Newtonville, and one from Newton. This increases the total membership of the Chamber to 1456.

Peals of laughter and much applause proclaimed the success of the magician who entertained the audience for one half hour. Immediately following the entertainment the groups of dances were given again out of doors for those who were not present at the entertainment and to make up in part for the absence of the merry-go-round.

Tea and dancing then proceeded until the end of the evening. The tennis tournaments that were run in connection with the Whirligig were won by Muriel McClelland of Newton Centre, ladies' singles; and Miss Avis Trowbridge and Mr. Abbott Gottshall in mixed doubles. The cup for the singles was presented by Miss Mabel Riley and the medals in the mixed doubles by Mrs. Louis Drake. Muriel McClelland triumphed over Miss Elinor Marsh in the singles 6-2, 6-0. Miss Trowbridge and Mr. Gottshall were winners over Miss McClelland and Mr. Turner by default, having defeated Miss Ratnor, Marsh and Wm. Foster in the semi-finals.

"On approaching an intersecting highway, corner or curve, where his view is obstructed, the driver of a motor-vehicle shall sound his horn and slow up enough to enable him to stop readily if necessary."

(The Veteran Motorist)

ONE afternoon last summer, I was looking out of a store window on the Post Road. A heavily loaded truck happened to be coming along. Maybe a hundred and fifty yards or so up a side street, a low-hung touring car pulled out of a yard and the driver hit it up for the Post Road as though he had to make a train in thirty seconds. Matter of fact, he was just taking 'the sweetest, dearest, etc.' out for an afternoon spin.

"The truck and sport car got to the corner at the same time. No horns, no slowing up. Then a last minute struggle to avoid colliding. I think one of them must have had a horse-shoe under his seat, for it was just about as close as I'd ever seen, or want to. As it was, one of the steering knuckles on the car was snapped in the shuffle

"Not a reason under the sun for it, just plain carelessness. And that's what causes three-fourths of all motoring accidents today. Take it from me, it pays to stick to the rules of the road nowadays—all of them—all the time."

PRIZES AWARDED

"War on War" Subject of High School Essays

On Wednesday morning in the Assembly Hall of the high school, interesting exercises accompanied the award of prizes to the six junior winners of the Essay Contest which began last March. After two piano solos by Mr. W. D. Strong, Mr. Bacon introduced Rev. J. Edgar Park, chairman of the Board of Judges, who spoke of the importance of young people today facing the actual facts of war, and learning through such reading as they had done in preparation for the Essays, why war is the greatest scourge of modern civilization.

Miss Mary Calkins, N. H. S. 1880, and Professor of Psychology at Wellesley then commended the efforts of both pupils and teachers who had worked to make the contest successful, and announced the following awards:

First Prize—Lawrence Peakes.
Second Prize—Anna Horton.
Third Prize—Vernon Lewis.
Honorable Mention—Grace Lee, Stuart Stone, and Helen Bonser.

This war on war essay contest was proposed and sponsored by Miss Calkins, who gave the first three prizes of fifteen, ten, and five dollars in gold. Through the generosity of friends of Miss Calkins and the school, books were donated to those who won Honorable mention, Grace Lee was given a copy of Norman Angell's "Fruits of Victory," Helen Bonser, received a copy of Wallace's "Social Progress and the Darwinian Theory," Stuart Stone, a copy of Norman Angell's "The Great Illusion."

The Ice Cream Booth with Janette Larned as chairman, was assisted by Henry Cate, Jr., Walter Sheafe, Morton Rae, and Douglas Pollack.

On Tuesday, June 12th, there will be a picnic for the members and families of the Red Bank Society at Norumbega Park.

SUCCESSFUL PRODUCTION

The Young Peoples' Forum of Union Church presented three one-act plays Saturday at the Neighborhood Club.

The first play, "Tickless Time," was a comedy, light, good fun. Annie, played by Eleanor Hosley imitatively, gave the real laugh of the evening through her efforts to cook by the sundial. In particular, her efforts to measure the seven minutes required to cook spaghetti, on the sundial, and to carry the time between her fingers back to the kitchen, was excruciating.

"Matinata," the second play, gave the old Columbine, Pierrot, Harlequin combination in a new setting. A modern kitchen in an extremely poor farm house served as bedroom, dining room and kitchen. Pierrot, as interpreted by Helen Andrews, was an admirable bit of amateur work, and was well met by Columbine, played by Virginia Reynolds. The philosophy and severe practicality of our modern Harlequin gave James Dow an opportunity to do himself proud.

"The Proposal," the third play, is a characteristic picture of Tschubokov's inflammable spirit, deep earnestness, and volatile thought. Elizabeth Parker played the difficult part of Natalia in splendid style, and her would-be fiancé found his natural nervousness before his planned proposal of marriage, relieved by the intensity of two silly quarrels. On this quarrel Tschubokov, the father of Natalia breaks in, and grasping Natalia and Ivan by the hands, joins them in marriage.

This play was the most difficult of the three plays for amateurs to handle and great credit is due them as well as the other casts for attempting something of a more serious dramatic and artistic nature than the usual type of play given by Sunday Schools. The community supported the Forum generously.

Special credit is due to James Willing who the last moment took the part of Tschubokov in addition to his part as Eddie Knight in "Tickless Time." The plays were coached by Mr. Nathan P. Arnold.

The cast included the following: William North, Faith Haddock, Nancy Kimball, J. W. Willing, Mabel Brooks, Eleanor Hosley, Virginia Reynolds, Helen Andrews, James Dow, J. W. Willing, Elizabeth Parker, Andrews Wynant.

Stage Managers, Norman Briggs, Dudley Rhodes; Business Manager, Mary Richards, Committee on Arrangements, Dorothy Gourley, chairman, Gladys Calloway, Norman Briggs, Emily Morse, Dudley Rhodes.

Last Saturday Miss Elizabeth L. Neal of Lynn was chosen Queen of the May by secret ballot and Miss Bonnie F. Orady of Durand, Wisconsin, was chosen lady of honor.

up for the march. The seniors in caps and gowns, and each wearing pink roses, came first in a double row. Then came the juniors, each girl carrying a white balloon with the class number on it. The sophomores carried gray and red balloons and the freshmen green balloons.

The girls, kneeling, formed two long lines, leading up to the throne. After then the secret, known only to those who had counted the ballots, was revealed as the senior president, Louise Puckett, led the queen out of Bancroft, with the vice-president, Anna Bullock, escorting the maid of honor, and Little Miss Priscilla Winslow and Master Earl Cummings bearing the crown and wreaths of flowers. Amid the applause of students and spectators the queen was escorted to her throne and crowned. Then each class, in turn, knelt before her and sang its song of greeting, the three under classes releasing their balloons as they finished.

After the children from the Woodland Park School, which is an adjunct of Lasell, wound a Maypole and gave other dances in which Lasell students took part, including an Irish dance, a valentine pantomime, a sailors' horpipe, a butterfly dance, barn dance and a King Tut dance. Here a group of girls in Egyptian costume bore in a mummy which they set upright, unwrapped, bestowed with life and then took into their circle.

The fete was viewed by a large gathering, including a number of the alumni.

MISS LEWINTHAL'S AND MISS MARCY'S SCHOOL

The closing exercises of Miss Lewinthal's and Miss Marcy's School took the form this year of a garden party with plays on the beautiful grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Gifford Le Clear of Waban. The party opened with a procession from the lowest part of the garden through the various terraces, to the spot where the charming May Queen, Margaret Lennox, was crowned and watched from her flower decked throne the Maypole dance.

The pages were Masters Victor Cutler and Gordon Harriman. Miriam Day from Newtonville led the procession carrying the crown of flowers on a white satin cushion. The dance given by the pupils of the school in their gay muslin dresses made a delightful play.

On the second terrace under a group of white birches was given a French version of La Fontaine's fable "La Cigale et la Fourmi." The Prologue was recited by Alice Cushman, the fable itself by Eleanor Haley, and the little play that followed was given in an enchanting manner by Doris Bryant and Barbara Thrall. The guests found it difficult to believe that these children who spoke their French parts so easily had begun the study of that language only this year. The next play, a scene from "Alice in Wonderland," given by Frances Adcox, Lillian Cushman, Margaret Lennox, Betty Scates around gales of laughter and great applause. The principal part of the afternoon's program was a musical setting of "Robin Hood" with the following cast: Elinor O. Hood, Margaret Le Clear; King Richard, Phebe Alden; Friar Tuck, Eleanor Haley; Allan-a-Dale, Augusta Hallett; Little John, Alice Cushman; Will Scarlet, Lillian Cushman; Blind Beggar, Betty Scates; Deaf Beggar, Barbara Thrall; Maid Marion, Doris Bryant; Dame Dale, Margaret Lennox; her daughter, Frances Adams, attendants of King Richard.

Franco Montanari of Newton will be accepted for entrance to Harvard College without examination under the new ruling which exempts those candidates whose class records for four years have been approved and whose scholarship average for the last two years of their course has been in the upper 7th of the class.

Stearns School Centre

Thirty-three little Brownies from Stearns School left in automobiles last Monday for a real Brownie meeting in a fairy land at Camp Mary Day, Natick. With sandwiches provided by the faithful sixers and other real picnic surprises, it was an all around outing for the Brownies. The little tots were quick to catch the spirit of the woods by impersonating for their opening meeting the birds that they had heard and then came the games and the supper while they formed a pow-wow ring in front of the lake.

Eighteen Girl Scouts from the Stearns School Centre joined the other Girl Scouts at Camp Mary Day on Tuesday, June 6, 1923. The Nonantum Scouts were awarded merit badges in dancing and cooking.

Katherine Doucette was awarded merit badges in dancing and cooking.

of the Board of Aldermen last Monday night was unanimously accepted in behalf of the City of Newton. It will be conveyed subject to suitable restrictions that it will be permanently used for park purpose only and without buildings.

The name of the park is to be Chaffin Park, in memory of two of Newton's honored citizens who formerly lived on and near this site. The corner estate was the home for many years of Mr. Edwin Chaffin and the estate in the rear, fronting on Vernon Street, and lying between this park and Farlow Park, was the home of Mr. John C. Chaffin for many years and now the home of his daughter, Mrs. John P. R. Sherman. Under the terms of Mr. Chaffin's will this property will ultimately come to the City of Newton. It is hoped that this area will at that time be added to Chaffin Park, making a continuous park comprising the entire block bounded by Centre Street, Vernon Street, Eldridge Street, and Church Street, except the site occupied by Eliot Church. As Newton develops into a greater City, these park areas will become a great asset to the City as open areas preserved and beautiful for all time.

JUNE—

"The Wonder Month of the Year"

What Does It Mean To You?

Does it mean the seashore in a pair of white canvas watching the clouds drift idly across the horizon or bathing in the foaming surf in a pair of bright hued bathing pumps? Or does it mean the woods and hills and the call of the great outdoors? A morning hike through the country in a pair of comfortable moccasins to view the wonders of the new season. Or maybe it means graduation and diploma in hand facing the world in a pair of conservative oxfords. But whatever it means to you we have the footwear appropriate for the occasion.

Don't Abuse Your Eyes

When we realize the relation of good vision to health and happiness, it is hard to understand why so many people neglect their eyes until they are permanently injured.

Statistics show that seven out of every ten Americans have enough eyestrain to warrant the wearing of glasses. In the first draft of American soldiers in 1917, bad sight caused nearly three times as many rejections as any other physical defect.

The best eye in the world can easily be made the reverse by persistent strain and abuse. If you need glasses—wear them. It's the most sensible thing you can do.

Glasses worn in early youth often obviate their necessity in later years.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

Unusually Large Audience Grooms Paul Stark
Seeley, C. S. B., at Community Theatre

The new Community Theatre was filled with a large audience from the Newtons, Waltham and Watertown on Sunday afternoon, closely following a lecture on Christian Science by one of its authorized exponents. The lecturer was introduced by Mr. Edward H. Keach of Newton in these words:

On behalf of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton, we welcome you here this afternoon to hear a lecture on Christian Science.

We are grateful to the management of this theatre that we were privileged to invite you to this beautiful and commodious auditorium for such a purpose.

These lectures were established by Mrs. Eddy some years ago, for the purpose of correcting adverse criticism and for educating the people as to the real purpose and mission of Christian Science.

Those of us who have been looking into Christian Science for a quarter of a century or more have no hesitancy in accepting its teachings as of unceasing benefit to humanity.

In his defense before King Agrippa, Paul said: "Why should it be thought a thing incredible with us, that God should raise the dead?" So we may say today, why should it be thought a thing incredible with us, that God should heal the sick? The same power of God that was here and healed more than nineteen hundred years ago, is today, to heal, to save, and to bless mankind.

The gentleman who will speak to you is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, and because of his years of experience as a Practitioner, a teacher and a lecturer will have something of worth-while interest to say to you on this subject.

He, therefore, take great pleasure in introducing to you Mr. Paul Stark Seeley, C. S. B., of Portland, Oregon, who will now address you. Mr. Seeley spoke as follows:

The Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, has written on page 428 of Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures the textbook of Christian Science, this important statement: "We must realize the ability of mental might to offset human misconceptions and to replace them with the life which is spiritual, not material." Christian Science shows men how to utilize mental might, or the power of God to destroy sin, heal disease, and understand eternal life. Its message is therefore a healing and a loving message. It comes to tell of the goodness and love of God and to show how you and I may immediately benefit therefrom.

I am going to begin the lecture by telling you of a healing which recently came to my attention, a healing which is a fair example of what is taking place wherever Christian Science is studied and faithfully applied. A lady living in Indiana began to have difficulty with her lungs in 1917. Her condition became steadily worse until in the fall of 1918 she was compelled to give up her home duties and enter a sanitarium, where she was placed in the tubercular ward. She continued to have medical attention until late in 1919, all the physicians who diagnosed her difficulty agreeing that she had tuberculosis. In the advanced stage. They declared she had no more than a year to live. In the spring of 1920 she went to Utah hoping that the climate would benefit her. She was confined to her bed and could make no exertion without its bringing on severe hemorrhages. While in this condition a neighbor left with her a copy of Science and Health, explaining briefly the fundamental principles of Christian Science. For a few days the book remained unopened. She had little faith that anything could cure her. The lady asked her husband if he believed the book would help her. He said he knew nothing about it, but that Christ Jesus had healed without drugs many years ago. She began to read and ponder this little book. Her strength returned with what seemed a quickness and within less than a week she was able to leave her bed and resume her household duties. Within a month every symptom of the disease had disappeared, never to reappear. This lady very recently submitted to a severe medical examination and no trace of the disease was to be found.

In bringing this healing to your attention, I would emphasize the point that a disease regarded as a most serious malady was completely healed through the change of thought brought about in the patient's consciousness by the reading of Science and Health. This fact naturally leads the inquirer to ask, What was the nature of the change? What does this textbook of Christian Science teach that so powerfully affects the thought and condition of men? In the short time we are to be together I shall endeavor to answer, in some measure, these questions.

God Is Very Near

Where do we find God? Right where Elijah did, in the still small voice deep down in our hearts. It is here that right desire speaks, it is here that we feel the prompting of Truth and Love, the guiding hand of God, that would turn us from evil and hate, from sin and disease, would we but listen and obey. It is right here, unsearched and unheard by the world, that the mortal selfhood, pride, fear and all wrong-mindedness must be placed on the altar of sacrifice. Our relation to God is discerned when we see with Paul that it is God who worketh in us, that governs our thinking, "to will and to do of His good pleasure." (Phil. 2, 13). Surely the activity of the Mind that is God is more apparent than ever before in the consciousness of men and nations. What but this Mind could league together more than two score nations in co-operative endeavor for the world's good, bring about the Washington Conference with its far-reaching results, and establish an international court of justice where the disputes of nations may be settled and international law be brought more into accord with the universal law of God.

The story is told of a street urchin who one day noticed an aged woman tending an apple cart on the street corner. An evil thought whispered to him, "You can steal an apple without being caught," and he did so. The next day he passed that way again and again an evil thought said, "You did not get caught yesterday, steal another apple today," but another voice said, "What you did yesterday was not right. Do not do it again. He listened to this voice and went his way. The third day he came that way and when he saw the aged apple woman a thought of kindness came into his heart and the still small voice, unheard by the world said, "Why not do something that will help her today?" He listened and was glad to obey. When evening came, he wheeled her apple cart to her humble home, and his boyish heart was filled with joy for he had done an unselfish act and listened to the voice of God. Our Father-Mother God is just as near to every one of us. How clearly the parent Mind tells us of the nearness of Christ, Truth in the inspired words of John: "Behold I stand at the door and knock: if any man hear my voice and open the door, I will come in to him and will sup with him, and he with me." (Rev. 3, 20).

Individual Responsibility

What you and I and our brothers think goes to make up the consciousness of the world. How important then, not only for our own but for the general good, that we have a right sense of individual responsibility. Each one of us is responsible to God. The one fundamental obligation which man owes is to his God, to express God's thoughts. In every circumstance, transaction and relationship this obligation is present. To be indifferent to it is to turn our back on God and invite the tyranny of evil.

The Nature of Evil

When talking with a group of his countrymen in Jerusalem one morning some two thousand years ago, Christ Jesus drew a very definite line between the devil and God. He told them bluntly, "Ye are of your father the devil." He was desiring to awaken them to their wrong state of mind which was filled with thoughts of pride, self-righteousness, selfishness and so on. They had been boasting that God was their father, but Jesus contradicted them with the statement, "If God were your father, ye would love me." (John VIII, 42). In other words, if you were expressing the Mind that is God you would see and love the good which I express. The word Father, so often used by Jesus, is another name for God, the parent Mind. He opponents were accepting evil as the source of their thinking, so accepting the devil as their father, or starting point, for there is no devil, but evil mentality—the carnal mind. Then Jesus went on to explain to them that the devil or evil does not abide in the truth for to use his own words—"he is a liar, and the father of it." (John 8, 44). Here is an uncovering of the nature of evil, a false state of mind with no more substance than a lie, for it is nothing but a lie or liar.

Jesus, however, never said that they could not be rid of this wrong-mindedness. Just the opposite, for he said, "If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." (John 8, 31-32). This word was his correct teaching and thinking, thinking not merely about God, but accepting God's thoughts. To continue in the word which Jesus used, in the same mental processes that Jesus used, accepting no Father, but divine Mind and ever entertaining the thoughts which manifest this Mind. As all men come to think only the thoughts which are good we shall all be witnesses and ambassadors of God, to use the words of Paul, and evil will be cast into its utter nothingness. There is but one way to destroy a lie, be it small or great, and that is to tell the truth. Jesus affirmed this when he designated evil a lie and said the way to be free from it is to understand the truth of being.

Mortal Self Not the True

We all need to let go of the mistaken sense that man is but a few pounds of flesh, blood, and bones with a mental motor inside. He is something far more substantial and Godlike than that. When we look into a mirror we believe we see ourself, but we do not, and how fortunate it is that the picture we see is not our true self. Said Bishop Foster, "No man living hath yet seen man." What we see in the looking glass is but the mortal or wrong sense of selfhood, a burlesque of our eternal self. This perishable sense of self is gradually abandoned, as Jesus showed us, through the realization of the actuality of spiritual life and spiritual manhood, the expression of God.

It is here that right desire speaks, it is here that we feel the prompting of Truth and Love, the guiding hand of God, that would turn us from evil and hate, from sin and disease, would we but listen and obey. It is right here, unsearched and unheard by the world, that the mortal selfhood, pride, fear and all wrong-mindedness must be placed on the altar of sacrifice. Our relation to God is discerned when we see with Paul that it is God who worketh in us, that governs our thinking, "to will and to do of His good pleasure." (Phil. 2, 13). Surely the activity of the Mind that is God is more apparent than ever before in the consciousness of men and nations. What but this Mind could league together more than two score nations in co-operative endeavor for the world's good, bring about the Washington Conference with its far-reaching results, and establish an international court of justice where the disputes of nations may be settled and international law be brought more into accord with the universal law of God.

not only for our own but for the general good, that we have a right sense of individual responsibility. Each one of us is responsible to God. The one fundamental obligation which man owes is to his God, to express God's thoughts. In every circumstance, transaction and relationship this obligation is present. To be indifferent to it is to turn our back on God and invite the tyranny of evil.

Suppose the number five in mathematics could say, "Oh, I am just one little number, I do not amount to much. I'll just stop filling my place for a time." The whole order of mathematics would then be upset. Or suppose the carburetor in an automobile could say, "I am just a little thing hidden away under the hood. Not many see me. I will stop working for a week." The automobile would then be useless. As each of these men has a place to fill, so each individual man has his place to fill in God's universal plan. Our responsibility is to be what Paul termed "the children of light," letting our thoughts and words manifest the light which is Mind, or God.

The owner of a radio telephone receiving apparatus may by a slight movement of a knob, adjust his receiver so as to receive the messages from the sending station whose messages he considers most beneficial to him. So in the realm of thought the individual may quickly adjust his thinking (his receiving apparatus, if you will) to receive the good thoughts which God is always sending to man. When all listen only to the thought messages of God and never listen to the messages of evil, sin, sickness, and fear will be without a place, and the kingdom of heaven will be found within our own thinking.

Where To Begin

Someone may ask, "Just how am I to begin to think the thoughts of God?" This is the same question that was asked by those who heard the words of John the Baptist. They asked, "What shall we do then?" (Luke 3, 10). And let us learn from John's answer, "He that hath two coats, let him impart to him that hath none, and he that hath meat, let him do likewise." In other words let those who wish to begin thinking aright begin right where they are to show a spirit of love and consideration for their brother and share with him whatever good he has come to them. Then as the Bible story continues, some publicans, the officials who collected the taxes, came to John and asked what they should do, and the wise answer was, "Exact no more than that which is appointed you."

In other words be just and honest with your brother in all your dealings with him. Then some soldiers came with the same question and they were told to do no violence, to accuse none falsely and be content with what they had. Thus they were to begin by being servants of peace, not fomenters of strife and were to be grateful for the good that had come to them. So each one of us, no matter what our place or occupation, no matter how hard our way may seem to be, may begin right where we are to think aright. There is no other place to start from.

The Power of Prayer

But how, says one, do you master the persistent suggestions of sin and sickness which sometimes press themselves on your thought? By the power of right thinking. Prayer is a mental activity which the world has engaged in for many centuries, but in too many instances it has been used as a cloak to cover a wicked heart or as a blind petition to a little understood God. Christian Science shows that true prayer is the process of scientific thinking, the thinking that unites men with and is the living expression of the mind that is God. To a Christian Scientist prayer is a most vital and active influence ever operative in thought, the chain of true spirituality which links him to his Maker.

Through prayer man gains his God-given dominion over evil. Let us first see what it is that evil falsely claims and then see how the Christian Scientist mentally combats and overthrows it. The claim might be phrased in some such way as this, I, the evil mind working with and through matter, am the cause and origin of man. Through my material processes and laws I conceive him and give him life. Upon me he is dependent for all that he has or is. I order his destiny, cause him to succeed and then to fail, to be healthy and then diseased, to be happy and then sorrowful, to be rich and then poor, to be tempted, to sin, and to die. To me and the fear of me, he is ever tributary. I rule him by suggestion and lying arguments which I have made him too blind to uncover and resist. He is my puppet and mankind, moved at my will. I puff him up with pride and turn him from God with selfishness and self-will. Though my power is nil, I pretend to have all power and he believes my pretension. Myself and my works are the blending of falsity and negation, but so long as man believes in me I work, when he awakes to my nature I am done.

Christian Science replies to this lying mind in the words of Truth and with the authority of God. You are a pretender, a liar and a cheat. Without authority from God you claim to have creative power, power to give and take away life, to make and to destroy. But the one sure thing about you is that you lie always. There is no truth in you and you have no ability to substitute your lying claims for the truth. You are without God and so without life or reality. Man's true selfhood is the expression of God and you are powerless to dispossess God of his representative. By your unreal nature you place yourself outside God's infinitude, and consign you and your obdurate, your sickness, your malice, and strifes must flee as false dream pictures before the light and might of God's love expressed in the thought of men. You are impotent to reach anything that God has made. You simulate life and action, but you do not possess or have power over either, for life and action belong to God and are spiritual. You hate or lust upon your own, you prey upon your own misconceptions, but you have no eye to see the creation or the creatures of God. You are of yourself, by yourself, to yourself, a lie.

LAND OF BEAUTY AND RICHES

Arctic Alaska Well Worth a Visit by the Tourist Tired of Ordinary Travel.

Great, wind-swept tundras. Far away in lonely grandeur, sharp peaks of snow-crowned mountains. Silent lakes among the hills.

Partridge flying like snow, drifting clouds. Fox and hare with soundless steps among the bushes. Reindeer browsing on silver-gray moss. Fish darting like shadows in the streams. Squat figures of solitary Eskimos against the sky line. The throb of surf upon a desolate beach.

Flowers like jewels among the grasses. Soft, green mosses starred with tiniest blossoms. Glowing red vines clinging closely to Mother Earth. Blue berries hanging fairy bells on low bushes. Wild cranberries scattering red beauty for bird and beast. Tawny grasses and whispering willows waving in the wind. A tapestry of rich color in wild solitude. A flaunting of delicate perfume on soundless air.

Gleam of gold, soft tint of copper, sparkle of silver, dull thread of lead, glint of tin, glow of garnet—the bosom of Mother Earth bursting with riches.

Lovely, remote, unknown, an empire, superb in tundra and towering mountain, tonic in purity of crystal clear air, royal in wealth of exhaustless possessions.—Christian Science Monitor.

BROUGHT BIG MAN TO TIME

Showing That Spirit Can Be Triumphant Over Bully With Only Beef and Muscle.

A Big Man tried to bully a Little Man. The Big Man was a coward, of course, because he depended upon his physical superiority to back his policy. The Little Man, being a Man, what there was of him, spoke to the Big Man, as follows:

"You great big cowardly beef! You think you're a Man, but you're just a beast with clothes on. You haven't got as much manhood as a baby horse. If you weren't twice as big as I am, you wouldn't take a chance, because your heart is afraid, and you're a coward, and a liar, and a bun. Now, you're going to take it back and apologize or I'm going to tell you a lot more of what I think about you. Then I'm going to drive my fist into your face, if I can get up high enough to reach it. And I'm going to take a licking if I have to, but I'm going to be a bigger man than you are, with both eyes closed and three ribs gone! And if I can't lick you today, I'm going to try again tomorrow, and I'm going to keep on coming back until I've equalized your beef with my brain. Got it?"

The Big Man apologized.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Had to Whistle.

"Since prohibition went into effect churches have been having difficulty in obtaining wine for sacramental purposes, and a little negro church in the South was no exception," says Thomas R. Marshall, former vice president. "The pastor finally, after going the rounds, called on some of the sisters of the church to make some wine which could be used."

"One old negro woman said she would provide the wine, but when she went to find something to make the wine out of the only thing she could find was persimmons. So she made persimmon wine."

"Everything went all right at the church the day of the services and all the brothers and sisters partook of persimmon wine. The only trouble was that when it came to the doxology everybody had to whistle."—Chicago Daily Journal.

Remembered His Orders.

Heffy, as the boys affectionately called him, was an editor who was always anxious to give credit where credit was due. He urged every man who did any clipping to give full credit to the author and the publication as well.

He would often say: "Never forget to give credit for the article, my boy."

And so he could not help feeling gratified one morning to see that a new exchange man had reprinted a beautiful sonnet.

The credit line read: "William Shakespeare in the Plunkerville Gazette."

Could Take It as He Pleased.

The irate customer shook his portrait in the photographer's face.

"Do I look like this picture?" The thing's an outrage! Why, you've given me an awful squint and the look of a prize-fighting bully. Now, answer me, and no nonsense about it! Do you call that a good likeness?"

The photographer scanned the print, then looked at the customer. "The answer," he said, "is in the negative."

And the customer went away with a look of deep thought on his face.

Time's Changes.

The hired man was tinkering around the farmyard. The patent churn man gave him a cheap cigar and asked him how things were coming along.

"Different times," growled the hired man, "different times."

"What's the trouble?" asked the churn agent.

"I used to enjoy giving an apple to a horse."

"And now?"

"Well, I suppose the tractor is glad to see the oil can, but it never whistles with joy."

posed station unnecessary." Mr. Newton asserted that if the Colonial Filling Station should be built on the avenue at this point, not only would the immediate neighborhood suffer, but that the south side of the avenue for a long distance would be spoiled as a desirable residential section. To allow a large filling station on such a dangerous curve, would be trafficking in human lives.

Mr. Henry B. Day who served in the Board years ago, reminded the Aldermen that when Commonwealth avenue was built 30 years since that several residents of West Newton Hill, including himself, had presented to the city a strip of land reaching from Prince to Temple street, and from 90 to 100 feet in width. This land was given with the understanding that Commonwealth avenue was to develop into a high class residential section. Any land along the avenue, sold by Mr. Day and his colleagues had been restricted to lots of 30,000 feet or more, and to expensive residences. As a result of these precautions Commonwealth avenue land had increased in value since 1893 from 1 cent to an average of 10 cents per foot, and has become a credit to the city of Newton.

Mr. Day urged the Aldermen to repeal such attempts to nullify the Zoning Ordinance.

Mr. John M. Delano of Prince street said that the Colonial Company is now erecting a station on Beacon street, Newton Centre. That if the other oil companies were to become equally assiduous in building filling stations in this city, Newton would be known in the future as the City of Filling Stations.

Mr. P. S. Edggett of 283 Prince Street, told the Board that last Sunday he had kept count of the autos passing the corner of Fuller street and Commonwealth avenue, and that 357 cars had gone by in 13 minutes. He thought the corner one of the most dangerous on the boulevard, and asked "What would happen if cars would attempt to cross into the filling station such a tremendous amount of traffic?"

Mr. H. J. Robertson, who lives across the street from the filling station site, said that he had been kept awake nights by autos stopping at the small station now there. If a large station would be erected, he feared the neighborhood would be deprived of their sleep to a much greater extent.

Letter of protest was read from Mr. Henry Whitmore, Chairman of the Planning Board, in behalf of the West Newton Men's Club.

Mr. Hubbard in rebuttal emphasized that the Colonial Filling Stations, Inc. were entitled to receive a permit to build inasmuch as they had paid a large sum for the land, had delayed building because they wanted to perfect plans for a more attractive structure, and had they gone ahead on their original plans, could have erected a station despite the Zoning Law. He promised the lights around the station would be extinguished at 10 o'clock or earlier. He told the objectors "that if they were on the other side of the fence, they would have quite a different view on the matter."

He asked the opposition "if it would not prefer a handsome building such as his concern would build, on this corner, rather than the old shed now there?" A strong No was the answer. Mr. Hubbard alluded to one of his stations in a residential district of Brookline which has met with the approval of owners of large estates near it.

Alderman Ross asked Mr. Hubbard "if he was not aware when the land was purchased, that it was located in a private residence zone, according to the maps of the Planning Board?" Mr. Hubbard finally admitted that he had seen a map showing the land to be in a residence zone. The Alderman then accused the Colonial Company of trying to evade the Zoning Ordinance.

Richard Ott, formerly of Philadelphia told of searching all around Boston to find some place comparable to the suburbs of his native city. West Newton Hill was the only district meeting his desire. Mr. Ott remarked "that if any petition was presented in Philadelphia to intrude a filling station into a high class residential district, it would not even be accorded a hearing."

The hearing was concluded after Mr. Mehigan denying that any noise emanated at night from his filling station, alleged that some of his neighbors were quite noisy even into the late hours of the night.

Charles Hammond, who lives on Crafts street, Waltham, on the Newton line, asked permission to build a three car garage, one of the stalls to be in Waltham. He was strongly opposed by Mr. Walters, also of Waltham, who represented other abutters in that section.

Louis Liggett and Henry Stuart asked for Manet road to be laid out. Mr. John T. Burns did not oppose the laying out of the road, but objected to a setback of 25 feet. Mr. Burns owns a lot on the street 60 feet deep and a 25 foot setback would prevent an house being built on his lot.

The failure of the Finance Committee to recommend money for the widening of Auburn street between Greenough street and Commonwealth avenue brought a protest from Alderman Ross. Alderman Young effected a compromise when under a suspension of the rules, he prevailed upon the Board to agree to the widening of Auburn street within the near future by securing an appropriation of $730 for land necessary to widen the street.

The following appropriations were made:—$10,000 to widen Beacon street between Irvington and Washington streets; $9106 to equip the new Davis School; $3500 to grade the grounds of the F. A. Day School; $1300 to remove the tower from the old Congregational Church, West Newton; $700 to grade the grounds of the Fire Station at Auburndale; $1074 for a sidewalk on Washington street between Centre place and Richardson street; $150 to increase the salary of the assistant Inspector of Plumbing.

A communication was received from D. D. Towle and William F. Bacon tendering to the city land situated at the corner of Vernon and Centre streets, known as Chaffin Park.

The taxes on this land for this and subsequent years to be eliminated. Alderman Young moved a suspension of the rules, and that the offer be accepted with thanks. His motion was passed. Alderman Pitts lauded L. D. Towle, James E. Clark, H. A. Wilder, Oliver M. Fisher and the 30 others who had so generously contributed this handsome gift to Newton. He stated "that the plot contains around 36,000 feet, and has cost the donors over 90 cents per foot. It is the intention later on to also give to the city the Sherman estate on Vernon street. When this property is added to Chaffin Park, the whole square bounded by Centre, Vernon, Church and Eldridge streets, with the exception of the land occupied by the Elliot Church, will constitute a beautiful park area."

A communication was received from Chief of Police Burke, asking for the removal of Patrolman Hoyt. The Chief charges Hoyt with violation of the rules of the Department, and with conduct unbecoming an officer. His communication was referred to the Committee on Claims and Rules.

The committee on Franchises and Licenses recommended leave to withdraw on the following petitions: Emergency Auto Repair Co., gasoline permit, 387 Auburn St., Wd. 4; Frank R. Miller, 4-car garage, Irving St., Wd. 6; M. Shain, dealer in second-hand articles; W. J. Cozens, gasoline permit, Elliot and Boylston Sts., Wd. 5; John Potter, garage, 9 Westbourne Rd., Wd. 6; Bartolo Iacono, common victualer, 400 Centre St., Wd. 7; Standard Oil Company, gasoline permit, Boylston and Centre Sts., Wd. 5; Solomon Ruben, junk collector's license; Alice C. Guiney, garage permit, 2008 Beacon St., Wd. 5.

The following petitions were granted:—

Catherine Murphy, garage permit, 24 Lexington St., Wd. 9, 2 cars; Apartment Sales Corporation, garage permit, Central Close and Central Ter., Wd. 4; Joseph Bianchi, 65 Border St., Wd. 3, garage permit with conditions; Newell H. Trask, garage permit, Harvard Circle, Wd. 2, with conditions; Julia N. Hollingsworth, 4-car garage, 314 Newtonville Ave., Wd. 2; J. B. Turad, 10-car garage, 11 Court St., Wd. 2.

The matter of the discontinuance of the building line on Auburn street and the establishing of a new line on Washington street near the Monaghan property, received another setback when it was again referred back to the committee.

The application of the Edison Company for pole locations on Waban and Thornton streets was referred back to Committee for the second time.

At 10.45 the Board voted to adjourn until June 25th.

NEWTON THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

The degree of bachelor of divinity was awarded Wednesday to nineteen seniors at the graduating exercises of the Newton Theological Institution held in the Baptist Meeting House at Newton Centre. Four advanced degrees and one diploma of graduation were also conferred.

Following prayer by Rev. Charles N. Arbutuckle, D. D., of the faculty, these essays were read by seniors: "A Quaker Prophet," John W. Brush; "The Gospel for the New Age," Frank B. Fagerburg; "The Message of the Soldier Poets," Clarence B. Lumsden; "Unselfish Conquest," William H. Rafferty; "The Religious Educator as a Soul Saver," Charles L. Seasholes; "The Churches and the Unchurched," Luther W. Smith. Following the awarding of diplomas by the president, Rev. George Edwin Horr, D. D., an address to the class was made by Professor Edmund Neill.

Newton Council. Mr. Kelso called attention to the different stages through which warfare work had gone, namely, the almsgiving stage, the case work stage, and the present stage which he characterized as the functional interrelationship stage or the co-ordination stage. He called attention to the necessity of thinking and seeing together before acting together. Social work, according to the speaker, is one of the most difficult of all phases of work in American life to day. It takes intelligence, not the intelligence of one but of all. Many of its most valuable results are intangible. In concluding, he made a plea for helping the new secretary.

Mr. Arthur Dunham was then introduced. Mr. Dunham expressed his appreciation of the reception which he had received in Newton, and congratulated the city upon the feeling of solidarity which already exists.

He told of the background of a modern Community Council, of different types of social and health work, and gave some characteristics of modern social and health work. The object of social work, he said, was to make it possible for the individual to have a well rounded life, a "life of the fullest self expression."

He then went on to define the nature of a Community Council as follows: It is not a new, separate agency, but it is the collective expression of existing agencies; it is not a dictator, but the servant of the different agencies. It does not interfere with the internal problems or administration of any agency, but it does provide a natural, informal method of getting together to consider common problems. It is not a formula for solving social problems. It is a reasonable method of approach.

In regard to the program of a Community Council, such a council may render certain obvious services such as co-operative buying, office, a social service exchange, a directory, etc.

The most essential service, however, is the getting together to study the facts, and the planning of programs on the basis of these facts. All agencies should feel free to call upon the council for advice if needed.

Local conditions must determine what the program of the Newton Council will be. The success of such a council will depend upon the will to work together, group thinking, and practical, everyday teamwork.

The following organizations were represented at the meeting: City Government, Mayor Childs; President of the Board of Aldermen, Mr. Arthur Hollis; City Playground Commission, Mr. Brewer; City Clerk, Mr. Grant; City Physician, Dr. Lower; City Charity Department, Mr. McCourt; Newton Y. M. C. A., West Newton Music School; Saco Lowell Shops; West Newton Neighborhood House; Chamber of Commerce; Stearns School Centre; Americanization work; Newton Hospital; Red Cross; Welfare Bureau, West Newton Men's Club; Social Service Department of the Women's Federation; District Nursing Association; Girl and Boy Scouts; and the Improvement Associations of Newton Centre, Newtonville, and Newton.

NEWTON STORES LINING UP

For Uniform Closing on Wednesday Afternoons During the Summer

That the merchants of all sections of Newton are strongly in favor of the plan of the Mercantile Committee of the Newton Chamber of Commerce to bring about a uniform summer half-holiday for the stores of the city during the warm weather period is becoming more and more evident as they are being canvassed by representatives of the Chamber.

The process of reaching all retail stores in the several Newtons is necessarily a slow one but it is hoped that all may be interviewed in due time. It was not the hope of the Mercantile Committee that all of the stores could be lined up with the plan during the first season but present indications are that the proportion will be unusually large, nearly all in fact, and that a majority of the merchants are merely awaiting an invitation to cooperate in the plan, and in making it effective.

The movement is gathering momentum daily and many are not waiting to be approached by the Chamber but are voluntarily offering their cooperation and expressing their sympathy and desire to be listed up with those who are to adopt the Chamber schedule.

That Newton storekeepers have long been desirous of enjoying the same benefits of a uniform closing day as are possible in other cities has long been recognized. Previous efforts to bring this about without systematic effort or supervision have been only partially successful, but the development of the Mercantile Division of the Chamber has also developed a broader viewpoint and a new "live and let live" spirit which promises to make possible many things which have not been feasible or proven successful in the past. The difficulty of previous seasons has apparently been chiefly an inability to get together, which condition is being overcome this year in a manner that is proving gratifying to both the local business interests and the public.

While the situation in regard to the uniform closing schedule has been canvassed to some extent in several of the villages, the canvass is so far practically complete in but two of them. These are Newton and Auburndale. In both of these villages the response is practically one hundred per cent, extending to even the shoe shining parlors and fruit stores. Nearly everyone approached has signed a written agreement, upon the request of the committee, and it is felt that sufficient assurance of their desire and intent to do everything possible to make the half-holiday closing a complete success.

At Newton Corner even the druggists have become imbued with a desire to help make the plan a success and all but one have agreed to the closing plan, the action of the others necessarily hinging upon the decision of this one store. It is not expected as yet that the druggists throughout the city will close their stores with the merchants in other lines of business, nor is it assured that those at Newton Corner will do so. The Chamber committee has no objection, however, and will endeavor to bring it about if it develops that a majority of them favor it.

Some progress has already been made in ascertaining the sentiment of the merchants of Newtonville, West Newton, Nonantum, and Newton Highlands, and the Mercantile Committee will give its attention to completing

REV. DR. ROSS RESIGNS

—Rev. Charles R. Ross of the Methodist Church has accepted a call to the Methodist Church at Yonkers, N. Y., one of the largest churches in the vicinity of New York. Mr. Ross has been five years in Newtonville. In recognition of his services here the members of his parish tendered Dr. and Mrs. Ross a reception on Tuesday evening. Mrs. W. H. Timble on behalf of the ladies of the church presented Mrs. Ross with a platinum bracelet set with diamonds, and Mr. W. T. Rich presented Mr. Ross with a gold Waltham watch suitably inscribed. Mr. George W. Taylor and Dr. E. E. Davidson also expressed the deep affection with which Dr. and Mrs. Ross have been regarded while in Newton, and the regret of their parishioners at losing them.

Lasell

The Commencement exercises of Lasell Seminary were held in the Auburndale Congregational Church on Tuesday. The exercises were simple in character. Following the procession there was a prayer by the Rev. Samuel H. Woodrow, D. D. of Newton Highlands, an address to the class by Rev. Ernest Graham Guthrie of Boston, and the presentation of diplomas by Dr. Guy M. Winslow, principal of the school.

There were only two graduates from the Newtons: Ruth Hills of Newton Highlands, and Adrienne E. Smith of Auburndale.

STREET RAILWAY STRIKE PENDING

Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Co. Appeal to Courts for Injunction

Pitt F. Drew, president of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Co., and James H. Vahey, attorney for the Amalgamated Association of Street and Railway Employees of America stated the facts of the dispute between the company and the union over the discharge of William Rouse, a motorman, last October, Wednesday afternoon in the Aldermanic chambers of the Newton City Hall before the Mayors of Waltham and Newton and the Selectmen of Wellesley, Natick, Framingham, Watertown, Lexington, and Belmont.

The meeting was called by Mayor Edwin O. Childs of Newton in the hope that the strike set for Friday, June 15, might be averted.

Mr. Vahey told the union's side of the case and Mr. Drew explained the stand of the company. On Oct. 5, a one-man car, operated by William Rouse, was in a collision with another car at the corner of Washington street and Commonwealth avenue, West Newton, on a turnout. Rouse was discharged, Mr. Drew explained, because of a rule which states that in a collision in which a car strikes the rear end of another car, the motorman involved is to be discharged. The rule was made in 1913 and forbids a motorman from coming closer than 500 feet to another car when traveling at speed on the same track, and forbids him to come closer than two car lengths when the cars are stopped, except at terminals.

The carmen claim that Rouse was not broken in properly as a motorman, that he had always been a conductor, which the accident occurred and that it was not a rear-end collision, but a sideswipe where the end of a car protruded across another track on a turnout or switch.

The carmen seek to have Rouse reinstated as a conductor. Mr. Drew refuses to arbitrate the penalty for the collision, but is willing to arbitrate as to the responsibility for the accident. Mr. Drew stated that he did not consider the affair a matter for arbitration, but a matter of rules and discipline between the company and the man. He said that when the matter was brought before the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration it was referred to Attorney General Allen, in whose opinion the matter was for an equity court to decide and not an arbitration board.

Mr. Drew announced that he had filed a bill in equity in the Supreme Court and that on Thursday morning the union officials would appear in that court. Mr. Drew seeks to enjoin the men from striking, on the ground that the company should not arbitrate as to the penalty imposed for such accidents.

Mr. Vahey claimed that he had statements from the three passengers riding in the car at the time, exonerating Rouse of all blame, and he also said the expense to the company of the accident did not amount to more than $10.

Following the arguments, which were quite heated at times and replete with interruptions, Mayor Childs asked the gathering for its sentiment. A number of questions were asked of Mr. Drew and Mr. Vahey. Mr. Drew absolutely refused to consider arbitration, saying, "I am not willing to leave this question to any individual." Mr. Vahey asked Mayor Childs to act as arbitrator there and then after hearing the merits of the case, but Mayor Childs decided to put it before the gathering.

P. Sarsfield Cunniff of Watertown, made a motion to approve the union's offer and it was adopted by a vote of 8 to 4. Mr. Vahey questioned the vote, asserting that one of the men who voted, W. S. Scammons of Lexington, is a member of the Middlesex & Boston Company, but Mr. Scammons informed Mr. Vahey that he is a Lexingtonian, but is willing to arbitrate as

ENCOURAGE SUMMER RENTALS

A special committee from the Mercantile Division of the Newton Chamber of Commerce has been investigating the advisability of launching a movement to encourage the rental of Newton homes by those residents of the city who habitually spend the large part of each summer at the mountains or seashore, closing their homes from two to four months of each year.

It was felt that it would be a distinct advantage to the city and its commercial interests, and to the home owners in many instances, if some of these vacant homes could be rented during the summer season, thus developing a summer population which would not only insure more business for Newton business men. The plan would also supplement in some instances the income of those with homes to rent in this way, as well as proving a good thing for Newton itself through the opportunity to acquaint people from other sections with the many beauties of the city and its advantages as one of the most desirable places of residence in suburban Boston.

With many summer schools in session at Greater Boston's leading institutions of learning, and attending students from all sections of the country, visitors from the South and Middle West who desire to summer near the heart of New England, and residents of Boston itself who enjoy country life for the summer season but are prevented by business and other reasons from living at shore and mountain resorts, it was felt a substantial and desirable clientele was available and would undoubtedly be interested in the many advantages offered by Newton as a place of summer residence.

The first move of the Mercantile Division Committee was to enlist the aid of local real estate brokers and, in approaching this group, an interesting situation was uncovered which was illuminating to the committee and of special interest to the many who have at times given consideration to the plan of renting their homes for the summer months.

It was found that there has been for years a large number of Newton homes available for summer rental, furnished and offering all of their conveniences and comforts to any visitors who might care to take advantage of really exceptional opportunities. A majority of these homes have not been rented, however, chiefly because of the obvious fact that Newton is a higher class community than is deemed necessary for summer residence by many who have made inquiries along these lines. Those who feel that they can cheerfully put up with some inconveniences as a part of their summer vacation, find but few available dwellings in Newton within their summer means.

One of the leading Newton real estate brokers is authority for the statement that there are always customers waiting for furnished summer homes at what is considered a reasonable price, and that rentals on the basis of a monthly remuneration considerably less than winter terms could be easily arranged, as far as these were available.

It was pointed out, however, that a majority of those willing to rent their homes have houses of a type that the necessary low rental would be more or less inconsistent and ridiculous, unless one really desired to supplement his income sufficiently to be willing to accept a summer rental price entirely out of proportion to the ordinary rental price for Newton homes. While in complete sympathy with the objectives of the merchants who first conceived the plan, the real estate brokers interviewed could not enthuse over it provided some way could be found to produce more of the so-called reasonable rentals.

While the movement to encourage the summer rental plan does not promise to gain much momentum or accomplish much along the lines originally intended, the fact has been fairly well established that those Newton people desiring to add materially to their vacation budget through renting their homes furnished will have but little trouble in doing so, providing they are sufficiently modest as to rental. As a matter of fact it has been ascertained that there are a few citizens who annually provide for a substantial proportion of their vacation expense in this way.

But the fact has also been established that those with large estates, who might desire to take their entire household to summer homes and eliminate the necessity of installing a caretaker by renting their home during their absence, can have but little hope of bringing this about if they charge the rental price which their homes are worth. Inquiries are received in large number for low rentals, but the higher priced homes remain vacant.

The reason for this has long been a matter of special interest to local real estate brokers, most of them having decided that the average American family considers it a part of a vacation to put up with certain inconveniences, or to live on a more modest scale during the summer months as a necessary and inevitable part of the usual vacation, thus leaving available more of the vacation funds for sightseeing and outings, or because of the transportation expense involved in changing their habitat for two or three months of the summer.

the canvass in these villages, Newton Centre, and the other villages during the next ten days.

It is the purpose of the Mercantile Division of the Newton Chamber to bring about the adoption of a uniform summer half-holiday by the business interests of the city for a period of but two months during the present summer. In determining this period, the committee was influenced by the thought that chances for making the plan effective for a two month period were more favorable than for a longer time. There are many of the stores in the various villages which have heretofore remained open throughout the summer and, while practically all of these that have been reached in the Chamber canvass have agreed readily to cooperate with their fellow merchants in making the new closing period uniform, it was felt that it would be more easy to enlist the support of these during the first year for two months than for a longer period.

The Chamber is cognizant of the fact that many of the Newton stores are closing on Wednesday afternoons in June, and that some are planning to extend their closing schedule until the middle of September. There is no objection to this on the part of the Mercantile Division Committee, it being the opinion of this committee that, beyond the uniform period decided upon, it will but help to make the summer half day closing plan more effective if the period is voluntarily extended by many of the stores. In determining the July and August closing schedule for the present season, the members of the Mercantile Committee believed that, should the plan prove the success anticipated, there may be a general demand next season for an extension of the period, to include June with the other two months. If so, the closing period will undoubtedly be extended to conform to the wishes of a majority, through formal action by the Mercantile Committee.

The Chamber has on hand a large supply of attractively printed cards which are being distributed as rapidly as possible to all stores and business offices of the city. It promises to be a week or ten days before all are reached and those who desire these cards in advance may secure them at any time by calling at the Chamber office at 277 Washington street, Newton.

Any merchant, real estate broker, or others doing business in any of the Newton, with physicians, dentists and other professional men having offices in the city, are cordially welcome to these cards whether or not they are members of the Newton Chamber.

The available cards are printed in two colors, announcing the closing of stores and offices on Wednesdays at 12 o'clock, during July and August. The cards are attractive in appearance and of sufficient dimensions for use in both show windows and store or office interiors. The distribution is being carried on as rapidly as possible, in connection with the various other activities of the Chamber, and nearly everyone will be reached well in advance of the first closing day in July.
Those who may feel that there is a chance of being overlooked, through recent location or change of address, or those who desire cards as soon as possible are invited to call for them at the Chamber office.

If ignorance is bliss, it's funny there aren't more happy people in this world.

CIVIC COMMITTEE MEETS

The initial meeting of the recently appointed Civic Division Committee of the Newton Chamber of Commerce was held Tuesday at the Boston City Club. Those present were Chairman
Leon B. Rogers, presiding; William
B. Baker of West Newton, Albert P.
Carver of Newtonville, William J.
Doherty of Norantum, Bernard Early of Newton Lower Falls, Charles F.
Johnson of Newton Highlands, Oscar
E. Nutter of Newton Upper Falls, George V. Phipps of Waban, and Henry H. Wilder of Chestnut Hill, with President Rupert C. Thompson of the Chamber and the secretary.

There was a general discussion of some of the civic problems of Newton, and the opportunities for the Civic Division of the Chamber, which number about 1150 names, to be of service to the city. Among the matters discussed was the existing zoning ordinance, some members of the committee being in doubt as to whether it reflects the true sentiment of a majority of the property owners of the residential districts.

It was unanimously agreed by those present that, should the Civic Committee or the Chamber interest itself in this matter at any future time, it should only seek to serve as a medium for an expression of opinion, and that under no circumstances should the Chamber lend its influence to any movement designed to bring about any change excepting to make known the desires of the people.

Among other matters mentioned as questions in which the Committee should interest itself were cooperation with the City Health Departments in their work, and the development of the so-called gravel pit "gold mines" in certain sections of the city which were characterized as a future menace to health and the natural beauty of the city by one member of the committee.

A request that the committee name a sub-committee to confer with a subcommittee from the Building and Development Division regarding the desirability of seeking an extension of the city's park system was acted upon favorably, and the Chairman authorized to appoint such a committee. This matter has to do with an available lot of land which has frequently been mentioned for park purposes, the real estate members of the Building and Development Committee having knowledge that present owners are considering development plans which would probably double or treble the expense of acquiring this property at some future time. This committee believes that if the city is to acquire this property at all that now is the time to do it and that the facts in their possession should be brought to the attention of the City Fathers.

NEWTON JUDGES RIGHT ON THE JOB

In a symposium conducted last week by the Boston Globe in regard to the action of district court judges in cases of conviction for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, the Newton judges appear to be right on the job in imposing jail sentences on this class of offenders. The Globe says:

With an average of 100 cases of operating under the influence of liquor in the Newton District Court a year, Newton's judges have acquired the reputation of being unusually severe. Thomas Weston was one of the first of the lower court justices to impose jail sentences on drunken operators and with one exception, for more than a year Judge Weston has been sentencing drivers with alcoholic inclinations to the House of Correction.

The one exception was in court last month, a man from Natick with a wife in poor health and seven young children. Knowing that a jail sentence would bring hardship on the man's family Judge Weston imposed a fine of $100 and a suspended sentence of 30 days in the House of Correction.

Newton police officers report that whenever they arrest a man for operating under the influence of liquor his first question, if he is able to talk coherently, is, "What town is this," the answer, "Newton," has never yet failed to bring a groan.

In the last two months Newton's other two justices Judge William Bacon and Associate Justice W. Lloyd Allen, have been imposing jail sentences, even on the first offenders, so that now, Newton, is synonymous with jail, to drivers who permit rum to sit at their wheels.

Each year cases of this nature as well as cases of drunkenness are increasing by leaps and bounds. Judging from the number of cases so far this year and the amount in previous years Clerk of Court Sprague is of the opinion that all records will be broken, in Newton, at least, in 1923 for drunks and drunken operators.

Judge Weston believes there is only one way to curb this evil of operating under the influence of liquor and that is to hit the offenders of the law so hard the first time they will never return. He does not even file the charge of being drunk, as many judges do, but always tacks on a fine, $10, $15, $20, depending on the defendant's record. Men have come back on the same charge twice, but only on rare occasions. Of course, the licenses of the drivers are suspended automatically for a time and this, too, has proved to be an excellent deterrent.

Not so long ago, when Judge Weston was practically alone in his position, it used to be said in high circles that the lower courts have become strict. The Superior Court has become in the minds of offenders of the law the font of all mercy, while the lower courts are regarded as seats of cruelty.

With the result: From the day that Judge Weston imposed his first jail sentence for operating under the influence of liquor until today, and this also holds for Newton's other justices, not one person has ever accepted the sentence and gone to jail from the Newton Court, directly. Just as the stentorian voice of the court officer closes the court with "The sitting of this court now stands adjourned," so does "I appeal," write this on every case of operating under the influence of liquor in the Newton District Court.

A record entry has been registered for the twentieth annual dog show of the Ladies' Kennel Association of Massachusetts, which will be held at Norumbega Park next Saturday. Eight hundred and fifty entries, comprising 596 dogs, are registered. The association, of which Mrs. Louis Lichtenheim is president, will devote the receipts of the show to the Peabody Home for Crippled Children. The premium list is one of the best in years at this show, and indications point to a banner event.

Boston Terriers lead the breeds in the number of dogs with exactly 100 Boston entries. Fox Terriers were and smooth, will number 52. French bulldogs have the surprising entry of 50. Other leading breeds in point of numbers, are the shepherd dogs, with 40; cocker spaniels, 33, collies, 27; bulldogs, 24; Kingdome, 29; and Pomeranians, 23. Dogs of numerous other breeds are entered also.

Future generations will hold in loving memory the action of the public spirited men and women of Newton who have just given the city the tract of land which has been designed as Chaffin Park. This park, which is a valuable addition to the present Farrow Park and taken in connection with grounds adjoining Elliot Church, will undoubtedly be a material aid in keeping that portion of the city entirely residential in character, and at the same time will bring a breathing space right into the business part of the city. The men and women who have fostered this movement have an unusual clear vision of the future of Newton, for which every resident should be most grateful.

Because two stubborn persons representing the employers and the employees differ as to a method of procedure, the traveling public of several cities and towns must be inconvenienced and delayed in the transaction of their business. It makes but little difference who has the rights in the present dispute between the street railway company and its men, the public has the first and paramount right to have the service to which it is entitled.

ITALIAN SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

A large and enthusiastic audience greeted Signor Raffaele Martino and his Italian Symphony Orchestra on their first appearance at the Norumbega Park Theatre, Sunday afternoon and evening. This, the first of a series of open air symphony concerts to be given every Sunday afternoon and evening, has every indication of being as popular as those of the big cities of the West and Europe. Parties from Boston, Newton, Auburndale, Worcester, Framingham, Maine and even New Hampshire welcomed this orchestra which is composed of sixty men.

Signor Martino, lived up to his promise in presenting a program which was all that the most exacting could desire.

The second concert will be given next Sunday afternoon and evening rain or shine, and the program will include selections from Wagner, Tchaikovsky, Liszt and Rossini. Signor Schenoni will again be the soloist.

SEEK INJUNCTION

The Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company has brought a bill in the Supreme Court against William F. Egan et al, and the National and local unions of motormen, conductors and other employees seeking to restrain the defendants from going on a strike. The local union, Division 600, voted to strike within a few days and it has the approval of the National organization. The case will come up this morning.

The company and the union have an agreement under which differences may be submitted to the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration. A dispute has arisen over the discharge of a motorman for violation of a rule prohibiting the operation of a car within a certain distance from another car, the penalty of which is discharge. William Rouse, the motorman, ran his car into another.

Under the provisions of the agreement when a dispute is submitted for arbitration to the State Board, if the employee is found not guilty, he is reinstated.

The company and the union appeared before the State Board with a view to have the latter arbitrate the differences arising from the discharge of Rouse. It is alleged by the company that the union, through counsel, said the issues were whether the employee was guilty of the charge, and the board, if it found him guilty, should fix the penalty. The company insisted that the only issue for the board was the guilt or innocence of the motorman on the charge of violating the rule of the company, and if he were found guilty the board did not have anything to do with the penalty, as the rule prescribed that the penalty should be dismissal. The result of this dispute was the strike vote.

P. O. BOX 36, NEWTON, MASS.

WORTH

of LOVE and UNSELFISHNESS

Sixty billions of dollars of protection for loved ones has been voluntarily provided by the men of these United States through fraternal orders and old line life insurance companies.

Bought in many cases at a great personal sacrifice and with the highest type of unselfishness that those they love may find life alone less hard.

$60,000,000,000! What a measure of the unselfish desire of these men—

To provide for a family with heads erect because all bills are paid.

To provide a home freed from a mortgage.

To provide an adequate present day education so that the boy or girl can have a better chance than Dad and Mother had.

To provide the dollars equal to the weekly pay envelope for one or two years until the family can adjust themselves to new conditions.

To provide the partner who has cheered and encouraged in the struggle of life with a sure monthly income for her sunset days.

There are doubtless hundreds in Newton who would like to show their love and unselfishness in the same way, but fear they would not meet the physical test. To those, I would say that several sound companies now classify physical conditions as well as occupation, and it is worth while for them to see what is now offered.

I SHOULD PRIZE THE OPPORTUNITY TO SHOW YOU

There are many thousands more in this City of Newton who would like to show their unselfishness if they knew the many ways in which the proceeds of the policies are now guarded so that they may be absolutely certain their specific wishes shall be carried out.

MAY I TELL YOU OF THE WAYS?

GRADUATION DAY

The realization of an ambition. The consummation of years of hard study. The beginning of a new life. Like new steel waiting to be tempered so is the graduate standing on the threshold of the business world viewing its activities in a new light. He and she are the new life blood of industry, arts and science. But whether it be the plodding scholar of yesterday or the financial wizard of tomorrow a well shod foot is the mark of character and distinction. Our footwear possesses these qualities.

DEATH OF DR. BELL

Dr. Louis Bell, widely known as an electrical engineer and scientist, died yesterday morning at his home on Sylvan avenue, West Newton, after an illness of some duration. He was the son of General Louis Bell, U. S. A., and was born at Chester, N. H., in 1864. He was a student at Dartmouth College, where he took his A. B. degree in 1884, and where he distinguished himself in physics. Throughout his life he was a most loyal and active alumnus of Dartmouth.

Dr. Bell continued his studies at Johns Hopkins University until 1888, when he received his Ph. D. degree. He was then appointed professor of applied electricity at Purdue University, a new chair, in 1888. Dr. Bell organized and established there the course of electrical engineering, which has developed continuously since that date.

He was editor of the Electrical World of New York from 1890 to 1892. This Journal has ever since been prominently identified with American electric engineering and he continued to contribute to its columns to the last week of his life. From 1892 to 1895, he was chief engineer of the then newly organized electric power transmission department of the General Electric Company designing and installing the first polyphase power plant in this country. Since 1895, Dr. Bell carried on the profession of consulting engineer, especially in connection with electrical power transmission and with electric lighting.

Dr. Bell was a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Science and was distinguished especially as a leader in illuminating engineering. He was frequently a lecturer on that subject at Harvard University, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and elsewhere. He was past president of the Illuminating Engineering Society. His numerous writings and textbooks on applied optics and electric lighting are regarded as classics in their fields. He was recognized as a prolific, clear and forceful writer, with a literary style that compelled attention and understanding.

Dr. Bell married Sarah G. Hemenway of Somerville in 1893, who with his son, Louis Bell, Jr., and two grandchildren, survive him.

CORRESPONDENCE

To the Editor: Dear Sir:—Many times a small paragraph in your valuable journal has a very large importance. I have often observed this.

The statement issued by the New York, New Haven railroad last week, saying that the crossings at Oak street and Webster street at Newton Upper Falls are in future to have less protection than they now have, seems worthy of attention.

In driving through the Upper Falls village we have often spoken of the dangerous crossing at Oak street, and have been surprised that people are not killed there every day.

This is a very busy place and at certain times of the day traffic is heavy. The workmen from the different mills flock past there, the school children are obliged to cross the tracks and many heavy buses and workmen's flivvers are there taking passengers to and from work.

To relinquish any precautions for safety would be folly.

If an electric red light is installed as proposed, it should be added protection, but there should still be a crossing man. There should really be gates. Grade crossings are such an anachronism, so far behind the times at this date, it is a wonder we ever submit to them.

The tracks at Oak street ought to be lowered, and some time, after a few people have been killed, they will be. This is a poor way for the railroad company to economize.

Oak street is particularly dangerous, because it is impossible to see the trains coming from either direction when you approach the station; the coal yards hide the tracks completely. Those electric lights are not to be trusted. Besides this there are many forgers and newcomers in the vicinity who do not understand such contrivances; it is often only by main force that the crossing man is able to keep them away. Such an arrangement as is proposed might do down on the South Shore where there are only two trains a day perhaps, and where there is no mill population, but this will not be proper for such a city as Newton and I trust the residents of Newton Upper Falls will not allow it.

MRS. H. R. TURNER.

VAGRANT VACATIONS

The pleasant anticipation of vacation time is always enhanced by the many plans to be discussed and discarded before the final happy decision is reached. There was a time, indeed, when year after year the same plan was rigorously followed, and there were no intriguing routes to be mapped out; no fascinating lists of camps and resorts to be written and rewritten; no delicious family combats to be staged beforehand. But now all that is changed, and an unlimited vista of vacation wanderings is open to everyone through the complete records of the pioneer travellers along these delightful trails.

SCHOOL NOTES

Ralph Waldo Emerson School

The comic operetta, "A Merry Company or The Cadets' Picnic" was given in the school hall on Tuesday afternoon for the children and on Wednesday evening for adults. Each performance was delightful and reflected much credit upon the children.

The singing and the acting of John Burns as the "Little Old Man" and Catherine Burley as the "Little Old Woman" was particularly pleasing. Thomas McDaniels made a fine "Captain" for the Company of Cadets. Doris Eyre as "Bessie" and Frances Warren as "Gertie" were very effective leaders in the "Company of Picnic Girls."

The "Three Policemen" produced much merriment in their parts. The solo dances of Marion Shaughnessy and Frances Warren were very pretty special features of the program. The "Merry Hearts Dance" by six girls in colored costumes added one more pleasing feature. The audiences were large and much appreciation was shown throughout the performances.

The Playground Department has ordered a shield for the school to mark the winning of the league championship by the baseball team. It is promised in ten days.

The picture of the graduating class was taken on Wednesday forenoon by Mr. Hamphill.

The graduating class has raised a fund for the purchase of some suitable memorial to decorate the wall spaces of the school.

Mrs. Fanning recently presented each boy and girl in grades 4 to 8 with a pretty verse on a pretty card of her own selection and printing. She also added another $5 in the name of Mary Redcross to the school fund.

These pupils have the distinction of having had perfect attendance for the entire year: Priscilla Sawyer, grade 3; Annie Pigaga, Bartlett Kosofian, Michael Sammarco, Harold Stromboli, all in grade 5; and William Widman, grade 8.

Mr. Du Zoy, minister of Education from Belgium and his two assistants, visited the Emerson School on Wednesday to inspect the methods and results of the health program which is being carried out in Newton under the leadership of Miss Bragg, Assistant Superintendent.

They were enthusiastic over what they saw and heard. Under Miss Bragg's leadership, Newton has done work among the line of health education which has attracted the attention of educators everywhere. This summer Miss Bragg is to visit Belgium and to assist in the promotion of health education in that country.

Junior High School

On Tuesday afternoon a play and dance was given by the Dramatic Club. This is a repetition of the same given a few weeks ago. This time the money raised will go for the benefit of the baseball team next year.

Monday, June 4, 1923, a health club was organized in Room 25. The officers are: President, Dorothy Merrill; Vice-President, Barbara Davis; Secretary, James Brown. We decided to study outdoor sports. The following Friday each person had a short talk on some sport, telling how to play it and why it is good for the body. We hope to have many more meetings in the future.

On Friday, June 8, the eighth grades were entertained by the seventh grades by a short historical play. The acting of the boys was remarkable. Joseph Fox made a convincing Patrick Henry. Margaret Adams favored us by two selections on the piano. One of the pieces was of her own composing.

Miss Shiel is doing her best to make our Social Studies interesting. VIII-D is taking the Civil War. It is taken in such a pleasant manner that we look forward with great pleasure to the next Social Studies period.

A breakfast was held in the dining-room of the Junior High School. The breakfast was given at ten-thirty by the girls of I-C. There were two waitresses, Gertrude Bailey and Josephine Larpo. The host and hostess, Patty Wright and Greta Purdy. The guests were Miss Pierce and Mr. King.

Wednesday, June 6, 1923, II-G, Mr. Dacey's room played II-D. Miss Shiel's room in baseball. The game ended with the score 15-3 in favor of II-G.

Thursday, June 7, 1923, the varsity team of the F. A. Day Junior High played the Junior High at Concord, the home team being victorious 7-2. The game was very exciting although it was called at the fifth inning.

The science class in division 7-B are having a health club which was organized on last Thursday, June 7. The officers are as follows: President, Walter Healey; Vice-President, Herbert Holbrook; Secretary, Virginia Hayes. The Club has formed into groups of four. Each group is having a health club which was organized on last Thursday, June 7.

Division I-B are giving a breakfast on Wednesday. Two teachers have been invited as guests.

The girls of the Junior High were very sorry to have their gym periods end so soon.

Junior High School

The girls of the Junior High School baseball team played the Freshmen of Senior High on June 4, 1923. The game was played at Claffin Field. It was a very exciting game for Junior High from the beginning to the end. The final score was twenty-seven to nine in favor of the Junior High.

Friday, June 1, II-G, Mr. Dacey's room, defeated Miss Shiel's room. The game was very one sided, so II-D called the game at the beginning of the fifth making II-G the victor 14 to 3.

Friday, June 1, 1923, the F. A. Day Junior High played the Watertown Junior High defeated them 25 to 6 for the second time this season. The game was long and exciting. Harold Macy and Lloyd Young pitched a wonderful game while the remainder of the team played their best.

On Tuesday morning the VIII and IX grades went into the Auditorium for Memorial Day Exercises. The singing was very good. The voices were supplied by the girls of II-D and II-E. A tableau by Miss Shiel, the home-room teacher was a special feature.

Sewing is one of the interesting subjects on the girls of VIII-D's program. The majority of the girls are making dresses under the able management of Miss Pratt.

At the Assembly on Friday the VIII grades were entertained by an interesting program, arranged by the IX grades. Each of the clubs in the building gave a report of their doings. An interesting club was the Science Club under Mrs. Chandler.

A tired, but happy crowd reached Newton about five o'clock.

A surprise party in the form of a "show" was given Miss Withhill by her friends, last Monday evening at the home of Mr. William Grace, Newton. She received many lovely gifts.

NEWTON Y. M. C. A. FRESH AIR FUND. The following letter was received from Mr. Fletcher D. Parker, Superintendent of the City Missionary Society: Secretary Newton Y. M. C. A., Newton, Mass.

My dear Mr. Bascom: One of the bright spots in the lives of about two hundred and fifty boys from the crowded sections of the city was their visit last summer to the Newton Y. M. C. A. They greatly enjoyed the privileges of your well-equipped building, the friendly guidance of your secretaries, and the generous hospitality of the ladies connected with your organization. From our point of view it is one of the most worthwhile investments to pay carfare and provide supervision. We certainly appreciate all you have done in the past, and would be glad if you would share with all those who have made it possible our most hearty and unreserved thanks.

With most cordial personal appreciation, Sincerely yours, FLETCHER D. PARKER.

It seems from this letter that the citizens of Newton render to these 250 boys who have been coming to the Newton Y. M. C. A. every summer for a number of years, a real service. The secretaries are willing to give their time and the Directors of the Association willingly give the use of the grounds and the buildings. It is necessary however, to raise $100 to provide lunches and entertainment for these boys.

Following our usual custom we involve all those interested in providing these outings to send all contributions to the Newton Y. M. C. A., to be used for this purpose. Please make checks payable to Harold T. Dougherty, Treasurer.

NEWTON STORES TO CLOSE NEXT MONDAY

In common with other cities in Metropolitan Boston, Newton will recognize June 17, Bunker Hill Day as a holiday. Because of the fact that June 17 falls on Sunday this year, the usual custom of observing the following day, Monday, will be followed.

Practically all of the Newton stores will close as in past years, the Mercantile Division Committee of the Newton Chamber of Commerce having canvassed the mercantile interests of the city and ascertained that the sentiment is practically unanimous in favor of closing the stores all day and observing it as a general holiday.

The Newton banks will also observe the day in most instances, the savings banks having arranged to close all day while all of the offices of the Newton Trust Company and the First National Bank, at West Newton, will be open for but a comparatively short time in the morning, until 10:30 o'clock. At this hour all will close for the day.

ROTARY CLUB

Mr. Gorham Harris was the speaker at the Rotary Club on Monday, June 11th. His subject was: "Some Things Chemistry Has Done for This Country." He gave a very interesting talk, emphasizing especially the uses of aluminum and helium.

The talk of the week previous by Lt. Colonel F. W. Stopford of the United States Army is bearing fruit in the increased interest in the training camp for young men at Camp Devens conducted by the United States Government. Some members of the Club are planning to send men in their employment to the camp this summer, and the Club voted to encourage any young men who would like to attend. Information can be secured from any member of the Rotary Club or from the Secretary George Haynes.

THE PIED PIPER

Many friends and relatives of Troop 2 of the Newton Girl Scouts assembled last Saturday afternoon on the grounds of Mrs. Frank A. Day on Sargent street, Newton, to see the performance by the members of the troop of the "Pied Piper of Hamelin."

The day was a beautiful one, and the grounds of the Day Estate made an appropriate and beautiful setting. The performance began with a professional of the Mayor and Council of Hamlin preceded by heralds, and followed by citizens of the town.

Having seated himself with due pomp and ceremony, the Mayor proceeded to ask for grievances to be redressed whereupon the citizens told of the fearful havoc wrought by the rats and of their ineffectual attempts to get rid of them. A tumbler and a solo dancer added to the interest of this scene, and received much applause from the audience.

Then followed a scene where the

JOHN LOWELL HONORED

A glowing tribute to the life and memory of the late John Lowell of Chestnut Hill was given last Saturday in the United States District Court in Boston before Federal Judges Jas. M. Morton, Jr., George W. Anderson and George Morris. It took the form of a memorial, read by Robert D. Weston, representing the Boston Bar Association, and spread upon the records of the court by motion of United States District Attorney Harris, representing the Government.

The memorial was drawn up, pursuant to a vote of the council of the Bar Association, and was signed by Alfred Hemenway, chairman; Moorfield Storey, Robert D. Weston and Benjamin N. Johnson. The memorial recited the following resolutions, which were incorporated, by order of the Court, with the memorial upon the official court records.

"Resolved, that the Bar Association of the city of Boston, deeply mourns

BOY DROWNED

Dominic Jeraldi, 14 years of age, and living at Armory street, West Newton, was drowned in the Charles River Monday afternoon at the swimming hole at the foot of Albemarle road.

With his brother Frank, Dominic went down to the swimming hole after dinner. Although unable to swim, he had learned a few strokes and, according to the story of those present, walked out to a depth about up to his neck and then swam out over his head. Dominic's brother, Frank, and Edward Golden of 118 Waltham street, Waltham, were the only ones who actually saw the boy disappear. When he did not come to the surface they spread the alarm and one of the boys ran to the nearest house and telephoned for the police.

The Newton, Watertown and Metropolitan police were notified, and with the Watertown police came Chief Ahearn of the Watertown Fire Department with a pulmotor. When the police arrived boys were diving for the body and finally MacDonald brought it to the surface and swam with it to the Watertown side of the river.

Dominic Jeraldi was in the eighth grade of the Pierce grammar school, West Newton, and was to have graduated on June 27. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jeraldi, and, besides his parents and his brother, Frank, he also leaves a sister, Mary.

BAD ACCIDENT

Mr. William F. Hollings of Franklin street, Newton, was in a bad automobile accident last Friday night. Mr. Hollings was driving to his summer home at Harwich in a closed car and a car owned by Al Carroll of Duxbury came suddenly out from the Beaver Dam road, where there is a blind corner, and a bad collision occurred. The Hollings car was badly wrecked and the Carroll car was somewhat damaged. There were several people in the Hollings car, who were somewhat shaken up, but not injured.

STRIKE AVERTED

The employees of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company will not strike because of the discharge of William Rowse, a motorman, whose car on October 5, 1922, was in collision with another. Judge Pierce of the Supreme Court, after a lengthy hearing last Friday, denied a preliminary injunction asked for by the company, and said that he agreed with James H. Vahey, counsel for the union, that a disputable question was involved that should be settled by arbitration. Pitt F. Drew, who represented the railway company, announced that he would abide by the

TRAFFIC PROBLEMS

An effort is being made by the traffic ordinance committees of the Newtonville Improvement Society and the Newton Chamber of Commerce to develop a practical plan for relieving the traffic congestion on Bowers Street and Newtonville Avenue, especially at the western terminus of these streets in the vicinity of the Masonic Building, and along these narrow streets which have in the past contended with traffic conditions which were both inconvenient and unsafe. Both the fire and police departments have been troubled for some time because of these conditions which would, in case of an emergency, perhaps lead to a serious accident or

$60,000,000,000

WORTH

of LOVE and UNSELFISHNESS

Sixty billions of dollars of protection for loved ones has been voluntarily provided by the men of these United States through fraternal orders and old line life insurance companies.

Bought in many cases at a great personal sacrifice and with the highest type of unselfishness that those they love may find life alone less hard.

$60,000,000,000! What a measure of the unselfish desire of these men—

To provide for a family with heads erect because all bills are paid.

To provide a home freed from a mortgage.

To provide an adequate present day education so that the boy or girl can have a better chance than Dad and Mother had.

To provide the dollars equal to the weekly pay envelope for one or two years until the family can adjust themselves to new conditions.

To provide the partner who has cheered and encouraged in the struggle of life with a sure monthly income for her sunset days.

There are doubtless hundreds in Newton who would like to show their love and unselfishness in the same way, but fear they would not meet the physical test. To those, I would say that several sound companies now classify physical conditions as well as occupation, and it is worth while for them to see what is now offered.

I SHOULD PRIZE THE OPPORTUNITY TO SHOW YOU

There are many thousands more in this City of Newton who would like to show their unselfishness if they knew the many ways in which the proceeds of the policies are now guarded so that they may be absolutely certain their specific wishes shall be carried out.

What do you know about the lives of the motion picture stars? How would you like to penetrate into the very heart of studio land where the famous actors and actresses of the screen, the idols and the ravishing beauties of the cinema spend their days in creating great pictures?
Rupert Hughes has torn away the veil of secrecy that surrounds the motion picture world. He has brought to the screen the life of film-dom with its romances, its perils, its strange fascinations, its secret loves, its carefree existence, its portrayals of many things which you have wanted to know.

rats, in turn, hold a council. These were very effective and brought much laughter from the younger members of the audience.

A third scene showed us the Pied Piper followed by a crowd of dancing, happy children. The Piper was artistically gowned in a red and green costume which made a pleasing contrast to the dark green of the background.

After the departure of the children,
the Piper returns and makes his famous bargain with the Mayor and his Council to rid the town of the dreadful rats.

They accept and he carries out his part of the program only to be cheated out of his rightful reward. In revenge he leads the children of the town to the far-distant mountain, where, according to the legend, they were never seen again.

This melancholy ending was, however, changed on Saturday and largely because of a little lame child who was left behind, the Mayor and Council at length come to their senses and persuade the Piper to bring back the children who appear carrying gar-lands of flowers, and escorting their May Queen.

Following the play, the drum and bugle corps of the Girl Scouts gave an excellent performance at the close of which, Drum Major, Lieut. White, was presented with a gold tendoroot pin in appreciation of her leadership during the year.

The following took part:

HISTORY MADE IN FACTORY

French Revolution Said to Have Had Its Inception in Institution of the Reveillons.

Included among the first wall paper makers in America was Joseph Bumstead, of Boston. He traveled in France in 1824, and also ten years later. He left an interesting diary of the industry. Bumstead visited the Zuber works in Alsace and in his diary wrote that Zuber had succeeded in 1829, in making the first paper in continuous rolls at his paper factory in Roppeville, and had sold the English rights for $5,000. In 1850 Zuber took back from Manchester, England, the first wall paper printing machine used in France. A few years later nearly all wall papers were machine printed in designs that were mostly bad.

History records that it was at a wall paper factory, the famous Royal Manufacture of Reveillon, that the French revolution broke out on April 18, 1789. Reveillon employed more than 800 workmen. A rumor had been circulated that the workmen were to be taxed 15 sous a day, and that "bread was too good for them." A mob assembled and proceeded to pillage the factory. The furniture and fixtures were thrown out into the street. The troops were called out. Reveillon fled to London where he passed the remainder of his life.

TWO TRIPS TO BOSTON DAILY

WE CALL FOR BAGGAGE CHECKS

Y. M. C. A.

Saturday afternoon, June 23, will be a busy afternoon on the local
Y. M. C. A. athletic field. The second annual Two-State Y. M. C. A. championship athletic meet will be conducted there beginning 1.30. Last year the meet was held in the Harvard Stadium but this year because the Stadium was not available for that date Newton Y. M. C. A. was awarded the honor of acting host for the big affair. This will afford the Newton people an unusual opportunity to see the very best athletes of Massachusetts and Rhode Island in action.

More than a hundred picked athletes will be entered coming from all parts of the two States to participate in an interesting program of nine events.

Newton Y has entered a team of eleven men. Mr. C. V. Moore, one of Newton's foremost athletes of recent years has very generously given of his time to coaching the Newton team and while several of the men lacked experience Mr. Moore has succeeded in rounding them into form for the meet and together with the more seasoned men expect to make a good showing for Newton.

The event will be as follows: 100 yards, 220 yards, 440 yards, 880 yards, 1 mile run, 1 mile relay, 12 lb.
shot put, running broad jump, running high jump. Medals will be awarded the individual winners and a team trophy to the winning Association. The meet will start at 1.30.

POLICE COURT

Louis N. Chase, a broker, living on Bay State road, Boston, was in Court Wednesday morning, before Judge Bacon, charged with the larceny of $1200 last June from Benjamin Demambro of Webster place, West Newton, in an alleged fraudulent stock transaction. Judge Bacon found probable cause and Chase was held in $1000 bonds for the Grand Jury.
Demambro, a laborer, was working near Chase's home, became acquainted with him, and invested with him.
Chase said that there was no fraud, but that Demambro simply lost his money.

The VETERAN MOTORIST gives a few rules of the road

"Slow down on approaching any railroad crossing. Look both ways and listen, being particularly careful where there are two or more tracks, because of trains in opposite direction."
(Am. Railway Ass. Safety Section)

WHY IS IT, I WONDER, that you still read about so many automobile accidents at railroad crossings? With the thousands of smashed cars and undertakers' bills caused this way, you'd suppose that every motorist would put on the old thinking cap when he spots a crossing.

"I saw a smash once, and that was enough for me. No more taking chances for Yours Truly after that, or 'hoping' there isn't a train coming. You can't absolutely trust anything but your own eyes to tell you whether the track is clear or not. The flagman may not be on duty when you happen along. The automatic signal may be out of order. The train may be coasting quietly down a grade toward the crossing. There are a dozen 'mays', and 'may not's', and 'ifs'.

"No siree! Life's too short and sweet to take blind chances at grade crossings—when it's so simple and easy to make sure. My tip is: always assume there is a train coming. It is better to be wrong than to have your picture in next day's paper—"Victim of Auto Wreck."

CASTE PREJUDICE IN INDIA

Not a Bar to Any Occupation, Though the Observance Is Most Rigidly Enforced.

There are four main castes in India
—the Brahmans, Kshatriyas, Vaisyas and Sudras, corresponding traditionally to the occupations of priest, warrior, trader and artisan. But, though this would suggest that caste was at one time a class distinction, yet at the present day a caste may include all classes save that of priest, which is reserved to the Brahmans. Caste is no bar to any occupation. A rajah may be a Sudra. His cook may be a Brahman. The rajah is of a higher class than his cook, though of a very much lower caste. And though the Brahman will cook the rajah's dinner, he will not eat it with him, or permit his daughter to marry the rajah.

Though it is not looked upon with approval, marriage is possible between castes which are not widely separated.
In particular, a legal marriage can take place between two contiguous castes.
But in all such mixed marriages the children belong entirely to the lower caste.

Music of American Indians.

The music of the American Indians is solely and simply vocal. It seems to be generally agreed by musical authorities that the Indians' songs have in them nothing borrowed from instruments, nothing of artificial instigation. An Indian melody never serves two sets of words. There is no instance, it appears, where the people have sung the different stanzas of a ballad to the same air. A large proportion of Indian songs are entirely without words at all, syllables being employed to carry the tones.
Perhaps the most striking peculiarity of Indian music is the lack of definite pitch. The Indian begins his song where the natural quality of his voice and his mood at the time render it easiest for him to sing it. The pitch of the song depends upon the individual.—Washington Star.

No Doubt About It.

Mr. Newlywed was on his honeymoon, and as he had married a very pretty young wife, he lost no chance of telling everybody with whom he came in contact that he was a married man.

"I want rooms," he announced, as he approached the hotel reception clerk, trying to appear as nonchalant as possible.

"Certainly, sir," said the clerk. "For how many?"

"For myself and my wife," replied Newlywed.

"Yes," said the clerk. "Suite, sir?"

"Sweet?" cried Mr. Newlywed. "Of course she is!"

Dear One of the Family.

At Matamoras on the east branch of the Penobscot, where a supply depot is maintained, there is a tame deer which enters the house occasionally and eats food from the table. The deer prefers to sleep in the open at the edge of the woods, but during the day plays around the dooryard of the farm, following a dog, of whom it appears to be fond, wherever the animal goes. Several times when the deer has been in the house and has wanted to go out it has leaped through a window, taking out sash and glass with it.

According to Nationality.

Accent apart, there is said to be a tea-table test by which the nationality of a hostess may be determined.

In serving tea the Englishwoman selects one or more lumps of sugar, according to the capacity of the cup.

The Irish hostess hands round the sugar basin so that guests may help themselves.

In Scotland, however, the guld wife fixes her eye on the guest and inquires sternly: "Are ye sure ye've stirred it?"—Chicago Daily News.

Jewett—I should say so; if he were know any better than to charge the operation to "overhead expenses."

Following the exercises in the assembly hall, the senior class was tendered an informal reception in the drill shed, by the Junior class, with light refreshments and dancing.

In the evening the senior class held a banquet in the drill shed.

The dinner committee, including Gardner Pratt, Frances Ayres, Mary Reynolds, Charlotte Towle, Julius Kohler, William North, Edward Stimpson and Thomas Willing, with the help of the decoration committee, arranged the tables in the shape of a huge N, and the walls were adorned with masses of evergreen and numerous pennants. On the tables were favors and candles. At the head were seated the faculty and class officers. The waitresses were from the junior class. The program included a flute solo, Russell Foster; vocal number, "Roadway," Herbert Jones, accompanied by James Dow; a comedy and legerdemain, Eliot Smith, assisted by Doane Arnold and Arthur Shaw; piano solo, John Andrews.

Gardner Pratt was the toastmaster and the speakers included Miss Margaret McGill, Miss Hawthorth, Mr. Philip Marston, and Mr. Horace M. Walton, who leave the faculty this year, and Headmaster Francis I. Bacon, and Mr. Samuel Thurber, Jr.

Julius W. A. Kohler presented Miss McGill with a set of book ends. The class statistics were read by Louise Lovejoy, in which Julius Kohler was judged the most popular boy and Barbara Cooke the most popular girl, while Katherine Bingham was awarded the honor of being the prettiest girl and John Pratt that of being the handsomest boy.

Lending a touch of the humorous to the program was the prophecy read by John Pratt, who assured each one of the class a marvelous future, matrimonial, professional, or otherwise. The evening ended with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

TRIBUTE TO MR. JOHN LOWELL

the untimely death of John Lowell, a lawyer of the highest character, a faithful servant of this association, a patriotic citizen, a zealous worker in many fields of benevolence, a lovable and much loved man.

"Resolved, that the association desires to express to Mrs. Lowell the deep sympathy of its members and that the secretary be instructed to send her and her children a copy of the memorial and of these resolutions.

"Resolved, that the committee appointed to prepare the foregoing memorial be instructed to present the same to the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts, and to ask that the memorial, together with the resolutions, be spread upon the records of the court."

Following the reading of the memorial, and resolutions by Mr. Weston, United States District Attorney, Robert O. Harris, moved before the court, that they be accepted. Attorney Harris was followed by Colonel William D. Schier, president Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University, Alexander White, side, Lawrence Brooks and Moorfield Storey.

Judge Morton, in granting the motion, paid tribute to the Court to Mr. Lowell's memory, tracing his ancestry from the first judge of the United States Court for this district, who was appointed by Washington.

Forerunner of Pianoforte.

The pianoforte, a word meaning "soft" and "loud," came tentatively into existence, or at least its principle did, as early as the Fourth century in the shape of the clavichord. Then came the cithera, harpsichord and spinet, which entertained lovers of music down to the Eighteenth century. Both Mary Queen of Scots and Queen Elizabeth played upon the spinet. When the Scotch ambassador visited the English court the queen anxiously inquired about her cousin's proficiency in playing that instrument and was informed that Mary played "very well, for a queen." It is probable that the music produced by neither of those queens would have entranced listeners had it not been brought forth by the jeweled fingers of royalty. Shakespeare alludes to the spinet in the line, "Those jacks that nimble leap to kiss the tender inward of thy hand."

CARABAO CALLED IT A DAY

Animal Willingly Made Three Daily Trips to the Well, but Absolutely Refused the Fourth.

Our water supply on Bongao island in the Sulu archipelago was obtained from a well that had been dug by our Spanish predecessors. It penetrated to the underlying coral rock and gave up water so brackish that we at an early date went back to the high ground and tried to find a fresh supply. We found it about a mile from the shore and sufficient in quantity for all purposes. I sent up to Jolo by the next steamer for a water cart and a carabao, and in time a huge carabao bull with a 150-gallon cart was added to our colony. He was as usual a stolid but cheerful animal, inured to any amount of labor; but we soon found that three trips a day gave us a sufficient supply for all our needs.

This continued for about one month with no variation, when for some reason it became necessary to increase the supply. We then found that the carabao declined to make the fourth trip and nothing would affect him—bribes, punishment or torture of any kind. He simply lay on the ground and chewed his cud and placidly declined to move. He had made up his mind that three cartloads of water were sufficient for any well-regulated garrison and declined to make any further effort. The next morning he was perfectly willing to bring in another three loads, but nothing would induce him to bring in a fourth. He was perfectly willing to allow a barrel to be slung on the cart and have his load increased to that extent but another trip he would not make.—Sydney A. Cloman in the World's Work.

ODD SOURCE OF INSPIRATION

Beethoven Said to Have Found Motif in the Persistent Sound of Door Knocker.

To an ordinary mind it would scarcely seem possible that much music could be got out of a door-knocker. Yet it was this sound which is said to have inspired Beethoven's glorious violin concerto in D. As the musician lay awake one night shaping the concerto in his mind, his musings were interrupted by a belated neighbor who was endeavoring to arouse his housekeeper and get her to come down and let him in. Beethoven heard his persistent knocking for admission—four slow deliberate knocks at a time. The constant repetition gave the composer the idea he sought and those four knocks are heard all through the opening movement of the concerto, which begins with four unaccompanied D's on the drum—seemingly as unmelodious and unpromising an opening phrase as one could imagine. In commenting upon the circumstance Sir George Grove has said "those four knocks were to Beethoven what the hulk of the old Temeraire was to Turner, or the daffodils to Wordsworth—commonplace in themselves, but transmuted by the fire of genius into an imperishable monument."

Vanishing American Birds.

One of the most remarkable exhibits in the habitat group in the American Museum of Natural History is the nest of a duck hawk on a shelving rock on the Palisades, with the rocky rampart of nature stretching in the background and the placid river below.

It deserves to be ranked as a work of art—this glimpse of the bird life of New York's beauty spot—as, in fact, do all the exhibits in the habitat group.

As one enters the booth in which the scene is installed, one finds it hard to believe that he is looking at the combined work of the artist and the painter, and not on the actual shelving rock hundreds of feet above the Hudson, with the mother-bird poised in the summer air, hovering over the nest with the food for her young grasped in her claws.

And the duck hawk is still to be found—or was to be found there in 1908, when three pairs were nesting across the river from the city's hubbub.—Exchange.

Thought Beau Was for Her.

Nine-year-old Marian is her Aunt Marian's pet. And whenever aunt, who is a successful young business woman, buys herself any luxury she buys one for Marian, too.

For instance, when she bought an umbrella for herself she bought Marian a parasol. She bought a bicycle to journey to business, and Marian a tricycle. She bought a big rocking chair for herself, and Marian a little one.

The other evening she came home with a new admirer, who was one of those fellows whom nature has made of the diminutive order.

For a minute Marian eyed him, and then she asked: "All right, auntie; I like him. But where's yours?"

How It Looked to Him.

"Do tell me something about the play," she said to the young man. "They said the climax was superb."

"Yes, I am inclined to think it was very good," said Percy.

"Can't you describe it to me?" she asked.

"Well, the heroine came stealthily on the stage and knelt, dagger in hand, behind a clump of ribbons. The hero emerged from a large bunch of purple flowers and as soon as she perceived him she fell upon him, stabbed him and sank half-conscious into a very handsome algrette. This may sound queer, but the woman in front of me wouldn't remove her hat and that's how it looked."

SCHOOL NOTES

Ralph Waldo Emerson School

The kindergarten children had a picnic on Flag Day on the lawn of Mrs. Frank Fanning, which was attended by parents as well as children. Mrs. Fanning presented each child with a flag in honor of the day. Refreshments were served to all.

Mothers' Day was observed in the kindergarten on June 20 at 10 o'clock. A special program was given. About 50 guests were present.

The baseball team won the final game of the season by the score of 8 to 7. The game was played against the Peirce team on the local playground. The boys made an uphill fight and were glad to even things with the opposing team which had defeated them at West Newton in a preceding game.

Photographs of the ball team were made by Miss Dow. These boys are in the group that composed the team: Capt. Newton Hanscom, pitcher; Manager Melvin Chambers, left field; Norman Payne, catcher; John Fontanay, first base; Paul Bloh, second base; William Yurick, short stop; William Murphy, third base; Richard Walsh, centre field; Stanley Balkon, right field; substitutes, Joseph Shields, Thomas Osborne, George Cashman, and Edward Rummil.

A testimonial to Mr. Walton, the retiring supervisor of music, was given on Monday afternoon in the Hall. The pupils of grades 3 to 8 formed a procession and marched to the Hall. Here they bowed greetings to Mr. Walton, saluted him in unison, and gave him their school cheer. A musical program followed which was made up of selections from the recent operetta, also selections contributed by Miss Jones' class, and Misses Kelly's and Horgan's classes. Mr. Walton and Mr. Hodge sang a duet and encore. John Sullivan, treasurer of the class of 1923, in a neat speech, presented to Mr. Walton a $20 gold piece to show the appreciation and good wishes of both teachers and pupils. The following poem was written by Miss Bassett in honor of Mr. Walton.

To Mr. Walton
There is a tide in the affairs of men,
When birthdays seem at best a doubtful blessing,
When wrinkles and a few gray hairs appear,
The swift and sure approach of age confessing.

At three score years and ten as you look backward,
Across your years of service have you thought,
With music's magic spell, how great an influence
Upon the lives of others you have wrought?

Look back and see the children of past decades
Now grown to manhood, gladly clasp your hand;
Look round and see the children of the present,
In loving gratitude before you stand.

For all that you have been to us,—to Newton,
As teacher, leader, supervisor, friend,
Accept our heartfelt thanks and all good wishes
For whatsoever future God shall send.

Emerson School, June 18
Graduating exercises were held in the Hall on Thursday at 11 o'clock. A program combining songs and literary selections was given. The diplomas were presented by Miss Bragg, the assistant superintendent at the conclusion of a befitting address to the graduates. The list of graduates is given below. The class memorials were on exhibition in the Hall. They were two pictures in color, "Winter Scene in the Austrian Alps" and an Indian scene.

The graduating class had a farewell party in the Hall on Thursday evening at eight o'clock. A program was carried out under the management of Miss Sullivan. A grand march, dancing, games, and refreshments made up the entertainment. The class history was given by John Sullivan and the class prophecy by Florence Ingham.

Mrs. Lewis P. Everett presented the school with a large sized picture framed in a gift frame and entitled, "A Happy Family." The gift is much appreciated. It will be placed in one of the primary rooms.

decision of Judge Pierce, and that the company would arbitrate.

Mr. Vahey, on behalf of the union, argued that under the contract made between the railway company and its employees all disputes were to be settled by arbitration. Mr. Drew on the other hand, contended that arbitration applied to everything except a rule which prescribed a specific penalty for its violation. Mr. Rowse, Mr. Drew said, was discharged under a rule which prescribed that penalty for a motorman whose car was in collision with another, unless there were extraordinary conditions relating thereto. That penalty, Mr. Drew said, was absolutely necessary for the protection of the public, and since it had been in force there had been few collisions.

Mr. Vahey claimed that the penalty of discharge was not a part of the rule, and that Mr. Rowse was entitled to have arbitrators determine his responsibility for the collision. Mr. Vahey said that the organization, of which Local 600 was a part, comprised 150,000 men in the United States and in Canada. It was founded on the cornerstone of arbitration, and industrial agreements made since the organization was formed were intended to keep people out of the courts.

Mr. Vahey told of the efforts that had been made to arbitrate in the case of Mr. Rowse, all of which had been defeated by Mr. Drew.

The Law of the Land, Must and Shall Be Respected

Mr. O'Brien's recent address before the Laymen's League contained a great deal of common sense and should cause every one interested in the perpetuation of our form of government to think deeply on the subject. Mr. O'Brien points out that our present easy going political methods are undoubtedly due to the popular primary, which has resulted in the loss of party principles and party fealty. As the editor unsuccessfully urged the present Legislature to make some change in this form of primary, he is greatly pleased to have his position upheld by so good an authority as Mr. O'Brien. Let the good work go on.

The Newton Corner business men and all other business men of this city, who oppose parking restrictions are taking a most selfish and unreasonable attitude. The streets are made for the use and benefit of the public at large and not for the sole use of the abuttor on a few feet of frontage. Parking privileges in our busy squares and streets should be most carefully restricted.

While there is some doubt as to the legal aspect of the proposed ordinance governing traffic in this city, it is evident that something of the kind is needed in order to control the constantly bad habit of parking in congested parts of the city regardless of the rights of others. Let us hope that the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce along this line will bear early fruit.

Newton as well as Harvard is proud of the splendid record which has been made by Mr. George Owen, Jr., of this city. In addition to his great success in athletics, his neighbors and friends also admire him for his modesty and high character.

The middle over the Byfield property desired by the city for school house purposes promises to last well into the fall and to seriously delay the erection of the new schoolhouse.

Quimet Day at the Woodland Golf Club yesterday was honored by the presence of Gov. Channing H. Cox, who paid a high tribute to Mr. Quimet's sportsmanship.

These drowning accidents on the Charles River are becoming altogether too frequent. Canoeing ought to be limited to persons who know how to swim.

AN ENVIABLE RECORD

Mr. George Owen, Jr., a resident of Hollis street, Newton, first marshal at the Harvard Commencement this week has made a remarkable record during his years in college.

He has been eligible for varsity sports only three years, but in that time has piled up an enviable achievement.

Owen entered Harvard in 1919, a freshman little known for athletic ability, outside of Boston. He reported for football, having played the previous season for Newton High, but because of indifferent playing he was unable, at first, to make the freshman eleven. Finally, after some brilliant work against the varsity, Coach Withington put Owen in the first eleven.

He starred in all the games, but especially the Andover game and the Yale freshman game his team won, largely through the efforts of Owen. After the close of the freshman football season, Owen rested and later reported for freshman hockey. He was elected captain of the team and led it through a very successful season, finally administering one of the worst defeats the Yale freshmen ever suffered. After hockey he reported for freshman baseball. Under Coach Young he was played in almost every position on the team except catcher, finally ending the season by pitching his nine to a 15 to 5 victory against Yale.

His freshman year is practically repeated all the way through college, except that his record became greater as he developed. During the sophomore year he played successfully on the football, hockey and baseball teams as a regular, starring in each sport and playing regularly in each. That year every sport that he participated in defeated Yale and at least tied Princeton, with Owen figuring heavily in all outcomes. Both the hockey and baseball teams were credited with the triangular championships.

Last year, Owen was a bigger star on the football team. Against Yale he was at his best and carried the ball across for the winning touchdown. He was selected by the majority of critics for all-American fullback. In hockey he was accorded the unusual honor of being a captain of a major sport in his junior year, and he led the team to the triangular championship. In baseball he again played first base and helped defeat Princeton, though beaten by Yale in a three-game series. At the close of the baseball season he was awarded the Dana J. P. Wingate trophy for the second successive year as the best all-around player on the nine.

This year, Owen has come to the full height of his prowess. In football, he played brilliantly all season; in hockey he was captain for the second successive time and led a mediocre team to the triangular championship; in baseball he is captain and has again helped along a team weak in pitchers by his hitting and defensive play; in addition, he is again leading for the Wingate trophy.

In his four years of competition, Owen has participated in 18 contests against Yale and been on the winning side 15 times never losing until the baseball series of last Spring. He has won nine varsity letters more than any other Harvard athlete in history, including the times before freshmen were ineligible for varsity sports.

ANDERSON-MOORE

Miss Dorothy Moore, daughter of Mrs. S. Wallace Moore, and grand daughter of the late Stephen Moore of Newton, was united in marriage to Edgar Anderson of St. Louis on Thursday afternoon at Wellesley.

The ceremony, in charge of Rev. Newton A. Merritt, Jr., was held on the beautiful Tupelo Point of the Wellesley College grounds.

Miss Moore is a Wellesley graduate and has been teaching at the college the last couple of years. After a summer at a New Hampshire camp the couple will leave for St. Louis where the groom is teaching.

REAL ESTATE

One of the most important realty sales that has taken place in the city of Newton for many years, is the transfer of the Bacon Block, numbering 273 to 283 Washington street, by the Bacon Building Trust to Zebec E. Cliff, who purchases for a permanent investment. The estate comprises a three story brick block occupied for stores and offices, having a frontage of one hundred feet on Washington street, the building covering 4,500 feet of land, the total area of land about 6,000 feet, the total assessed valuation being $30,000, the purchaser's price being in excess of double the assessed valuation. It is the new owner's intention to extensively improve the property and hold for a long time investment.

The William Morton estate transfers a large tract of land at Newton Centre, containing about 23,000 feet, having a frontage of 210 feet on Cedar street, just off Commonwealth avenue. The purchaser is Edward J. Kivell, the contractor and builder, who will improve the land immediately by erecting two massive houses with all modern improvements, with a two-car modern garage to match each house. The location is one of the most desirable at Newton Centre while the land is one of the last few desirable tracts left in this location to be purchased at any price, the purchase price being at the rate of $21,500 an acre.

James W. Blaisdell has transferred his estate, numbering 197 and 199 Hunnewell Terrace, comprising a modern two apartment house containing 8 rooms and 2 baths with each apartment, together with a modern two-car garage and about 12,000 feet of land. The total valuation is $15,500 while the purchaser's price was far in excess of the valuation. John J. Payne of Boston was the purchaser. After extensive improvements are completed Mr. Payne will occupy a portion of the estate for a permanent home.

The above transactions were negotiated through the office of Michael O'Connor, 277 Washington street, Newton.

To The Public

We have information we believe to be reliable that less than 600 operators voted at the strike poll of telephone operators at Chipman Hall, Tuesday, June 19.

There are approximately 6000 operators in the Metropolitan Boston district. Over 90 per cent of them refrained from participation in this referendum.

If a strike is called, therefore, it will be with the expressed sanction of less than 10 per cent of the operating force in this area.

To the west was Pamphylia, to the north Cappadocia, and to the east Syria. Cilicia was, therefore, the highway between Syria and the central and western parts of the empire. —For a hundred and fifty years no other man forced so many of his contemporaries to read poetry that was at least reasonably poetical. The man was great and the achievement no less so. There is an instinct toward popularity which comes from vanity and greed, and that is destructive to literature. That was the attitude of Scott, and at bottom, while it may not conduce to the most perfect art, it was no ignoble mood and could result in nothing but benefit to mankind.—F. E. Pierce.

As I watched I saw a rat creep up to the child, and my heart was in my mouth. I feared for the baby. But, bless you, the rat was only after the milk! He just slipped the teat out of the child's mouth into his own, and then thoughtfully put the end of his tail into the child's mouth, by way of a comforter." NEWTONVILLE TRAFFIC PROBLEM SOLUTION SUGGESTED BY TRAF- FIC ORDINANCE COMMITTEE.

at best, would cause unavoidable delay in responding to fire alarms in the immediate vicinity.

The Bowers Street and Newtonville Avenue situation has been recognized from the beginning by these committees as one of the most difficult of the many traffic problems to solve and, after giving the matter much thought and study, both committees are practically agreed that the best solution is to make both of these thoroughfares one way streets between Harvard and Walnut streets.
With the two streets running parallel and but a comparatively narrow strip of residential property between the two streets, it is felt that they are practically one street as far as service to the public is concerned. The result of adopting the solution proposed will be practically the same as is achieved in handling traffic on city boulevards, where a park separates the main drives as is the case in many instances.

A part of the tentative parking and one way street regulations to be included in the proposed traffic ordinance, developed by a special committee of the Chamber and to be recommended to the Board of Aldermen for adoption, provides that no vehicles will be permitted to pass along Newtonville Avenue between Walnut and Harvard streets, excepting in an easterly direction, while no vehicles may be operated on Bowers street from Harvard street to a point near the B. & A. Railroad Station excepting in a westerly direction. Bowers street, from Walnut Street to No. 75 Bowers Street may be used as a two way street. Parking in the one way sections must be with vehicles headed in the direction of traffic, on both sides excepting near Walnut Street where no parking is to be permitted on either side of Newtonville Avenue from No. 478 to Walnut Street, and no parking is to be permitted on the South side of Bowers street from Walnut Street to the entrance of driveway to the Methodist Church.

The traffic ordinance committee of the Newtonville Improvement Association has also worked out carefully a system of parking in the vicinity of Newtonville Square which promises to provide maximum accommodation with minimum inconvenience to drivers, and to minimize the possibilities of congestion or accident to the lowest possible degree. These have been incorporated in the proposed parking regulations prepared as a part of the specimen ordinance reported by the Chamber to the special Aldermanic Committee.

Citizens interested in the proposed traffic ordinance, especially its parking and one way street provisions, should bear in mind that the specimen ordinance submitted to the Board of Aldermen is but suggestive and offered only as a means to facilitate the adoption of the best possible ordinance for Newton.
The Chamber committee, of which Ex-Alderman Henry D. Lloyd is chairman, and including Chief of Police Bernard F. Burke, Fire Chief Walter
B. Randlett, Street Commissioner
George E. Stuart, and Henry C. Robbins of Waban, with Ex-Alderman

Philip Nichols assisting in an advisory capacity, is interested itself only in an effort to be of assistance to the special Aldermanic committee.

All are striving to co-operate to give Newton the best ordinance possible. It is not anticipated that the specimen ordinance prepared by the Chamber committee will necessarily be adopted as submitted but that it will be subjected to more or less revision and modification, during which the Board of Aldermen will undoubtedly provide opportunities for the public or individual objectors to present their views. But it is expected that the specimen ordinance prepared by the Chamber will serve as an excellent basis for discussion, and, offering as it will in most instances a solution to many of Newton's traffic problems, that many of its provisions will meet with the approval of the City Fathers, and of the public as a whole.

OPPOSE PARKWAY RESTRICTION

Newton Corner business men are planning to protest strenuously the recommendations for 20 minute parking restrictions in the Nonantum Square section, as proposed by the Newton Improvement Association in its recommendations to the Newton Chamber of Commerce Traffic Ordinance Committee. At a meeting of several of the merchants in the hall at the Public Library on Tuesday evening, it was voted that all business men of the Newton Corner section to be affected by the proposed regulation be canvassed and each asked to express in writing his attitude toward the proposed parking restrictions.
Chairman Henry D. Lloyd of the Chamber Traffic Ordinance Committee presided, while other representatives of the Chamber were present, including Chief of Police Bernard F. Burke
of the Chamber committee.

Those present were somewhat surprised when informed that there has been in effect for several years an ordinance prohibiting parking for more than fifteen minutes in a small area, including the square and a short section of Centre street. Nearly all of the business men present favored unlimited parking privilege and were indeed, while other representatives of the Chamber were present, including Chief of Police Bernard F. Burke
of the Chamber committee.

WALKER-SCHUELL

On June 18th Miss Rosa Marie Schuell of Fitchburg, Mass., became the bride of Robert W. Walker of Newton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. C. Masse, D. D., of Tremont Temple, Boston.
The bride is a graduate of the Boston City Hospital. The groom, a very popular Newton boy, is a World War veteran, having served 21 months overseas with the 14th Railway Engineers.
After a motor trip through Maine,
and New Hampshire, Mr. and Mrs.
Walker will reside in Boston.

THE LITTLE THING CALLED "GOOD MORNING"

It lives in a cheer-niche somewhere in the Soul.
Just give it a start, then away it will roll,
And all it will take is a smile for its toll—

The little thing called "Good Morning!"

There's something about it of magical skill.

It goes to the mine pit and up to the mill;

Gives dimples to Mary and chuckles to Bill—

Of course, there are places, I'm sorry to say,

Where that merry minstrel has never held sway;

The whistle just blows, then they start on the day,

And nobody says, "Good Morning!"
Like slaves in the galleys they take up the grind,

Pass elbow to elbow as though they were blind;

Leave love in the rockers and call life unkind

Where nobody says, "Good Morning!"

But O, there are places I joy to go in!

Where little "Good Morning!" arrives with a grin,

And makes all the toilers of workday kin—

The shop where they say, "Good Morning!"

I've known it to win the most arrogant boss,

Bring joy to a job long condemned
as a cross;

Oil all the machinery, make profit of loss—

That little soul-song, "Good Morning!"

apolis News.

DEATH OF MRS. LUCY C. TITUS

The death of Mrs. Lucy C. Titus took place Sunday at her home, 23 Otis street, Newtonville, after an illness of six days resulting from a cerebral hemorrhage.

Mrs. Titus was born in Georgetown, Mass., in 1845, the daughter of George W. and Charlotte Spofford Chaplin; and her husband, Rev. Eugene H. Titus was a Congregational minister who held pastorates at Beverly, Mass., Bethel, Me., and Farmington, N. H. His death took place in 1876.

For the past 25 years, largely spent in Greenfield, Mass., Mrs. Titus has made her home with her son, Edward K. Titus, and has been for the past five years a resident of Newtonville. She was a member of Central Church, and in earlier life was very active in many forms of church work. While in Greenfield she was president for five years of the Franklin county branch of the Woman's Board of Missions. She leaves, besides her son, who is a newspaper writer, her grandson, Edward Kleinhaus Titus, who is a student at Yale College, and a sister, Mrs. T. A. Perley of Colorado Springs, Colo. Prayers were said at the home Wednesday morning, by Rev. M. H. Litcher, followed by services and burial at her former home in Georgetown.

Mrs. Titus' health had failed during recent years, but she found much to enjoy in life up to her recent illness. She lived a life of unstinted devotion to her family and friends and to the good causes she was interested in promoting.

ENJOYABLE RECITAL

The annual Pupils' Recital given by the classes of the Misses Cotton occurred on Friday, June 15, 1923, at the parlors of the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville. A large and attentive audience gave evidence of the sustenance and all work must have been fully repaid by the enjoyable program.

Very few of the advanced pupils appeared, but out of a class numbering sixty-five, there were thirty-seven on the program. It is interesting to note the beautiful spirit of confidence existing between the young teachers and their pupils, and the zest with which each participant comes to the piano to do his or her part. Almost without exception the work of the pupils—even the very youngest—proved that they have grasped the idea that music is a language, that it must have phrasing and expression and clearly played notes in order to be music and not merely notes.

A charming addition to the program was contributed by the Misses Cotton who have made special study of concerted work for two pianos. The two numbers they played show them to be brilliant composers, as well as patient and inspiring teachers.

The pupils of this year's class are from the various Newtons and from Watertown, Medford, Arlington, and Brookline.

THE BOY ASTRONOMER

By A. Frederick Collins, F. R. A. S.

Frontispiece from Painting by Will H. Low. One hundred seventy-five Text Illustrations and Diagrams. Price, $1.50.

"Why did not some one teach me the stars?" lamented Carlyle, realizing how much he had missed. No one need come to regret with a book like "The Boy Astronomer," available. The whole subject is clearly and accurately treated, including a great amount of general information about weather and tides. The fascinating fables of mythology so closely connected with the constellations, and so much a part of history, are entertainingly told. The author, who has written many other books, all of them successful, has just been honored by being made a Fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society at London. The many diagrams complete the best popular work on astronomy ever issued. For all readers from twelve years old upward. Lathrop, Lee & Shepard Co., Publishers.

A CURIOUS CONDITION

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. O'Malley of Commonwealth avenue have purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Vass an acre of land on Beacon street, corner of Haywood road, and fronting the Reservoir. The property is half in Boston and half in Newton. Mr. and Mrs. O'Malley will erect at once an artistic stone residence thereon, with the prospect that their family may vote in either Boston or Newton. Mr. O'Malley and his two sons, Charles D. and Louis J. have already decided when their new home is completed, to vote in Boston, while Mrs. O'Malley and her daughters are inclined to remain in Newton. Otherwise the family is unanimous on all questions.

HOOD—BAILLY

At a wedding which took place last week Tuesday at the home of the bride, at 66 Thetford avenue, Dorchester, Miss Helen Taylor Bailly was united in marriage to Clarence Kilham Hood of Newton. The bride was escorted by her sister, Miss M. Louise Bailly, and Percy A. Hood of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Vaughan Dabney, minister of the Second Church in Dorchester, of which the bride is an active member. The house was tastefully decorated with quantities of carnations, peonies, and other flowers.

ROTARY CLUB

With President William T. Halliday attending the Rotary convention in St. Louis, the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club of Newton held on Tuesday at Norumbega Park, was in charge of Vice-President George J. Martin. The club had as its guest, Mr. Charles E. Fish of Winchester, who gave an inspiring talk on "Man Power, Plus."

TAKE ALONG A BOOK

Vacation books, that is books for Newton people to take away with them during the summer season, may be borrowed at any time from the Newton Free Library or its branches. All of our 112,000 volumes, except those few issued within a year may be taken under this vacation plan. Hundreds of books were thus lent last year.

You may take as many books as your trunk will stand, or they may follow you by parcel post. We do not want you to be isolated from books during the summer vacation, for what is more dreary than to be stranded on a rainy day without a good book.

If in the stress and hurry of getting away, you have neglected to include your book supply, drop a line to the library and we will send them on. Last summer many left a small deposit at the library to cover postage charges of books ordered from time to time.

The library is ready to serve Boston residents whether they are in Newton or out of town.

SUMMER READING

Vacation time offers leisure to read those books that have a strong personal appeal, but do not essentially belong in the class of "Books That Must Be Read" either through a sense of duty or the desire to keep up with the latest. The following list of books offers quiet enjoyment, adventure, romance, and sufficient instructions to leave with the reader the surety of a well-spent vacation.

GOOD WORK

The Membership Committee of the Newton Highlands Improvement Association consisting of Mr. Ronald D. Birch, Mrs. Curtis Chipman, and Mr. Harry R. Lamphere, having doubled the membership of the Association in 1922-23 are making a drive by circular to again double the membership for 1923-24.

A decided awakening of interest in all the Village Improvement Associations is apparent and this is attributed in part to the great activities of the Newton Chamber of Commerce and the various Women's Clubs, and the gratuity of the news press of the city.

A Village Improvement Association can do a lot of good things and every one may help, not only by becoming a member but by seeing to it that all new comers to Newton be extended a cordial welcome and in the welcoming process one should not neglect to state the many fine features that are part of Newton, such as the churches, the Newton schools, the Banks, the Newton newspapers, Golf Clubs, Tennis Clubs, and the musical organizations together with one of the best managed Y. M. C. A.'s in the country.

HAS MANY FINE QUALITIES

Arabian Horse Needs Little Food or Care and Can Travel Amazing Distances Without Tiring.

It is a popular notion that the Arabian horse is a peculiarly delicate animal, most sensitive to adverse influences. Such, however, is not the case. The wants of an Arab horse are few, and it is contended that he will maintain his health and spirits under conditions that no other species of horse could endure. Indeed, it has been pointed out, not only can the Arab stand under hardships at a pinch, but that he actually deteriorates if too carefully tended. This has been proved by the experiences of European purchasers, who have refused to believe that the usual three feeds of grain a day were too much, or that the morning hour of walking exercise was too little.

As a matter of fact, an Arab horse is naturally so high spirited and so difficult to tire that even a single feed of corn is excessive until he is being subjected to hard work. He will answer every requirement as a hunter if his food be restricted to hay, or even to grass. In the summer he thrives best when he has the run of a paddock and can regulate his own food and exercise.

These observations apply also to the ordinary Arab horse in everyday life. What a picked animal can do when put upon his mettle is almost beyond belief. A British officer in the Sudan found that after a ride of 800 miles his Arab horse showed no signs of overwork, although he had cast all his shoes before a quarter of the journey had been accomplished.

NORTH COUNTRY HER CHOICE

Chicago Woman Tells of Joys of Travel in the Klondike Region—Its Cats and Dogs.

Here's a jolly note in a private letter to the editor from a Chicago lady who spent last winter and spring in the Bahamas and South Carolina, and then—"I got home with the flu baked out—no energy, so as soon as I got my clothes mended I started off again and had a glorious trip up to Dawson and an auto trip into the Klondike region. And now I am sorry I did not get on an ore boat and go out to St. Michael and over to Nome, but there will be a next time for that country, I am sure. . . . By the way—here is a natural history fact for you. All the cats in Dawson have beautifully thick fur and nicely rounded tips to their ears because they get the thin point ends frozen off in winter. I know, because I saw most of the feline population, and a black kitten told me the reason for the special style in cats' ears in Dawson. But those huskies—for the first time I have seen a finer dog than St. Bernard! Soulful eyes, and a pelt and a size to make any ordinary kloodie burst into a million pieces with envy and just as friendly as the malamutes are not. If I do not quit, I'll be weeping all over this page. I am so anxious to get back to the Klondike country—seems as if 80 degrees below wouldn't freeze me out!"

Egyptian Idea of Beauty.

The Egyptians made the most exhaustive researches into the care and preservation of the skin. Their success in arresting the decomposition of its tissues as evinced by the mummies of their pre-Christian era kings defies modern science. Just as the secret of mixing paints of the old Italian painters has never been duplicated by present-day artists and their mastery of color remains supreme, so the embalming processes of the old Egyptians died with them.

The ancient Egyptians painted their eyes with a long green line and believed very strongly in applying to the eyes mesdempt, which was considered to have the soothing and healing properties of kohl, which is still used by eastern peoples—where, incidentally, ophthalmia is very prevalent.

West Indian Women Work Hard.

In the West Indies the women carry enormous loads of bananas, oranges, yams and brown sugar, climbing mountain roads at a steady gait of four miles an hour. These women count a 40-mile walk a mere constitutional. They seem to love their tramp, and gossip along the road with as much enjoyment as many another woman finds in her Saturday night market chat.

South American coffee and cotton planters say the women and children work better than men, though their labor is rewarded with a lower wage. Women barter in fruit, vegetables and dress goods as "desk traders" on the steamships which ply between West Indian islands. In Grenada they act as blacksmiths, shepherds, carpenters and carriers.

Love Humanity More.

We do not realize how much good it does us to love animals. One who does so usually loves humanity all the better for it. We make close friends of our pets; they are a source of comfort to us such as few things in life are. They deserve memorial. Literature is full of stories of faithful pets.

Diff your ever come home tired at night and find restfulness in the purr and grace of the family cat? Have you felt more like facing the troubles of the world when your dog frisked about your heels and barked his delight in your friendship? These are signs of life. They do not stir man to evil. They draw him closer to thoughts of faith. This is worth while.—Grit.

SEIZED SWIMMER AS PREY

English Boy Compelled to Fight Off Voracious Pike That Evidently Was Hungry.

The pike is generally considered the hungriest of fish. Fish, flesh and fowl seem alike acceptable to its palate, and it does not disdain mineral products; rings, spoons and other similar articles have been frequently taken from its maw. Four English boys went to bathe in Inglemere pond, near Ascot, in England. One of them, who shall be called Tommy, walked into the water about the depth of four feet, when he spread out his hands and tried to swim. At that instant a large fish came up and took the whole hand into its mouth, but finding itself unable to swallow it relinquished its hold, and the boy, turning round, prepared for a hasty retreat. His companions saw the fish, scrambled out of the pond as fast as possible. Tommy had scarcely turned around before the fish came up behind and, seizing the other hand crosswise, inflicted some very deep wounds on the back of it. The lad raised his free hand, which was still bleeding, and struck the great fish a hard blow on the head, when it disappeared. The other boys took him to a surgeon, who dressed seven wounds in one hand, and so great was the pain the next day that the lad fainted twice. The little finger was bitten through the nail and it was more than six weeks before it was well.

INSISTED GIFTS BE BROUGHT

Powhattan Conceived It to Be Beneath
His Dignity to Go to Receive Them.

The Indian name of the sagamore or ruler who figured in the disputed story about John Smith being saved from death by Pocahontas, one of Powhattan's daughters, was "Wah-un-so-na-cook." In 1608 Captain Newport came to Virginia with a gilded crown and orders from the king of England that Powhattan be crowned and declared "Emperor of the Indies." Captain Smith was then president of the Virginia colony, and as special ambassador of the British sovereign summoned Powhattan to Jamestown to undergo the ceremony of coronation. According to the story, Powhattan with dignity refused, saying "I also am a king; and if the king of England has sent me gifts they should be brought to me. I shall not go to receive them."

Newport, it is said, carried the crown and gifts to Powhattan, but no persuasion could induce the Indian monarch to kneel to receive the crown. Only by two Englishmen bearing down heavily on his shoulders could he be brought to something like a kneeling position to receive the crown. The act finished, a pistol was fired, and was followed by a salute from the boats in York river. Powhattan ruled over 30 Indian tribes, numbering about 8,000.

Transparent Creatures.

Among the curiosities of the animal kingdom are transparent animals. Recent studies of two larval eels which belong to one of the government bureaus at Washington seem to show that among the possible advantages of being transparent is listed economy in personal decoration.

In ordinary opaque animals the color markings are symmetrical on both sides of the body, but this is not the case with the transparent eels. When looked at from one side these eels appear to have seven large black spots arranged at nearly regular intervals along the length of its body; closer examination shows that in each case three spots are on the left side and four on the right side.

They are irregularly spaced, but in such a manner that on looking through the body all seven appear in a symmetrical row.—New York Herald.

Brilliant Idea.

A good old professor of astronomy wanted to earn a little money on the side. He needed it. But his ideas about business methods were nebulous. An astute layman suggested that he advertise classes in astronomy, with a stiff enrollment fee. The professor admitted that culture might be looking up, but expressed a fear that few men would care for instruction in astronomy.

"That's all right," persisted his friend. "Plenty of married poker players would like to get out a few evenings. You advertise your classes. I'll guarantee you get a satisfactory enrollment."

Brilliant Thought.

The tourist came back enthusiastic about the beauties of the Hawaiian Islands. This one was no exception. He had a group around him and was telling all about the Hawaiian girls, how they wore grass skirts, garlands of roses and other floral articles of dress or adornment.

"And what do they wear in cold weather?"

He didn't know about that—hadn't seen any cold weather.

"I suppose in cold weather they wear furze," suggested one lady, sweetly.

Odd Work of Erosion.

Erosion has sculptured a profile of Abraham Lincoln out of the Colorado Rockies at Evergreen; Jumbo elephant at Palmer Lake, whistling swan in Flatte canyon, Mother Grundy in Clear Creek canyon, human skull on the Skyline drive at Canyon City, sphinx head near Corona, wise owls in Estes park and listening lion in the Garden of the Gods at Colorado Springs.

CANDLES ALWAYS IN DEMAND

For Excellent Reason That They Are Unfailing Emergency Light When Fuses Blow Out.

Candles, as a means of lighting, seem not only crude but impossible to us today, and yet but a generation or so ago there were no electric lights and our homes were lighted with gas. And before the days of gas lighting and oil lamps there were but candles to depend upon. And so the present-day flare for fancy candles and candlesticks is not perhaps without its foundation in a certain inherited tendency.

Anyhow candles are filling a wider need in our daily life, for with all of the newer more modern apartments equipped exclusively with electric lights and with the gas jets of the older houses sawed off and plugged there remains but one thing in an emergency should a fuse blow out and leave us in darkness—the oldtime tried candle of our forefathers.

"That is the main reason for the popularity of the candle in the decorative scheme of today," said a hostess. "It is simply that people have to keep them on hand for emergencies."

"There are people who desire a less harsh light and who sometimes switch off the electric lights that they may bask in the mellow softness of the candlelight parties. Candles as a decoration may go out of style, but candles for the purpose of giving light will always be with us."

BIG CITY'S FASHIONABLE DOGS

Different Localities Have Their Favorites, and the Styles Seem to Come and Go.

With any small boy color, style, markings, breed, count for naught. With him the dog's the thing, and any pup that runs on four feet and is willing to come to the call of Pete or Rags or Dusty fills the bill. Not so his fashionable sisters.

Some years ago Boston bulls were the favored, says the New York Sun. Then came Alredes. Now, they say, wire-haired terriers are the only stylish members of dogdom. Well, it's a short life and a pampered one on Park avenue and Fifth.

But go a bit east, over where the buildings are referred to as tenements. Go a bit north, and then stroll over west, always keeping away from "apartments." In tenement land man's four-footed friend is much in evidence. But apparently the dog lover in these quarters follows some mysterious fashion, too. It is always the same kind of dog that is to be seen. So alike are they that it is hard to realize that the one noticed a minute ago is not the one now being looked at. Always a small, curly-haired poodle, color originally white, but a winter of soft-coat furnaces leaves an indelible mark.

Voices of the Ice.

The winter of the Far North is not wholly silent, although so little life is manifest at that season. The testimony offered by an American explorer makes this fact very clear.

All movements of the ice—the gradual crowding and pressing, bending and pushing, the breaking of masses of snow lying at the "ice foot"—do not proceed noiselessly, but are generally accompanied by certain sounds which are called the voices of the ice.

Now one hears a low, singing, spashing or grumbling, alternating with various other noises, cracking and snapping; now it sounds irregularly from a great distance, like a confusion of human voices, the clanging din of a train or a sledging party; or you fancy you can hear the steps and voices of all sorts of animals.

There is, it is said, a charm in listening to those sounds on a still night.—Washington Star.

Alas for Fame!

Here are two good examples of English knowledge of America, taken from a small book of essays edited by Blackwell and Makower, published by the Oxford Press, and intended for use in English high schools and colleges:

"The literary societies in American colleges are often termed Phi Beta Kappa, the initials of their Greek motto."

"Cape Cod—the name given to the whole peninsula—about 65 miles long—ends in the promontory of the same name. It forms part of the state of Massachusetts, which justly claims to be the chief home of letters in the States."—Correspondent in the New York Evening Post.

Not Exactly Piety.

Young Albert was usually a source of much annoyance to his mother during the morning service. But this morning she was filled with pride at her young hopeful's attitude as she saw him sitting with clasped hands and bowed head throughout a particularly long prayer. When they were returning home mother expressed her appreciation of his pious manner of attendance, whereupon the lad's face lighted up as he chuckled:

"That fly walked in and 'at of my hands exactly 259 times."

Odd Disposition of Dead.

Natives of the Solomon Islands elevate their dead on pedestals. The more respected the departed the more elaborate is his bier. The superstitious natives believe that every person has a ghost that will be as active in worldly affairs as was the corporeal object before death. Sometimes the native dead are cremated. Gifts of food are placed near by. It is "taboo" to pass behind these burial platforms.

SEARS-THURSTON

There was a pretty home wedding last Saturday evening, June 16th, at the home of Mrs. Charles Thurston, 25 Central street, Auburndale, when her daughter, Miss Harriet B. Thurston became the wife of Mr. Leslie R. Sears of Needham. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fred W. Peakes of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church of West Newton. The bride looked charming in a gown of white chiffon with a veil fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms. The bridesmaid, Miss Grace Milton of Mattapan was dressed in pink satin of quaint design. The best man was William Sears, a brother of the groom. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. Fred W. Thurston, who came from Los Angeles, Cal. The relatives and friends present included besides another uncle from Quebec, many from the Newtons, Needhams, and the Cape. The presents were many and beautiful. After a trip by auto to the White Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Sears will reside in Needham.

WISDOM FROM ANCIENT SAGE

Egyptian Knew Whereof He Spoke, and His Words Are Worth Keeping in Remembrance Today.

Long centuries before Tut-Ankh-Amen ruled as Pharaoh in the land of the Nile, a certain Ptah Hotep served his king, Itose, in the capacity of vizier. Very little is known about this ancient statesman-philosopher beyond the fact that, like all fond parents since the world began, he exercised his paternal prerogative by giving unsought advice to his son.

Dr. James Walsh of Fordham university has called attention to the vizier's letters to his boy, written apparently about 5,300 years ago, and preserved in what is claimed by some to be the oldest book in the world. The burden of one epistle seems to have been not unlike the oft-quoted advice of Shakespeare's Polonius of a much later day—"Beware of entrance to a quarrel." Other words of Hotep were: "Don't argue with your superiors; it does not do any good. Don't argue with your equals; make a plain statement and let it go at that. Don't argue with your inferiors; let them talk and they will make fools of themselves."

WAR IN IRREGULAR MANNER

Guerrillas Have Never Been Recognized as Part of the Armed Forces in a Controversy.

The term guerrilla is applied to armed bands who, on the occasion of foreign invasion or civil war, carry on an irregular warfare on their own account. This class of fighters belongs particularly to Spain, where from 1808 to 1814 they were systematically organized against the French, whose operations they very seriously embarrassed. The country itself also suffered from them. Many of them, particularly Mina's band, joined Wellington, and, after having undergone a course of discipline, rendered signal service as regular troops. On the conclusion of peace large numbers were organized into robber bands. In most of the civil wars of Spain since 1820, guerrilla warfare, especially in the Basque provinces, played a prominent part. In the Civil war of the United States, bands of guerrillas committed depredations on both Federals and Confederates.

Remarkable Oak Grove.

A member of the forestry service states that near Champaign, Ill., there exists an isolated oak grove, about three miles long by one mile broad, and that this is indeed a peculiar phenomenon. It is known as Burr Oak grove and is surrounded on all sides by open prairie, being situated at a considerable distance from the nearest stream, whereas all the other forest tracts in central Illinois lie along the larger water courses. It is believed from the character of the trees in the grove that it "migrated" into its position, from the northeast. It lies on a large glacial moraine, formerly, it is believed, covered with similar trees, and has been protected from forest fires, which have destroyed the remainder of the wooded area, by the water standing in the low grounds scattered throughout the grove.—Washington Star.

Skunk Cabbage Has Its Uses.

The skunk cabbage, although its blossom has, as its name implies, an extremely unpleasant, malodorous scent, is, nevertheless, a flower.

Despite the fact that the skunk cabbage is despised by most flower lovers, it nevertheless plays a somewhat important part in nature's wonderful scheme. With the earliest days that have a suspicion of spring warmth the bees commence to leave the nooks and crannies where they have been hibernating through the long winter months, and start out in search of that which they are most in need of—food. This, were it not for our lowly swamp dweller, they would be unable to find, says Nature Magazine, and they would all perish miserably of starvation long before another flower could supply them with the needed food.

Gottland "Pearl of Baltic."

The saga relates that the discoverer, and first settler on the Isle of Gottland, was a man named Thjelvar. From the same source one learns that the island was then in such an unstable condition that it was submerged in the daytime, and rose to the surface at night, but Thjelvar exterminated with fire the trolls and evil spirits that infested it, and never since that time have the waters broken over "the Pearl of the Baltic." In later years, the early Middle ages, Gottland was indeed a power to be reckoned with, and it is the combination of ancient fairy lore and an interesting historical past that makes the island so attractive and a favorite spot for tourists intent on exploring strange ground.

Worthy of Her Great Brother.

Betty Washington Lewis is pictured as more than a sister to the Father of his country. She was "counselor, comforter, advisor and friend," according to Virginia authority. Her husband, Col. Fielding Lewis, a man of means and position socially and politically, gave his sword to his country, not alone, but sacrificed his fortune to supply the needs of soldiers.

Within the beautiful walls of Kenmore, some of the decorations of which Washington is said to have planned for his sister, were frequently assembled the military and civic personages of the period.

HOLD A MIDNIGHT SESSION

Aldermen Have a Long List of Hearings at Last Regular Meeting Before Vacation

The aldermen had the longest docket for the season last Monday night and with the inevitable recess for committee meetings, agumented this time with a substantial lunch, adjournment was not reached until nearly one o'clock Tuesday morning. There were 36 hearings listed on the docket and President Hollis is to be commended for the speed with which he put the business through, about three quarters of an hour being used in this fashion.

Alderman Grebenstein was the only member absent although some members left before adjournment was reached.

No one appeared at hearings for Edison and telephone poles on Newtonville avenue, Pembroke street, Algonquin road, Fairmont avenue, Knowles street, Locke road, Kirkstall road, and Aberdeen street and these petitions were all granted.

E. E. Person appeared in favor of his petition to enlarge the filling station on Watertown street, West Newton. Mr. Henry C. Robbins spoke in favor of the petition of the Waban

THE TELEPHONE STRIKE

The principal topic of discussion this week has been the strike of the telephone operators—a strike which has only been a source of annoyance to the public, and which is evidently doomed to complete failure.

The three Newton exchanges, Newton North, West Newton and Centre Newton were among the hardest hit of any in the Metropolitan district and even here, the Company has been able to maintain a partial service every day and has been giving gradually improved service each day since Tuesday, the first day of the strike.

4TH OF JULY PROGRAMS

Independence Day, July 4th, will be suitably celebrated in Newton Centre this year, by a ball game, field sports, a band concert by the Newton Constabulary Band and fireworks on the Newton Centre Playground, under the auspices of the Newton Centre Improvement Association.

The first event scheduled for the day, is a ball game at 3:00 P. M., between the Algonquins and another team to be announced later.

FRANK A. DAY CAMP

The 8th season at Camp Frank A. Day, East Brookfield, opens today with the largest attendance in the history of the camp. Three new tents have been added but are not sufficient to take care of all the boys who would like to attend. The camp was entirely filled in March and many were disappointed.

Again Camp will be under the leadership of Mr. Charles C. Noble, who will have as his assistants, Clyde G. Hess, the Boys' Secretary of the Newton Y. M. C. A., and Alfred Stafford of Harvard University. Wilmot C. Townsend, Amherst '21, Harvard Medical '25, will be the Camp Doctor.

The Home Woman's Financial Affairs

Since women are primarily occupied with home duties many of them are inexperienced in regard to investments and the care of property. That is where an institution like the Newton Trust Company can help them. We are fully prepared to manage the property of persons who, on account of other interests, poor health, or inexperience, do not care to look after it themselves.

Come in and talk with our officers or write for fuller information concerning our services in managing property under the terms of a written agreement. This will place you under no obligation to employ us.

$60,000,000,000

WORTH

of LOVE and UNSELFISHNESS

Sixty billions of dollars of protection for loved ones has been voluntarily provided by the men of these United States through fraternal orders and old line life insurance companies.

Bought in many cases at a great personal sacrifice and with the highest type of unselfishness that those they love may find life alone less hard.

$60,000,000,000! What a measure of the unselfish desire of these men—

To provide for a family with heads erect because all bills are paid.

To provide a home freed from a mortgage.

To provide an adequate present day education so that the boy or girl can have a better chance than Dad and Mother had.

To provide the dollars equal to the weekly pay envelope for one or two years until the family can adjust themselves to new conditions.

To provide the partner who has cheered and encouraged in the struggle of life with a sure monthly income for her sunset days.

There are doubtless hundreds in Newton who would like to show their love and unselfishness in the same way, but fear they would not meet the physical test. To those, I would say that several sound companies now classify physical conditions as well as occupation, and it is worth while for them to see what is now offered.

I SHOULD PRIZE THE OPPORTUNITY TO SHOW YOU

There are many thousands more in this City of Newton who would like to show their unselfishness if they knew the many ways in which the proceeds of the policies are now guarded so that they may be absolutely certain their specific wishes shall be carried out.

MAY I TELL YOU OF THE WAYS?

To The Public

We have already published statements as to the wages and working conditions of our telephone operators.

The proof of these statements is to be found in the way the operators have continued in the service.

In organizations fairly comparable with ours, a labor turn-over of less than 50% per year is considered good. By labor "turnover" is meant the number of people hired to replace those who for any reason have left.

Henry Ford points with pride to a labor turnover in his automobile plant of from 3 to 6% per month; in other words, from 36 to 72% per year.

In manufacturing industries in general, a turnover of less than 100% per year is considered satisfactory.

In our company in 1922 the turnover among women employees in our central offices was less than 16% for the year.

And of those who left, less than 1% left for the purpose of seeking other employment.

We submit these facts without argument.

Your Bedroom

THE room where you enjoy your rest is the one room in which the Right Light helps you to be most comfortable. Electric fans for the hot weather, warming-pads and glowing heaters for chilly nights, curling-irons, and all the other electrical conveniences supplement the first great comfort of proper light.

And it's so easy to obtain:

1. Use 50-watt or 75-watt lamps in the ceiling fixture, or the light hanging over the chiffonier.
2. Use 50-watt Mazda lamps in the side lights at your dressing-table, shaded to give you all possible light without glare.
3. And for the great comfort of reading in bed—use 40-watt or 50-watt all-frosted Mazda lamps in the bedside or portable lamp.

Every bedroom can have the Right Light if you just call your own electrician for estimates, or for help in getting them.

HALE-SAGENDORPH

The Church of the Redeemer at Chestnut Hill was the scene last Saturday afternoon of the wedding of Miss Marian Bradford Sagendorph, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sagendorph of Heath street, Chestnut Hill, and Roger Drake Hale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Hale of West Newton.

The maid of honor was Miss Joan Barton of Chestnut Hill, and the other attendants were Miss Rosamond Reed and Miss Marcia Hopkins, both of Chestnut Hill, Miss Gwendolyn Hart of Boston, Miss Ruth Nelson of West Newton, Miss Cecelia Gifford of Manchester, and Miss Marian Auferman of New York. The two little sisters of the bride, Beth and Joan Sagendorph were flower girls.

The bride wore a gown of white satin covered with lace, and her veil was of tulle. Her attendants wore orchid and pink georgette crepe gowns with picture hats to match, and carried pink cosmos.

Robert Thayer of Boston was best man, and Charles Thayer, Ronald Cordley, Charles Purdy, John Reed, Alfred Hinkley and Robt. Hansell Sagendorph, brother of the bride, were ushers.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Heath street immediately following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Hale will spend their honeymoon abroad, and next winter will live in Lowell.

The bride is a graduate of Westover School and a member of the Junior League, and the groom graduated this June from Harvard College.

SMITH-FRANEY

Miss Margaret Franey, daughter of John Franey of 16 Melrose street, Auburndale, was married Wednesday morning at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, to Louis M. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Smith of 576 Main street, Woburn.

A nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. T. P. McManmon, who also performed the wedding ceremony. Miss Franey was attended by her sister, Miss "B" Franey and Hubert Smith was best man.

Miss Franey made a charming picture in ivory satin. Her tulle veil was caught up with orange blossoms and she carried roses and lilies of the valley. Miss "B" Franey wore orchid georgette with hat to match and carried orchid sweet peas.

The ushers were John McGrath and Joseph Hurley. John Henley played the wedding march and Miss Frances Costella was soloist.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Copley Square Hotel, Boston, after which Mr. and Mrs. Smith left on an extended tour of Canada. On their return they will reside in Woburn. Mr. Smith is a graduate of St. John's Preparatory School, Danvers and Holy Cross College and is a member of the firm of Youlden, Smith and Hopkins. Miss Franey attended the Newton school and is a graduate of Newton High School.

WALLACE-BEMIS

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Burrage at "The Warren" Washington street, Newton, on Wednesday, Miss Mabel L. Bemis of South Natick, became the bride of Mr. James A. Wallace of Somerville. Mrs. T. F. Linehan, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor and Mr. Frank Bemis, brother of the bride, the best man. Rev. Chester A. Drummond of Channing Church was the officiating clergyman. The bride was dressed in grey satin and georgette with hat to match, and the groom in blue crepe with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace are to live in Somerville.

EDITORIAL

Public sentiment is wholly opposed to the pending strike of the telephone operators and the girls have little to gain by continuing an attitude which will in the long run lead to drastic action to prevent the recurrence of the annoyance and inconveniences which have been experienced this week. The Company has put its case fully and frankly before the public and has maintained a sensible attitude throughout. The strike was wholly ill-advised, was apparently prompted by one woman just to show her authority, and was doomed to failure from the very beginning.

Newton taxpayers ought to be interested in the recent laying of a granolithic sidewalk on the south side of Washington street, between Centre place and Richardson street at an estimated cost of $1074. This sidewalk is along side of the parking space constructed last year at a cost of $8000 and both the parking space and the sidewalk are wholly unnecessary.

A little precaution and some supervision over the plans of youthful America would insure a safe and sane celebration of the Fourth of July. Every parent can render valuable aid in this direction.

Robert Adair for the Brackett estate called attention to the methods by which land had been taken and damages awarded for the recent widening of Centre place and the drive to the railroad station at Newton.

Alderman Ross called attention to the favorable report on petition of Annette V. Bryson for a garage on Madison avenue, and said that to grant this petition would lead to litigation between Miss Bryson and her neighbor who opposes this permit. He failed to impress the board, however, and the permit was granted, together with that of J. J. Fitzpatrick for a garage on Williston road.

Alderman Ross called attention to the fact that the statute providing for a public hearing on the present petition of J. V. Monaghan's Sons for a gasoline station on Auburn and Washington streets, had not been complied with and the hearing was ordered thereon, after Alderman Weeks had stated that this matter had been before the board for two years and should have immediate action.

Leave to withdraw was granted on petitions of V. D'Angelo for a garage permit, C. S. Hammond for a garage permit; Colonial Filling Stations, Inc., for a gasoline permit on Fuller street; S. Pitterino for a victualler license; and for modification of Zoning lines on Norwood avenue.

A hearing was assigned for July 2d, on the removal of Harold C. Hoyt for conduct unbecoming a police officer.

The Finance committee reported next city government on the item of $3046 for improvement of Centre Green, Alderman N. F. Pratt protested against this action saying that the city was committed to this work and there had been a delay of a year already. Alderman White said the committee was not prejudiced against the matter but in view of the financial situation the city treasury must be protected. Alderman G. W. Pratt said that it was the duty of the board to refrain from all but the most necessary appropriations until after the tax rate had been declared.

There was a little scrap between Aldermen White and Young over the matter of curbing on Cummings road. Alderman Young sought to expedite the order by asking that the rules requiring the Finance committee to act be suspended. Alderman White refused to suspend the rule.

Kenmore street, Garden road and Manomet road, were ordered laid out as public streets, sewers were ordered in Decatur street, Lathrop street, Monadnock road, and Evergreen avenue, water mains authorized in certain streets, land damages awarded on account of the Walker street building line, and on account of the Davis schoolhouse, workmen's compensation noted Patrick J. McHugh and William Fessenden, $13,000 voted for collection of garbage, $20,000 voted for Street Improvement bonds, Soldiers relief granted Emma L. Moulton, $25,000 voted for work on the Newtonville drain, sidewalks ordered laid on Linwood avenue, $21,355 voted for electric lighting in the Classical High and $7362 for electric lighting in the Mason school.

Hearings were ordered on laying out of roads in the Wauwinet Farm district, for sewer in Oakland avenue and Evergreen avenue and on changing zoning districts on Commonwealth avenue, Central street, Rowe street, and Washington street.

An invitation was received from the City Hall employees to attend the annual outing on June 29th.

The board adjourned at 12.45 A. M.

LINK WITH HISTORIC PAST

"Spear Thrower," Relic of Early America, Indicates Common Culture in the Country.

A "spear thrower" or "throwing stick," found among the implements of the prehistoric people of America in caves in the Ozark mountains in Missouri and Arkansas, may be an important aid in lifting the mystery which enshrouds the ancient cultures of the American continents. The throwing stick is the only article so far unearthed which furnishes any connection between these people and others which have existed on this continent. The weapon is extremely simple, consisting of a round or flat stick one to two inches in diameter and about 18 inches long, notched at one end and perforated at the other, with sometimes one, sometimes two holes. Into these holes the prehistoric man thrust his fingers, affixed his short-shafted stone-headed dart to the notched end, raised the stick over his shoulder, and by means of a quick, jerking movement of the arm hurled the dart at enemy or game.

Close adaptations of the weapon are found among the ruins of prehistoric American civilization extending from Peru far north beyond the Arctic circle. The weapon seems to have been universal to all climes of the western hemisphere and to all periods, even down to the present day, when it is still in use among the Eskimos of the Arctic, and the Tarascan Indians in the Patzcuaro lake region of Mexico. It furnishes a possible missing link between the prehistoric civilization of the western half of the continent and those of the extreme East.

LAW NOT STEVENSON'S FORTE

Popular Writer Was an Advocate by Profession, but Early Abandoned the Occupation.

Robert Louis Stevenson, the famous Scottish novelist and essayist, was an advocate by profession—member of the Scottish bar—but he never practiced. He hated the law—or at least the practice of it—and abandoned it for literature as quickly as he could. At the bar in Edinburgh, Lord Shaw of Dunfermline (then Mr. Thomas Shaw, advocate) had an interesting view of Stevenson as an advocate. He writes: "I remember seeing him, with his very white wig and his glossy dark hair, his complexion of an ivory pallor, and his gleaming dark eyes. A few days after Stevenson went to the bar he had got a guinea, sent to him with 'instructions.' His sole duty was to ask the judge for intimation and service of a petition of the party against whom it was directed. All he had to do was to stand up at the bar and utter three words interrogatively: 'Intimation and service?' But he was a mass of nerves, and these three words he could not utter, and he besought his friend to go into court and make the little motion for him. I never heard of his earning another guinea as an advocate."

Mirage in History.

A mirage is an optical illusion, by which images of distant objects are seen often as if inverted, below the ground or raised in the atmosphere. It is frequently observed on the western plains of Canada and the United States. "The phenomenon is best observed in the Egyptian or other deserts, and the inverted images so much resemble these made in water as to create the illusion that a lake is really near. The mirage was known in ancient Jewish times. It is mentioned in Isaiah 35:7: "And the parched ground shall become a pool and the thirsty land springs of water." The Fata Morgana, what sailors call the "looming," the Flying Dutchman, the Enchanted Island, Cape Flyaway, etc., are all produced by the mirage.

Mirage in History.

A countryman was in charge of a couple of live hares, which he was conveying by rail. He had to change at a station and wait some time. To pass the time he took the basket in which the hares were confined outside the station and put it down in the road. The lid had been tied down loosely, and one of the hares managed to get out. The man rushed after it, but all to no purpose; and just as he got back the other hare jumped out and ran away in the opposite direction. The countryman made no attempt to follow, but, pointing first one way and then the other, said: "Do you go there and do you go there if you like. I've got the tickets."

Sheep's Important Place in World.

One man alone could not look after a whole flock, so the first shepherd called in others, who lived in scattered huts or in caves, far apart, to assist him, offering in return a share of the wool and the meat that were now so easy to obtain. And so at the edge of the pastures the first villages grew up. Thanks, largely to sheep, human society came into being, and with it came laws and customs for the benefit of the little community.

The next tremendous step was the discovery of how to spin wool into yarn and weave yarn into cloth, which paved the way for manufactures and commerce.

"No, a woman who can laugh at a joke without seeing the point."—Boston Transcript.

These Homes

are the Best Value for the Money in NEWTON today

11 Hamlin Road

The location, construction, plans and prices of these homes of distinction will appeal to you. Come out Sunday or any week day and inspect these houses now being finished on Hamlin Road between Cedar and Morton streets, just off Commonwealth avenue.

Built of the best materials, by skilled workmen, priced 10 to 15% below present replacement value, as all materials were contracted for at last year's prices, we repeat—These homes are the best values for the money in the Newtons today.

Each home has seven to eight rooms and garage, lot fully graded and seeded, and contains many features one rarely expects to find except in houses built to order. Completely equipped tiled bath rooms, parquette oak floors of the best quality, cedar lined closets, full sized French bevel plate glass mirrored doors, built-in book-cases with mirrored backs; living room and dining room paneled in mahogany, or figured gumwood, are among the many attractive features which make these homes distinctive and different, at prices no higher than the cheapest speculative houses built.

The neighborhood is of the best, being restricted to single houses only, and property values in this particular section are increasing in value faster than any other district in Newton.

Liberal mortgages placed by the most conservative banks in Massachusetts who based their valuation on the construction of these homes give the prospective buyer an opportunity to own a real home at a very moderate investment.

Fifteen years' experience building homes to order are back of these houses. Come out Sunday or any week day and judge for yourself.

'NO ESCAPE FOR THE SEAL

Once Hooked by Eskimo Hunter, There Is No Way by Which He Can Get Away.

An Eskimo, when once he has gone to the trouble of splicing a fine spear handle, does not wish to break it, so the point is put on with a tangle or joint.

When a seal or walrus is harpooned the sudden struggle of the animal does not break the spear, but merely unjoins the point, and the more the animal struggles the more the point turns crosswise in the wound and the firmer the barbs take hold.

But the animal cannot escape, for with thongs of skin the point is connected with the spear shaft. The animal merely swims away or dives deep into the sea, carrying with him the spear. The long leather thong which is attached to it uncoils from the deck of the kayak and pays out. It carries with it a drag like a kite, which retards the animal and exhausts him, but does not pull hard enough to break the line. Even this drag is made of skin stretched over a spliced frame-work.

When the line is all played out it is seen to be attached to a float, which is also carried on the deck of the boat. This is made of an inflated skin. It has plugs and attachments of cleverly carved ivory, for wood is far too precious to be used in this land of ivory so far from the forests.

The float serves as a buoy so that the Eskimo can follow the animal and find it after it gives up its struggle and dies. Then, too, the float keeps the catch from sinking and being lost in the ocean's depths.

MUST BE FREAK OR FOSSIL

Discovery in the Nevada Mountains Has Split the World's Scientists Into Two Camps.

A stone form exactly resembling the leather sole of a shoe, was found in the Nevada mountains. Geologists, paleontologists and other scientific men were astounded with the specimen's similarity to a shoe, but none would accept it as anything but a freak of nature. This strange fossil or freak, was found imbedded in a mass of Triassic rock, which is considered by scientists to be from 100,000,000 to 300,000,000 years old. By those who consider it a freak rather than a fossil it has been pronounced one of the most remarkable natural imitations of an artificial object ever discovered by man.

Microphotographs of the fossil reveal very clearly the holes punched in the sole for stitching, and even the twist of the thread used in the welt is plainly shown. Its warp is brought out in unmistakable prominence. In every respect it duplicates the exact process which takes place in a worn shoe. These facts would seem to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that it is the fossil of a real shoe, and that it was done by the hand of man. The upshot of the matter leads to one of these two scientific facts: Either man has lived on the earth three or four times as long as has hitherto been supposed, or geologists are badly mistaken in the age of the Triassic rocks in Nevada.

Recent Australian Discoveries.

Recent explorations in the very center of Australia have resulted in the discovery of a hitherto unknown fresh water lake. During the rainy season it has a circumference of 20 miles. The surface was described as "a moving mass of ducks." At Alice Springs in the MacDonnell range, where settlements have already been made many miles beyond the terminus of the railway, the climate in July and early August is described as ideal. There are frosts at night and sometimes ice in the morning. Fruits and vegetables are excellent and surprisingly prolific. "The white children of the pioneers in this remote district look like English children, and the adults are pictures of health"—at least in the eyes of Australia's enthusiastic explorers.—Living Age.

Fine Silks and Linens.

The mother country of linen is Egypt, and linen tapestries were embroidered in that land 4,000 years ago. Because it can be bleached to snowy whiteness it was known as the symbol of purity. It was used for sacred vestments and was sometimes so fine and delicate that it was worth twice its weight in gold.

Certain authorities state that the reference made to silk in the Bible is a mistake of the translators, since it does not occur in the original. The cultivation of the silkworm in Europe was known 530 B. C., but the Chinese knew about it centuries before that date, for the making of it was begun by Siling, wife of an emperor 2600 B. C.

Rhubarb Valued as Tonic.

Rhubarb, which seems to have no romance, has a history. It was brought into England in 1573 from the Volga, but for two centuries it remained a gardener's curiosity, so that its use as an article of food is of comparatively recent origin. In 1810, when a Deptford market gardener sent a few stalks to London he was unable to find customers for it. However, the use and cultivation of the plant made rapid progress from that time forward. It was brought to this country from England. Rhubarb is valuable not only for its mineral content and its acid, but for its flavor, and is therefore much in favor as a fine spring tonic.

—Many persons passing the residence of Captain John Ryan of 29 Auburndale avenue have asked the reason for his flag being at half mast, June 25-26 marked the forty-seventh anniversary of one of the fiercest battles in American history. The 7th United States Cavalry numbering a little over 699 men under the command of Gen. George A. Custer, engaged the Indians under Chief Sitting Bull, Chief Gall and Crazy Horse in what is known as the Battle of the Little Big Horn or the Custer Massacre. Two hundred and sixty-one Americans were killed and eighty died wounded. The Americans also suffered the loss of their brave general. Captain Ryan's company of 45 men and 45 horses lost one second Lieutenant and 14 enlisted men, and their horses were either killed or disabled so that all but nine had to be shot. This is the reason for Capt. Ryan's flag at half mast.

DIED

WISEMAN—Suddenly, at Boothbay Harbor, Maine, on June 29, Gwendolyn Lowe Wiseman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Fred M. Lowe and wife of Mark Huntington Wiseman of New York City. Services on Sunday, July 1, at 3 P. M., at the residence of Dr. Lowe, Washington street, West Newton.

Encourage Child to Talk.

The child who talks well is the child who has something to say. Let him tell stories, seeing to it that he distinguishes fact from fancy. Total repression, at the table, for instance, might profitably give way to an intelligent conversation in which the child takes an active part. Draw out the incidents of his daily life in his own words. By narrating them he gains practice in the use of language. At the same time his past experiences are being reinforced, and not only will they be better remembered but in a more useful form. If an arm is not exercised, it will weaken and wither. Mental associations are strengthened by usage; they weaken and fade through disuse. It is well, that the mental paths, so to speak, be kept clean and in good operating condition.—Daniel A. Laird in the Yale Review.

TELEPHONE STRIKE

The various exchanges have been picketed by the strikers beginning at midnight Monday, but there has been little friction, as the police have had the situation well in hand at all times.

At Newton North Tuesday morning only 6 operators reported for duty. Centre Newton had but one operator in addition to the chief operator and West Newton had three. A bit of humor was injected into the Centre Newton situation by tying a piece of black crepe on the door of the exchange.

Conditions gradually improved as the Company placed new operators, and were assisted by former operators who had left the employ previous to the strike.

Today, while there is some delay in replying to calls, the service can be called fairly normal.

At Newton Centre, the home of President Matt B. Jones of the Telephone Company, Mrs. Jones took charge of the luncheon arrangements, Miss Catherine Jones worked on a switchboard and the two sons ran automobiles for the use of the loyal operators.

A wrong impression has been given the Newton situation by the Boston papers, in that the total number of operators employed in the various exchanges has been mentioned without stating that this number covers the entire 24 hours of the day, so that a wrong comparison is made when it is reported that a small number are actually at work.

The comparison should be made with the actual number on duty at one time.

AMERICAN MEN OF LETTERS

Writers of Note Have Not Been Accorded Proper Recognition by Acknowledged English Authority.

When John Morley started the "English Men of Letters" series in 1878 he did not include an American author excepting Hawthorne; not even Emerson, for whom he was later to express his high regard. And it is characteristic of the difference between the American point of view and the British that all the volumes of the "English Men of Letters" series were issued in the United States, while only two or three of the corresponding "American Men of Letters" series were issued in Great Britain.

We are interested in their authors and they are not interested in ours, or at least such interest as they may have in ours is sporadic and intermittent, accidental and uncertain. I know only one British history of the literature of the English language which pays any attention to the American contributors to that literature. This sole exception is the brilliant book by Andrew Lang; and I have reason to believe that he gave adequate consideration to Irving and Cooper, Emerson and Hawthorne, Longfellow and Lowell, Holmes and Poe, only because I urged him to do so.—From "Some Trans-Atlantic Perspectives," Brander Matthews.

EMBODY TRUTH IN SPEECH

Spaniards Have Aphorisms Which Are in Many Respects the Supreme Words of Wisdom.

The traveler in Spain frequently comes across some very quaint but wise expressions and sayings, for many of which we have no equivalent in our own language.

For instance, there is the popular domestic saying in Spain that "a smoky house, a leaky roof and a scolding wife drive a man from home."

A Spaniard often sums up another's character with the remark that "he is like a collier's sack, bad outside, worse inside." They are particularly fond of sayings relating to love and money matters, as the following expressions show: "Love, grief and money cannot be concealed," and "he who tries to get rich in a year will hang in six months." This latter proverb is evidently meant as a kindly warning to business men.

Not being particularly silent themselves, the Spaniards like using the expression, "beware of silent men and dogs that don't bark." Yet they have another expression which seems directly to contradict this, for it says, "speak little and well and you will be considered as some one."

Finally one might quote the old Spanish recipe for true happiness: "Enjoy your little, while the fool seeks more."

Little Known Game Bird.

The francolin is a game bird related to the partridge. There are 40 or more species, most of which are found in Africa. The coloration of all species is rich and varied, and the plumage of both sexes is practically alike. Francolins travel in family parties, rather than in convoys, and fly swiftly and heavily. They feed in the morning and at evening, at which time they utter loud and shrill cries. Their food consists of insects, berries, seeds and bulbs. Their nests are well concealed and resemble those of partridges.

Six to fourteen eggs are laid in the fall and spring. The eggs are brown and buff in color, with small, dark spots. The francolin once abundant in southern Europe, but is now extinct there.

Got His Berries Easily.

Two neighbor girls and I went black-berrying. It was a very warm day and we worked hard, getting our pails full. The berries were fine, so we carefully hid our picked berries under the bushes and filled other pails. When we came to get our first berries we found that someone had emptied our pails and taken our berries—who, we did not know. A few months later the man who had stolen them told the girls' brother how he had found black-berries hidden under the bushes in a certain grove and that he thought it such an easy way to get berries that he didn't stop to pick any others.—Chicago Journal.

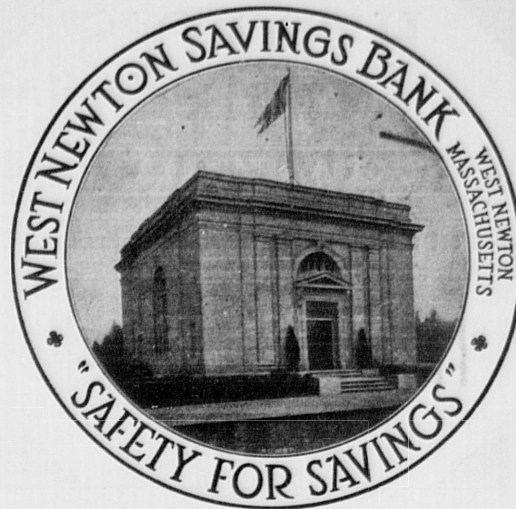

Avoid Habit of Worrying.

Worry is a form of friction. The task of the expert in life is to run his machine with the maximum of activity and the minimum of friction. If he stops or slows the machine, because he cannot otherwise deal with the friction, then life has beaten him. The general human tendency is to stop friction by partially stopping the machine—especially after what is loosely called "success" has been attained. Real success in life is the full smooth-running exploitation of the whole machine with daily satisfaction to the mechanic. And nothing else is real success in life.—Arnold Bennett.

Their Good Quality.

A new governor was about to be sworn in and had invited some friends from his home town to witness the ceremony. They were plain people he had known in his youth. A pert miss who knew the successful candidate intimated that his friends were not very smart looking.

"They are a few old friends," responded the governor. "Just a few tried and true old friends. They may not wear so much paint, but they'll wash."

HIG HSCHOOL BOYS WIN

Abbott Gotshall of Newton high school won nothing more than a club title when he turned back his teammate, Donald Martin, in the junior singles Wednesday on the Chestnut Hill courts of the Longwood Cricket Club, but his remarkable playing will place him in a champion's seat sooner than many expect if it is continued. For pure nerve and fight his exhibition never was bettered anywhere.

Facing certain defeat at least three times in his journey to the crown, he just refused to be beaten and pulled out the title after his opponent had taken the first two sets. The final tally, 4-6, 3-5, 6-3, 8-4, and 7-5, indicates more graphically than any words the nature of the battle. If there are any more courageous playing tennis today than this little Gotshall, they still have to put in an appearance.

Henry L. Johnson Jr.'s defeat of William D. Wood, Jr., in the boys' singles, and the victory of Al Turner and Donald Martin in the senior doubles made the final round a Newton high school field day.

It took two hours and a half to settle the junior crown. Martin ought to have won. If one considers ability and strokes he seems to be more qualified than Gotshall. Martin has more experience. He has plenty of form. In fact he seemed to carry too much of the latter and trying to get all he had on every stroke proved his undoing.

Starting in like a race horse he won the first set by a 6-4 margin, and had an easier time in the second with a 6-3 advantage. Every one thought it was all over for Gotshall but they neglected to consider the steadiness of the little southpaw. Keeping his head, never giving up, he began to function when his opponent started to tire.

By lobbing, by placing soft shots just out of reach of his rival, Gotshall opened a defence that became an attack before the third set was half drawn, finally whipping Martin in a 6-3 rally. In the fourth set Martin came back strong enough to gain a 3 to 1 advantage, but could not hold his lead, finally yielding to the steadiness of his rival, 6-4. The last set was a thriller, going to 12 games before Gotshall pulled out a 7 to 5 verdict. His forehead and ground game were fine, but his head work was the best in the picture.

Johnson, just eligible for the boys' division, had quite a time whipping 13-year-old Billy Wood of Milton Academy in straight sets for the singles crown.

BE A ROAD SMILER

"Be a road smiler" is the latest safety bulletin of the Hoosier Auto Association, the state-wide association of automobile owners, with which the Hoosier Motor Club of this city is affiliated.

"Be a road smiler—leave the grunts and growls to the four-footed hoofs!" says the motor organization, which is seeking to make the highways of Indiana safe for travel at all times.

"Isn't it a real pleasure, doesn't it do you a world of good," the auto association asks, "to meet up with some real good-humored folk while out on the road?"

"And, by the same token, have you noticed how scarce these good folk are?" the statement continues. "This is utterly wrong in spirit, as all of us must admit when pinned right down to brass tacks. Motoring should be a delightful adventure instead of a mad, jostling, hogging and growling dash to get from here to yonder and always trying to beat the other fellow to it."

"The hydrophobia days are getting nearer and the motorist who is continually wearing a frown and snarling because the other fellow doesn't do just the right thing always foaming at the mouth if he can't have undisputed right of way, going into hysterics and lurid profanity if he is delayed a single second—this driver is utterly and absolutely wrong and has one of the worst habits of motorists—and the quickest habit to acquire. Such men at the wheels, operating under such spirit, may call themselves Christians on Sundays. Old Nick knows better than that, however."

"Be a road smiler the next time you start out on a trip, long or short. Don't try to hog all the privileges everywhere. Don't try to beat the other fellow have the right of way at an intersecting crossing. Let the other fellow go past you if he wants to drive faster than you are driving—don't camp in the middle of a narrow road or a wide road, either. Don't stop on paved roads without looking behind you, and when you do stop pull off so your right-hand wheels will be on the road shoulder. This will give two cars a chance to pass where you are standing."

"There might be a thousand don'ts, but if drivers will just drive by the Golden Rule—drive as they would that others should drive—then, indeed, would it be easy to be a road smiler."

The Hoosier Auto Association points to the fact that it is erecting hundreds of new danger signs and directions signs throughout Indiana, "all paid for by our membership fees," and adds laconically: "Are you helping to extend our work or are you merely benefiting by it?"

HOW NEWSPAPERS HELP

The newspaper starts in When you are born; Relates about your excellence And tells about your sweetness. It follows you to school. And prints the honor roll If your name is found there, It tells of your education And speaks of the excellence Of your magnificent essay; It tells of your progress During your college career And then dilates much about The choice of your location. Then it gives a nice notice About your marriage And praises up the blushing bride Till her kinsfolk don't know her. Then, in due course of events, It tells about the bouncing baby That happens in your family— Thereby beginning its life work All over and over again. The newspaper does all this And it does also much more. It tells of the progress Made by city and county And boosts all enterprises; Gives free advertising Worth thousands of dollars To its own home town. There are seeds of things That all good newspapers do For which they cannot be paid. That is why every citizen Should do his darndest To support the newspaper In every possible way. And all the time, Yassum.

I thank you.—Palatka (Fla.) News.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By E. R. Waite

THAT advertising gives you honest efficient and result-getting service? THAT the advertising columns show popular-priced, up-to-date-minute merchandise?

THAT goods of merit gain a reputation by advertising?

THAT the buying public likes to spend its money with reputable business houses?

THAT price, quality and advertising produce volume business?

THAT a real merchant wants to hold his old customers and get new ones? They can do this by truthful advertising.

THAT the merchant who gets the blues about the advertising methods of the progressive, prosperous merchant?

THAT the merchant who has hard problem to crack should remember that advertising for the merchant is just a pure and simple good business proposition?

THAT good advertising meets more dividends at the end of the year?

THAT the best opportunity for the buying public to view a great array of merchandise, is by reading ads?

influence of New Clothes.

One thing is certain. A man does not have a new suit of clothes every day; and another general proposition may be advanced, that a man in sporting a coat for the first time is either agreeably affected, or disagreeably affected or not affected at all—which latter case I don't believe. There is no man, however accustomed to new clothes, but feels some sentiment of pride in assuming them—no philosopher, however calm, but must remark the change of raiment. Men consent to wear old clothes forever—nay, feel a pang at parting with them for new; but the first appearance of a new garment is always attended with exultation.—From Thackeray.

POLICE COURT

Louis N. Freniere of 54 Montgomery street, Cambridge, and Maxime Poirer of 9 Sargent street, Cambridge, were in court Monday morning as a result of an accident a week ago Sunday night in which they with three other men who were in the car with which they collided in Newton Lower Falls were arrested on charge of being drunk. Freniere was fined $10 for being drunk and was sentenced to one month in the House of Correction for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He appealed and was held in lieu of bonds. Poirer was fined $10 for being drunk. He was the only one badly injured in the accident. His head was badly cut and he was taken to the Newton Hospital.

Paola Amendola and wife of 335 Boylston street, Newton Highlands, were in court Monday morning, the man charged with keeping and exposing liquor for sale, and the woman with an illegal sale of liquor. They were arrested Saturday night by Sergeants Meehan and Mahoney and Patrolmen C. Jenkins and Reeves. The house was searched and a small quantity of wine seized, together with a few containers.

Joseph J. Slater of 109 West Canton street, Boston, was before Judge Bacon Monday morning charged with being drunk and with operating a motorcycle while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested in Watertown by Patrolman Frank Feeley of the Newton police, who commandeered a racing car in Newton Corner Saturday night and chased Slater to Watertown square after it is alleged, Slater had refused to stop when signalled to do so in Newton. The case was continued to Saturday.

Hector Boudrot of 344 Moody street, Waltham, was in court Monday charged with being drunk and with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested by Patrolman Tobin in Newton Lower Falls Saturday evening. The charge of being drunk was filed and Boudrot was fined $100 for operating under the influence.

A record number of cases of drunkenness for the year, 18, were in court Monday morning. The majority of the offenders were fined, although one, who battled with two officers last night, was given seven months in the State Farm. One spent Saturday night at the Newton Hospital after he was picked up unconscious.

Clarence G. Clifton of 131 Moody street, Waltham, was in court Monday charged with going away from an accident after injuring personal property. He was charged with running over and killing a dog owned by Christine Paul of Campa avenue, Newton Upper Falls. Judge Bacon fined him $20.

Dominic Vergato, 15, of 169 Adams street, Newton, was arraigned in court Tuesday morning on the charge of making an illegal sale of intoxicating liquor. Dominic was with Ernest Anese, 16, of Hawthorne street, a week ago Saturday night in Newton Corner, selling wine, according to the testimony of Patrolman Loughlin at a dollar a pint. Anese was sent to the Shirley Reformatory School in Framingham, but Vergato defaulted and was not picked up until Monday by Patrolman Veducio.

John J. Burns & Sons report that they have sold for Riley C. Crosby to Frank A. Lane, the single family, ten-room house located at 21 Rice street, Newton Centre. With the house, there are 10,000 square feet of land and a two-car garage, and the total value of the property is $20,500.

The same concern report having sold for the heirs of Benjamin Greene the property located at 533 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre. This property consists of a ten-room, single house together with 7500 feet of land, total valuation of which is $10,000. John J. Conley was the purchaser.

CELEBRATE THE "FOURTH"—APPROPRIATELY

Year by year the "Fourth" grows sadder and safer. The trend is unmistakable, such increase as was noted in destruction from fireworks, firecrackers, etc., in 1921, being attributable to the accident of one or two large fires rather than to a general "falling from grace" on the part of the public. Community celebrations, pre-arranged and orderly and properly supervised, have displaced to a large extent the promiscuous noise-making which, in an earlier day, so often degenerated into mere rowdyism; and no rational person laments the change or sighs for a return to the inane "shootin' off" type of observance.

Nevertheless, all is not safe yet; even in those cities which wisely banned the old-fashioned fire-works, two insidious sources of danger to life and property remain. One of these is the so-called electric sparkler, which has achieved an unwholesome popularity. It is especially hazardous for the very reason that it is deemed harmless by the unthinking and therefore is permitted to children whose elders would deny them the more openly dangerous cannon, firecracker and skyrocket. Although its dancing sparks themselves may not cause ignition, the wire which holds the sputtering material quickly becomes incandescent and in that condition will set fire to inflammable material. Four little girls, participants in a Mardi Gras held in Minden, Louisiana, this year, were burned to death when their flimsy costumes were ignited by sparklers. Five others of the group survived but were horribly disfigured.

The other dangerous toy is the paper balloon which uses lighted, kerosene-soaked waste to heat the air it contains and so cause it to rise. Frequently, these pretty affairs drop, blazing, upon inflammable roofs and other combustible surfaces and thus cause damage.

Let the "Fourth" be kept safe and sane again this year. The character of the celebration should be in keeping with the sublime event that it commemorates. That does not imply a heavy, joy-killing solemnity, which is no more to be desired than a witless and purposeless license. There is a happy mean which all sensible folk will choose who realize that the tradition of American independence is not so obscure as to need the illumination afforded by burning honors, nor so in danger of extinction as to require the sacrifice of little children to keep it alive.

ROONEY—COBB

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Saturday, June 23rd, at the home of Mrs. Walter Hunt, 52 Arlington street, Newton, when Helen A. Cobb was united in marriage to Edward J. Rooney by the Rev. Dr. Laurens MacLure. The bride was gowned in white canton crepe, her tulle veil arranged with orange blossoms, and the bridal bouquet of white roses and swansonia. Her attendants were Miss Ethel Cochran and Miss Jeanett Canton of Lynn as maids, both wearing grey crepe, large black hats, and carrying lavender sweet peas. The maid-of-honor, Miss Eleanor C. Hart of Newton, wore honey-dew crepe de chine with hat to match and carried Ophelia roses.

The groom was attended by Mr. Robert MacNamara of Swampscott, as best man, and Messrs. Thomas Dillon and Carl Burns, both of Newton, who acted as ushers. The wedding march was played by Mr. Carl Orth, Brookline, son of Mr. John Orth. The house was prettily decorated with palms and roses. Pink was the predominating color. The guests numbered about 75. After a wedding breakfast the bridal couple left for a trip through the White Mountains.

CAMBRIDGE ELECTRIC OUTING CLUB

Monday night, June 25, will long be remembered in the annals of the Cambridge Electric Club as a gala night. The employees of the Cambridge Electric Light Company were the guests of Mr. Welles E. Holmes of Eliot Memorial Road, Newton, General Manager and Treasurer of the Company.

Dinner was served at the Commonwealth Country Club. After the repast, the employees were warmly welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Holmes, who held open house at the estate in Newton.

The guests were highly entertained by many novel games of skill and amusement. It was indeed a scene of gay activity, a scene that furnished a background of a beautiful picture, including pretty girls, dainty costumes, the glorious landscape, the brilliant illumination, the house of good cheer, and as the scintillating rays of the high powered flood lights overcame the shades of night, one saw floating in the summer breeze, a banner which bore the caption, "Cambridge Electric Club."

FATAL ACCIDENT

John P. Hurley, salesman of 163 Hemenway street, Back Bay, died Sunday night, in Newton Hospital from injuries received that afternoon in an automobile accident at Chestnut Hill.

Hurley was riding in a coupe owned and operated by J. J. Holden of 45 Morseland avenue, Newton Centre, and while proceeding along Hammond street, between Old Orchard road and Woodman road, the machine swerved and struck a telegraph pole on the right side of the street.

In attempting to assist Hurley, who was thrown through a side window, Holden lost control of the machine and it sped to the opposite side of the street, striking a tree. Again careening across the street, it crashed into a stone wall and was demolished.

Aside from cuts and bruises, Holden escaped injury.

MANY CANOES OUT

One of the largest crowds of canoeists of the season were on the Charles at Riverside Sunday, but there were only three tippers and all six of the people were able to wade ashore. A number were caught in the fog that came up shortly after 10 o'clock that night, but no accidents were reported.

Havlin, Chairman, Luncheon Committee, Mr. O. W. Labdon, Chairman, Field Hospital, Mr. S. C. Clough, Chairman, and Transportation Committee, Mr. Thomas Collins, Chairman.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Mr. Charles J. Davis, Jr. of Providence, R. I., has accepted a position as Assistant Secretary in the Boys' Department of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association. For the past three years he has been a part time Secretary in the Boys' Division of the Providence Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Davis has been president of the Hi-Y Club at Providence for two years, was 1st Vice-President of the Older Boys' Conference of Massachusetts and Rhode Island last year, and was President of his class in high school. He has had considerable experience in teaching swimming and life-saving in the Providence summer camp.

Mr. Davis will have charge of the building work this summer while Mr. Clyde G. Hess is at the Frank A. Day Camp.

Fruit thieves ought to know that the police come after them in an ordinary wagon. Four young scamps were caught up in a cherry tree in that way on Brooks avenue, Newtonville. The police respond promptly to a telephone summons and will interview the parents of their children respecting others' property. Otherwise prosecution will follow.

TEACHING PARROTS TO "TALK"

Skill and Patience Required to Turn Out Birds That Can Be Sold to Advantage.

There are quite a number of people who make a living by teaching parrots to talk. It is a task that requires patience and skill.

Each bird is put in a cage by himself and covered with a bag, which prevents the parrot from seeing out and at the same time admits sufficient light. Then the "schoolmaster" stands in front of the cage, and says what he wants the birds to learn. The words are repeated once a minute.

Sometimes this repetition goes on for several hours before the pupil begins to do anything else but scream, but at last he begins to murmur the words.

As soon as one bird can say the words without a mistake the master's work is done, for the pupil will soon teach the words to all the other occupants of the room. They are left in the covered cages for a day, and at the end of that time every parrot will know the words thoroughly.

Then the creatures have to be taught when to say the words. Let us suppose that the lesson was "Come and kiss me." The bags are lifted off the cages by a number of pretty girls. They are the first people the parrots see, and consequently each bird connects the words with a pretty girl, and ever afterward uses the sentence in this connection.

SNAKES IN QUEENSLAND BUSH

Residents Set Traps for Unpleasant Intruders, and Lure Them to Their Death.

"Women in Queensland," says Miss Puxley, a young English woman, author of "Wanderings in the Queensland Bush," "often set traps for snakes which have entered houses, in the shape of a frog left hopping about or a saucer full of poisoned milk. Both of these are sure draws, and the snakes being killed while resting after the meal." She then tells the story of a friend of hers, who was standing in the doorway of her house when a snake, having seen a saucer of milk just behind her, pushed past her to reach this dainty. She quickly closed the door when it was half-way through, and so broke its back. This was one of the deadly black snakes of Queensland. Another bit of information about snakes, which Miss Puxley gives, is the fact that because of the angle at which a certain snake's teeth are set it is impossible for him to stop swallowing anything once he has really begun. So it happens that two snakes, which may have started out on a killing in a spirit of camaraderie, may each begin swallowing at one end of their prey, but when they have reached the middle there is nothing to do except to continue, and the snake with the largest mouth is forced to include his less fortunate companion of the chase in his meal.

Insect Radio Carrier.

The modern radio fan is advised to consider the gall midge, a minute fly, and other forms of insect life, by E. Porter Felt, New York state entomologist, who calls attention to the antennae or "feelers" of some insects and radio receiving sets. The loop antennae, such as are used in indoor receiving sets, find almost exact counterpart in the construction of the antennae of the little insects, and Doctor Felt suggests that they were designed to catch faint vibrations of the air. These receiving sets from Nature's own laboratory are carried wholly by the male insects, Doctor Felt states, and their probable purpose is to enable them to hear the plaintive love call of the female from great distances. While the male gall midge carries the most complete model of a receiving set that is known in the insect world, the female makes no noise that is audible to human ears.

Carry Shoes on Their Heads.

In Oporto, Portugal, all the porters are women. It is nothing for a sturdy Portuguese woman to lift a 100-pound trunk on her head and carry it for a quarter of a mile without stopping. It is no uncommon sight in Oporto to see a woman walking along the street with a round basket on her head. In the basket, sleeping peacefully, is her baby, soothed by the rhythmic step of its mother.

Many Oporto women become so expert in this art of head-juggling that they can carry a folded umbrella on their heads without the slightest effort. This is very difficult to do, but to the women of Oporto it is more convenient than carrying the umbrella in the hand.

It is amazing to see a woman walking along at a comfortable swinging gait in her bare feet—with her best shoes balanced carefully on the top of her head, without any apparent effort or idea of the oddity of the performance.

Perfection Imperative.

Hamlet Fatt, starring in "Julius Caesar," had been out 40 weeks, and of course every member of the cast was better perfect. In fact, they could have recited their parts backward. Getting into New York state, however, he called an extra rehearsal. The troupe wondered why, whereupon he explained that he wanted to make a good showing in the next town played. Being pressed for further details, he added: "Our next stand is Rome, and you know that Rome was Julius Caesar's home town."
